who said Semmacher had denied discussing the affair with Arbuckle, although he accompanied Arbuckle to San Francisco after the girl's death.

Witnesses tomorrow at the preliminary hearing of the murder charge against Arbuckle in the case will probably include Dr. Shelby Stange, the autopsy surgeon, Dr. William Oppus, who performed the postmortem on Miss Rappe, Mrs. Bambina Delmont, who swore to the murder complaint, Miss Grace Halston, one of Miss Rappe's nurses, and Miss Alice Blake and Miss Zeh Frevost, who attended the Arbuckle party.

Money Sent Semmacher Brady said Lowell Sherman, last reported to be in New York state, was not needed for the police court examination, but that if it became necessary to enforce his attendance at the trial itself an indictment against him would be sought from the grand jury.

Dr. Arthur Beardale, the hotel physician who attended Miss Rappe, had not arrived home from a hunting trip today but no concern was expressed over his non-appearance. It was announced that he would be a witness during the preliminary hearing.

Expense money was sent to Al Semmacher for his appearance here, following his long distance plea from Los Angeles last night that he did not have enough money to make the trip.

Rappe Films Withdrawn LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—All First National film exchanges were ordered today to withdraw from exhibition all films showing Virginia Rappe, the actress, for whose death Roscoe Arbuckle is held at San Francisco, it was announced here.

Morality Insisted on NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—A "morality clause," pledging actors and actresses to "conduct themselves with due regard to public conventions" on penalty of forfeiting the positions with five days notice, will be immediately inserted in all contracts of a large film producing corporation, it was announced today by its counsel.

The attorneys pointed out that as contracts have been drawn, a company was liable not only to continue to pay the salary of an actor or actress "who forfeits the respect of the public," but has to bear the obloquy of still having them in its employ.

Pictures on the market or un-released, and un-releasable are sufficient penalty to pay for an infraction of the moral law of any employe, in whose name millions may be tied up, and over whose moral conduct the company has no control whatever," they added.

turned and realized that the village of Oppau was destroyed as by an earthquake. Shortly after the main buildings of the plant burst into flames and the air was filled with ammonia fumes.

The alarm was quickly given and in less than half an hour help arrived. Unfortunately as further explosions were feared the rescue parties were not able to get to work properly before 9 o'clock.

Company Reports FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Sept. 21.—The Badische Anilin- und Fabrik company, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung, states that its plant at Oppau where today's explosion occurred, was "partially destroyed."

Further explosions it was stated, were not feared. The company's plant at Ludwigshafen, one of the largest in Germany, was not harmed. The Frankenthal Sugar refinery, however, was considerably damaged.

In Frankfort street cars were temporarily tied up. Reports from the scene say that large forces of police and firemen, equipped with gas masks are working to remove the injured, but are being hampered by a shortage of transportation.

6, shows that there was on deposit in personal savings accounts the sum of $2,082,956.17. On a basis of 20,000 people in Salem and suburbs this would show that every man woman and child has an average of more than $100 saved up and deposited in a savings deposit account.

In addition to the $2,082,956.17 placed in savings accounts in the Salem banks, there is the sum of deposits of $249,952.09 and more than $100 placed in the postal savings accounts.

In other words, people who are doing their banking in Salem have more than two and a quarter million dollars that they are just laying away for a rainy day.

ADAMS DAMAGE SUIT IS BEGUN IN COURT

the railway boundary and through which traffic must pass in turning from the highway onto the crossing, were not closed. The plaintiff also alleges that the engineer of the train failed to blow the whistle, and failed to take other precautions.

Warning Given, Claim. In the answer to the complaint the defense denied that the engineer did not blow the whistle for the crossing and in his opening statement counsel said that he would introduce testimony to show that in addition to whistling for the crossing the engineer at a point about 100 feet north of the crossing signaled three times as a notice that he was going to stop at Hazelau station, which is about 50 rods south of the crossing.

He said that it would further be shown that at the time of the accident the engineer was ringing his bell, preparatory to his stop at Hazelau. Answering the allegation of negligence because of failure to keep the gates along the track closed, the defense counsel stated that the gates had been put there to aid the farmers in keeping cattle off the track and that it was the duty of the farmers, rather than the company, to keep them closed.

Crossing Private. At the time of the accident, James and Jerman were driving to a nearby lup yard. Jerman, when driving the car south on what is known as the "river road" in the same direction as the approaching train. He was struck when he turned from the main highway to enter a farmers' road that crosses the track. It is the contention of the defense that the road was a private one and the company would not therefore be obligated with the precautions which would have to be taken for a public highway. The point is contested, however, by the opposition.

The prosecution claims that it was impossible for the two men to hear the approaching train because of the unusual nature of the surrounding country, claiming that the sound would be deflected by a high hill which rises on the left. Also it is claimed that a view of the track is obstructed by a high fence.

Warding off possibility that the plaintiff would contend that if there was any negligence on the part of the driver of the auto, James was not responsible because he was not driving the car. Attorney ohn H. McNary for the defense said that he would contend that the two were on a joint enterprise and that both were equally responsible for any negligence.

Controversy Between Parents. James was a mechanic by trade. His mother, now Mrs. Adams, has separated from her husband and has married again. The father was first named as administrator of the estate but on appeal by Mrs. Adams, she was awarded the position. Mr. Adams then entered an objection and the matter has not as yet been settled by the probate court. In fact, James' defense might contend that Mrs. Adams was not legally authorized to enter the suit, was made yesterday by counsel.

Jurors sitting on the case are: Nicholas Gilmore, Adam Korb, C. A. Bear, Henry Saues, Lee Hershberger, Jacob H. Humburg, W. H. Holborn, T. B. Jones, Roy C. Charlesworth, C. B. McElhane, W. H. Sherman. Eight jurors were dismissed from the case on challenges from counsel.

CHANGE ARTISTS HAVE NO LUCK

Crooked Circus Followers Are Forced to Refund Money Taken

Several Marion county residents were the sadder but wiser men as a result of experiences with crooked and short-change artists accompanying yesterday's circus had it not been for the prompt action of Salem police in locating the dipsters and forcing restoration of the ill-gotten currency.

Shortly after 5 p. m. yesterday afternoon the Salem police department was besieged with complaints from persons who had lost various sums ranging from $5 to $50 by the activities of short-change men on the circus grounds.

Several other complaints were also made on a "switchboard" operator who snared his victims by arranging attractive bets and doubled his wagers so rapidly that the dupes had little chance for their money. One man reported losing $22.50 on this proposition, was the one "switchboard" operator reported to Chief Moffitt. The game operator had escaped, but one of the crook's friends gave the victim $15, it was reported.

One Salem man whose name was not learned, gave battle when a crook snatched a $3 note from him. The crook gave up the money after receiving a drubbing. He escaped before the police could be secured. Of the 14 complaints made to the police, all received their money back, police reported.
