LONG HIGHWAY IS FINISHED

Columbia River Route Now Open All Way From Astoria To Pendleton

ACHIEVEMENT NATIONAL

Contract Is Awarded For Graveling One Unit of Mt. Hood Loop

The longest state highway in the United States completed on permanent lines and grades became open along its entire course yesterday when the Oregon highway department removed the last obstacle in the Columbia River highway. This was at the point known as Cape Horn between The Dalles and the Deschutes river.

Project Is Record Breaker—The highway, according to Herbert Nunn state highway engineer, is one of the biggest projects ever undertaken by any state. The length of the highway is 349 miles, and of this 194 miles is paved.

Whole Cost Not Known—The highway department does not at present have the entire cost of the highway to date totaled up, but the stretch through Multnomah county, which was of no expense to the state, cost the county $3,500,000.

Loop Contract Let—Announcement was made by the state highway department yesterday that a contract has been let to E. A. Pauer for the graveling of the Mount Hood loop highway in Clackamas county between Sandy and Cherryville.

Bids received on the Winston-Camas section of the Roseburg-Coos Bay highway in Douglas county have been rejected and the commission will readvertise for bids to be opened at the next meeting in Portland on September 20.

Iowa Farmer Becomes Confirmed Oregonian—G. M. Campbell who lives on the Pacific highway eight miles north of Salem, is one former Iowa farmer who wouldn't trade his Willamette valley farm of 122 acres for any farm twice the size in the old state from which he came.

Mr. Campbell is the owner of a large farm near Oskaloosa, Ia. A number of years ago he visited Oregon and couldn't forget the country. About two years ago he had an opportunity to sell his Iowa farm and is now located on Pacific highway. He feels he has struck just the right section of the United States in which to bring up his family.

Alex Moisan To Market Heavy Crop of Onions—Alex Moisan, who owns considerable beaverdam land about eight miles north of Salem, figures this year that he will grow about 30,000 pounds of onions to the acre. This can be done, he explains, only on the famous Lake Labish lands.

Two years ago conditions were ideal for onion growing and in some portions of the beaverdam they ran as high as 50,000 pounds to the acre. It was two years ago that onions touched a high price of $3.50 a hundred, while the bottom prices reached last year, when quotations were as low as 50 cents a hundred, Mr. Moisan said.

Onion growers are feeling a little better this year than one year ago. There is a strong demand for onions and the prospects are that a satisfactory price to the growers will be paid. F. W. Jobelman Resigns Bligh Hotel Management—F. W. Jobelman, manager of the Bligh hotel, has resigned, and will devote his time hereafter to publishing his magazine "Civics" in which he has been interested for some time. The magazine, to be issued semi-monthly, will be published in Salem. Mr. Jobelman says, although it will be devoted to general civic affairs and not especially local in its character.

Children Aides to Santa Claus—Boston Boys and Girls Make Simple Toys During War Summer Months—BOSTON, Aug. 27—Hundreds of boys and girls of the Mary Hemmingsway public school in the Northchester district have gone into competition with Santa Claus in an open air workshop here and Christmas time will find their handiwork scattered in many gift packages.

With work benches set up under fragrant fir trees in a natural park on Lonsdale street, the youngsters were busy at their simple making toys, furniture and unique gewgaws out of any material that comes to hand. Toy trucks, horses and pigs or tanks, soldiers, chairs, dolls, guns and airplanes—all are products of the expert hands of these young enthusiasts.

Entrepreneurial. A sardine heap becomes a cookie cutter, a salmon can shapes into a cruller cutter and beer bottle tops make excellent caps for tin soldiers. A jig-saw in the hands of an capable youngster produces a monkey on a trapeze that rolls around like a performer in a circus.

Chair caning is a fascinating job and mother's old arm chair gets many a new seat. Work is carried on from 9 until 4 under the supervision of Miss L. Gertrude Howes, with two manual training teachers to show the student how to manipulate the tools. A house is used for a had weather shop, which has a well equipped with furniture made by the children.

By a standing vote of thanks, the First Methodist Sunday school endorsed its best wishes to Superintendent Alpheus Gillette, who on Sunday announced that he was resigning his office to go to Northwestern university to take further training for religious instruction.

Mr. Gillette, who was graduated from Willamette a few years ago and has since been an instructor in the Salem high school, was elected to the superintendency of the First church Sunday school about 18 months ago. During his incumbency, and largely by his personal initiative, the membership has been largely increased, until the fame of the Salem organization has gone all up and down the coast as one of the most successful of such schools anywhere in the west.

A meeting of the Sunday school board is to be held this week, to decide upon a successor for Mr. Gillette. He expects to leave within the next week, for his new university work at Evanston.

Spong's Landing Favored By Silverton Motorists—SILVERTON, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special to The Statesman)—Sponges landing is becoming a favorite picnic ground with Silverton fans. Every Sunday sees a group of people motoring toward the landing from here.

Among those who went out yesterday were: Rev. and Mrs. George Henriksen, P. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. J. Refsland, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Torvund, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Moe, Miss Verma Parker, Mrs. Anna Jensen, Alfred Jensen, Ruben Jensen, Miss Alice Jensen, Mrs. Marie Bunis, Miss Vivian Bunis, Norman Jensen, Marvin Jensen, Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Heisley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fry.

While holidays and Labor days are supposed to be days of quiet in Salem, time has so changed that even on days when all are supposed to rest, the downtown district keeps up its appearance of a real live city. From early morning until late, all streets yesterday, especially on the shady side, were crowded with parked automobiles. In what is now termed the congested district of the city, there was almost the usual difficulty in crossing streets and dodging automobiles.

SALEM BUSY EVEN AT HOLIDAY TIME

Streets Congested All Day Yesterday, Theaters Do Rushing Business

Business in general of course was at a standstill, but the restaurants were crowded, dragstore did a rushing business, especially during the morning hours, and the movies played to standing room only during the greater part of the day and evening.

In fact, Salem has now become such a metropolitan city that the old days of a deserted city on legal holidays, appears to be a thing of the past. Salem yesterday was almost as busy a city as on ordinary days and from general appearances, those who could not arrange to leave the city, managed to come down into the business district.

O'HARA TO HEAD LOCAL KNIGHTS

Annual Election Held By Catholic Order—Banquet Follows Voting

The annual election of the local Knights of Columbus was the principal item of business at the meeting of the order last night. Following the election a banquet was served at which short talks were made by Thomas Brown, Frank Bell, Rev. L. J. Derain, Flavious Meier and P. B. Keaney. The new officers who will assume their duties at the first meeting in October are: Grand Knight, David O'Hara; deputy grand knight, P. B. Keaney; chancellor, Thomas Brown; recording secretary, Theodore Peerenboom, financial secretary, Rev. L. J. Derain; Treasurer, Cyril Suing; warden, Everett Heenan; advocate, Frank Bell; inside guard, Joe Tanager; outside guard, Roy DeAutomont; trustee, Charles O'Brien; publicity committee, Thomas Brown and Theodore Peerenboom.

Due to unavoidable absence, Frank Davey, delegate to the national convention, was unable to give the report of that meeting but will make his report at the next meeting.

F. W. Jobelman Resigns Bligh Hotel Management—F. W. Jobelman, manager of the Bligh hotel, has resigned, and will devote his time hereafter to publishing his magazine "Civics" in which he has been interested for some time.

The magazine, to be issued semi-monthly, will be published in Salem. Mr. Jobelman says, although it will be devoted to general civic affairs and not especially local in its character.

Sheridan District Will Vote On Decreased Budget

SHERIDAN, Ore. Sept 5. (Special to the Statesman)—The school budget for the Sheridan district for the ensuing school year will be submitted to the voters at a special meeting to be held September 24, according to announcement of H. A. Banister, clerk. The 1921-22 budget calls for an appropriation of $22,152, a decrease of several thousand dollars over that of the preceding year.

Spelling Peeves Judge in Sydney

Sir Adrian Knox Objects to Americanism Being Used in Australia

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 26.—Sir Adrian Knox, chief justice of the high court of Australia, does not approve of the modern American method of spelling a number of words. Last month an affidavit was presented in the high court, containing an extract from a letter written in America, in which the English word "programme" was Americanized to "program."

His honor said he would like Americans to know that Australia was not a dependency of the United States. The spelling of English words should be done in the proper way. The high court, he said, was quite content to adhere to the good old style of English spelling. Having pointed to the spelling of "centre" as "center," his honor hoped that this method of orthography was not taught in the schools.

"This is an Americanism I abhor," he added. Referring to the incident, W. F. Gates, inspector of schools in Victoria declared that the chief

LOOKING AFTER DAD

Usually, Dad is boss except when mother takes him in hand. Quite often Dad allows his work to destroy his health, and it is pretty largely up to mother and the girls to keep an eye out for Dad.

When a man's health begins to break it is an indication of the weakness of some organ or group of organs. There is no more important thing to do at such a time than to get a spinal analysis. In the spine is the index to every weakness which habit, or accident, may have developed.

Chiropractic spinal adjustments correct diseases of the head, throat, lungs, heart, stomach, liver, kidneys and intestinal organs.
