Hotel Stenographer From St. Paul Identifies Letters Dictated

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 24.—James E. Mahoney, charge with the murder of his wife, smiled as the prosecution today introduced in evidence at the trial a drab, battered trunk with an old-fashioned round top, said to have contained the body of Mrs. Mahoney when it was recovered from Lake Union here August 8.

Admission of the trunk as a state's exhibit followed additional testimony supplementing yesterday's evidence, the identity of the body.

Court reviews Monday the first week of the trial was completed with the state having presented evidence intended to show that Mrs. Mahoney was worth about $200,000 when Mahoney married her, in February; that she disappeared on April 16, the date set for the trip they had planned to St. Paul; that shortly after she was last seen alive an expressman took Mahoney and a trunk to the waters' edge, where Mahoney put the trunk in a skiff. It is not expected the state will rest before Tuesday.

Dentist Testifies
The body found in a "mystery trunk" recovered from Lake Union here August 8, was "absolutely" that of Kate M. Mahoney, for whose alleged murder James E. Mahoney, her husband, is on trial here," Dr. Frank E. Wood, a dentist, testified in superior court today.

Dr. Wood positively identified a plate and wire anchor attachment found in the trunk as those he had made for Mrs. Mahoney in the course of dental work he had done for her. He pointed out peculiar angles of root attachments into which wire pegs had been fit-

 At the price per bond of $61 and interest these bonds give you a day-to-day return of almost 8%—7.97% to be exact—and in addition a profit of $36.20 when the bond is paid at its maturity value of $97.20 in U. S. gold coin.

Although expressed in the British pound sterling, these securities are payable, principal and interest, in U. S. gold coin in New York City at the fixed rate of $4.86 American gold to the pound. Consequently, uncontrollable fluctuations in currency of other countries do not affect the maturing value of principal or interest.

Court was adjourned at noon until Monday. It was indicated at that time the state's case would not be completed before Tuesday.

Identifies Register
 Mrs. Myra A. Helm, stenographer and bookkeeper at the St. Francis hotel, St. Paul, Minn., identified a photograph of the hotel register for last April 22 and testified it was identical with the original sheet. She read from it the entry:

6480—J. E. Mahoney and wife, Seattle, Wash., 10:45 a. m., room 232.

Prosecutor Malcolm Douglas handed her two letters, one addressed to a Seattle attorney, asking him to turn over to Mahoney all abstracts belonging to Mrs. Mahoney in his possession and the other to a Seattle bank giving Mahoney authority to use a safe deposit box maintained by Mrs. Mahoney. Both purported to be signed by Kate M. Mahoney. Mrs. Helm identified both letters as ones she had written for Mahoney. Kate Mahoney was not present when the letters were dictated, she said.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Cleveland tied up its "crucial series" with the New York Yankees today, taking the second game 9 to 6 and the Yankee lead in the American league race again has been cut to less than points.

Five New York players reached base on this in the first two innings, but the Yanks could not get into the pinches. After that Uble pitched brilliant ball and New York was helpless. He yielded only four hits.

After a base on balls to Uble forcing in a run in the fourth, Evans' double sent in Burns, O'Neill and Uble. Shawkey pitched better, but Cleveland scored three more runs in the sixth after Burns, the first man up, reached first on a muff by Ruth. Speaker played center field for Cleveland for the first time since his injury in St. Louis two weeks ago.

He was handicapped with his bad leg.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Rain predicted today.

Let us hope for fair weather tomorrow and the balance of the week.

Rain or shine, however, it will be the greatest fair ever, and there will be the largest crowds.

With the miles of new concrete walks and the new buildings, the state fair is in better shape than ever before to accommodate the crowds during rainy days.

William A. Rutherford of Salem has just received notification that the patent on his dirigible automobile headlight has been granted at Washington. It was granted on the 19th. It is understood that this light is to be manufactured in Salem.

Salem and the Salem district are the most prosperous city and section in the whole country, and at the same time having the brightest outlook for the future.

There is only one thing for the people here to do—and that is to keep on doing the things they have been doing—to keep on keeping on—and to do them on a more extended scale, and with increasing intensity. They have what amounts to a franchise on a score of agricultural and horticultural and stock breeding lines. These are the things to push and develop, along with that range which makes of this section the land of diversity and the country of opportunity.

In the carrying on of this program there is work every day in the year for all the laborers we have, with a gradual increase of the number, and there are great opportunities for tens of thou-

OIL WORKERS ARE WAITING

Next Move of Producers Is Anxiously Watched By Bakersfield Strikers

VIOLENCE IS POSSIBLE

Union Men Speculate on Question Whether Owners Will Import Help

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Sept. 24.—Striking oil workers, who tied up the fields of Kern county two weeks ago, had their eyes turned toward San Francisco tonight awaiting further word from the headquarters of the producers there about what the latter had finally decided to do.

The oil workers were anxious to know whether the shutdown threatened in a recent statement by one of the producers was actually to occur, or whether the producers planned an industrial invasion of the fields, now that the roads are no longer guarded by armed strikers operating as deputy constables organized into a "law an order committee."

May Take up Arms

The strike leaders left here today for a tour of the fields, and issued no statement. The rank and file, however, discussed very freely the statement from San Francisco today that the producers were planning to import workers. The local men said that if this was done, the roads would again be put under guard and steps taken to exclude the newcomers. They declined to say whether they would return armed patrols and resume the questioning of travelers that resulted in an inquiry by state officials and the cessation of the practices after the inquiry.

Prosecution Threatened
 District Attorney J. R. Dorsey, issued a notice today that the display or discharge of firearms along the highways by other than authorized peace officers, acting in the necessary discharge of their duties, would result in prosecution.

Men who have been watching the situation here and elsewhere in Kern county, said tonight that unless some compromise was reached, or the producers attempted to import outside labor, the strike was apt to be long-drawn and without unusual incident, but if outside help was imported, the increased tension that would result might cause a sudden change from the comparative quiet that existed yesterday and today.

More industrious and intelligent and resourceful men in the orchards and on the farms and ranges of the Salem district. Men who will dig in and work out their own fortunes in the country and the city of welcome.
