Unemployed in Riot.
In a letter to his brother, Rev. Alfred Bates of Salem, Stanley Bates of Bristol, England, writes: "The unemployed are certainly desperate. Yesterday in Bridge street of this city a crowd of men smashed the windows of every business house in the whole street. A man is lucky to have a job these days. I am working as a letter press printer for E. S. and A. Robinson, Ltd., which employs over 2000 persons."

Mill Wood.

Lights Satisfactory.
W. M. Hamilton, local manager of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, who installed the lights at the state fair grounds for night racing, says that the best compliment he heard was that of the person who remarked that he could see clearly on all parts of the track, the horse on which he had bet. With lights strong enough to follow a certain horse around the track, Mr. Hamilton felt they were satisfactory.

would you do with the check?
Suppose A. Thomas had endorsed it "without recourse."

Of course, a great many people know just what to do in a case of this kind but often it has been a case of experience—an expensive way to learn. We try to teach our students so that they will know how to handle emergencies when they come to them.

New classes will start in all

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Whitney Boys Chorus—
At fair grounds at 3—This afternoon the fair is not over till these 700 boys are heard, with the Elks' band and Jirill team.

Grand chorus by the thousands of Marion county school children, "School days, school days, good old Golden Rule days, readin' and ritin' and 'rithmetic," etc., etc.

The hard boiled gentry ought to know that the managers of the state fair, while they are not themselves hard-boiled, know all the tricks of the trade of all the crooks of high and low degree, for they go up against them every year.

Again attention is called to the fact that, in some way or other, a night policeman ought to be in attendance at the police station constantly, with a motorcycle, ready for instant call by phone or otherwise. That is the most serious lack in the policing of Salem.
The members of the force on duty are efficient, and they do the best they can; but here should be one more man, or else one of the members of the present force ought to be provided with a motorcycle and stationed at headquarters. A good telephone operator might do the desk work.

Another thing, good fire ladders that will reach to the upper story of the roof of any building in Salem, ought by all means to be provided for the fire department.

Having received a most urgent

Persons Who Want to Be Postmaster of Salem

Residents of Salem who are looking longingly on the job of serving the city as postmaster for the coming four years will find at the postoffice proper application blanks.

On October 25, they will be

If the Salem office is given the same consideration as Portland or other first class offices, there will appear in the city within a few weeks following October 25, one or two civil service men whose will be to have private interviews with the candidates and incidentally to make inquiries as to the fitness of each for the position.

Anyhow, the application blanks are here, and the civil service knows no politics. Any one under the age of 60 years, of legal age, and who has lived in this district two years, and who is an American $50.

SEATTLE-FRISCO PLAYERS IN ROW

Riot on Grounds May Lead to Suspension for Last Day of Season

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 1.— Rioting at a ball park here this afternoon during the game between Seattle and San Francisco's coast league teams involved players on both sides, three umpires and more than 1,000 fans before the police finally restored order.
No one was seriously hurt.

According to bystanders, trouble started when Walsh, left fielder for San Francisco, became provoked at umpire Jacob Croter and threw his bat at the grandstand.
Croter ordered Walsh off the field and Walsh is reported to have struck the umpire. Players on both sides joined in the riot.
Players alleged by the umpire to have precipitated the riot were Walsh, Graham, Agnew, Schorr and O'Connell.

Witnesses said Walsh threw his bat after the umpire had called a third strike. A few minutes later O'Connell, the visitors' first baseman, and umpire Croter were fighting. Croter got the player down and sat on his head. The riot then spread.

The editor in question, like most others, was obliged to refuse a great many stories. A lady once wrote him:
"Sir: You sent back last week a story of mine. I know that you did not read the story, for as a test I had pasted together pages 18, 19 and 20, and the story came back with these pages still pasted; and so I know you are a fraud and turn down stories without reading same."

The editor wrote back: "Madam:
At breakfast when I open an egg I don't have to eat the whole egg to discover it is bad."—Writer's
