SALEM IS THE DEHYDRATION CENTER OF THE WORLD

Do you realize what that means?

It means that there is a market, and a growing market for every vegetable and fruit that can be raised on the land in this territory.

And that means more than is apparent to the stranger at first glance; for a greater variety of fruits and vegetables can be successfully grown here than in any other part of this country or the world.

Dehydration is the greatest thing in the world, in food conservation.

It takes out the water; the consumer puts it back, at any time in the future, anywhere under the shining sun—and then he has the fruit or the vegetable as good as fresh, in every nutritive quality, and in every other way.

The saving will be billions, annually. And all the money comes to Salem excepting what is expended for the nails in the shipping boxes.

Better than a gold mine; for it will never "pinch out."

The Grand Rapids of Oregon May Be Salem

Salem has made a splendid start in the field of wood working plants— But the great supplies of suitable woods and the immense water powers running to waste here justify the statement that Salem may be made the Grand Rapids of Oregon.

Major F. W. Leadbetter, the moving spirit in the great paper mill in Salem, which has now been in successful operation for a year, says this district has the largest available supply of pulp woods in the world. There are many other varieties of woods in this district that can be used for manufacturing of various kinds; ought to be used. Salem ought to have a furniture factory— This fact ought to be heralded to the world. In fact, much of the supply of woods for the furniture factories below Salem, notably at Portland, is being floated down the river through Salem.

There are a great many kinds of wood working plants that could find the available wood supplies in this district.

The utilization of the cheaply developed water powers running to waste here would make the process of turning these supplies into articles of commerce comparatively cheap.

This is the last but one of the two-year series of Salem Slogan issues of The Statesman. Next week, the subject will be the Salem Paper Mill. After that, the outstanding facts will be put into book form for general circulation.

DID YOU KNOW That the Salem district has the largest supply of pulp wood in the world; that there is standing timber in this district that, with the development of the idle water powers near by, will make of Salem the Grand Rapids of Oregon; that wood working plants of many kinds are bound to come here, on account of the nearness of the raw materials and the cheapness of the power to drive the machinery to change them into manufactured products; that Salem has made a good start in wood using plants, but it is only a start, and there is a wide and rich field for enterprising men in this city and district?
