

BIG SQUAD IS OUT ON GRID

Coach Hendricks Has Much Material from Which to Build Team

GOOD SCHEDULE HERE

Practice Instituted Week Prior to Opening of New School Year

Over 35 men will answer the call of Coach "Tubby" Hendricks to defend Salem high school grid-iron honors for the coming season. A large amount of new material is opening up a keen contest for the 11 berths on the squad.

The high school is fortunate this year in having games here on both Armistice day and Thanksgiving day. Willamette will not have games on either of those days.

Practice Begins Early
Between 10 and 15 men have been on the field during the past week practicing every day under the direction of Coach Hendricks. Coach Sparks, coach of basketball, basketball, and all other activities other than football, is assisting in Hendricks in whipping the squad into shape.

The average weight for the team during the coming season will be about 170. The list of those who have turned out regularly during the past week with their weights follows:

Ellis White, captain, weight 188. White is a heavy barrier at guard and may be shifted to tackle where his weight and speed have established his habit of getting through the opposing line.

Rex Adolph, 175, end and half back. Adolph is the best punter on the team and his exceptional speed have made him a valuable end man.

Ralph White, 150, guard and tackle. White is the heaviest man on the team and the hardest to get past when occupying the guard position.

Frank Reinhart, 134, quarterback. Reinhart snapped signals during last year and will make a strong bid to his position during the coming season.

Wilbur Daily, 162, end. Daily has sticky fingers for the passer and is great on ripping open a path for the back field men around his end.

Max Jones, 170, center and guard. Jones has a reputation for his grit and determination and will block anything coming through his pivot position.

Lynn Jones, 184, Lynn is one of the brightest prospects for the coming year in the back field. He was not a letter man of last year but he is making a strong bid for the fullback job.

Soclofsky's Record Good
Herbert Soclofsky, 163, left half. Soclofsky is the premier player and yardage man on the squad and starts this year with a brilliant record from last year.

Howard Post, 153, Post, although not a letter man from last year, is making a strong bid for the quarterback position. He is a letter man in football from another school.

Besides these there are many others who will take the fill in positions.
Webb Mormon, Walter Olson, John Caughill, Winston Burris and Marvin Stolzheise, are all angling for jobs on the line while Max Moon and Don Ringle are trying out for the ends. Frank Brown promises to prove a good second string man for the backfield.

Never Wants Anything Else

I used it for all my children when I lived in Iowa and also for my grandchild in Duluth, and it has always done good work." Contains no opiates. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

SCHOOLS SHOW BIG INCREASE

Attendance in All Buildings First Week Leads Year Ago Eight Percent

PRINCIPALS REPORT IN

High Students Excused This Afternoon for Purpose of Buying Books

Registration of pupils in all the city public schools indicates an increased attendance of about 8 per cent over a year ago, according to figures turned in by principals of all buildings to Superintendent George W. Hug. With the additional attendance from day to day, it is thought this ratio will hold good for the entire semester.

The total attendance during the first day of school was 2092. One year ago the attendance was 2882. Schools that showed heavy increased attendance were the Richmond, Park, Lincoln and Highland.

Primary Grades Larger

In the primary grades the attendance for the first day of school was 1697, compared with 1520 a year ago.

At the Englewood school there were registered yesterday 181, compared to 177.

Garfield school fell off slightly in attendance compared to one year ago. Yesterday's attendance was 239, compared to 302 last year.

The Highland school registered 208 yesterday. A year ago the attendance for the first day was 208.

Lincoln Shows Increase

Lincoln school, in its primary department, registered 254 yesterday while one year ago it was 247.

Park school registered 273, compared to 222 the first day last year.

At Richmond school yesterday there were 246 in the primary grades, while one year ago the first day's attendance was 182.

At the Washington school, primary department, there was an attendance of 64 yesterday, compared with 75 the previous year.

In the junior high schools the figures for yesterday's attendance are as follows:

Washington school, 517, compared to 471 one year ago.
Grant, 214, compared to 195 one year ago.
McKinley, 173, compared to 160 a year ago.

Jump in Junior Grades

In the junior high school the increased attendance amounted to almost 11 per cent. This with the increased attendance in the senior high school, shows, according to Superintendent Hug's figures, that students are staying in school and taking the education offered in the higher grades.

A total of 596 students registered at the high school and indications point to the probability that another hundred will enroll before the end of the week. On the same day last year but 547 enrolled, making an increase of 49.

Books to Be Purchased.
Following an assembly this morning the students will go through their schedules spending a few minutes in each class and will be excused shortly before noon for

AUCTION BLOCK BACK TO LIFE IN BOSTON.

The slave market of Colonial days was brought back to Boston yesterday when men were "sold" at auction in an effort to impress upon the city the gravity of the unemployment problem. Before a throng—black and white—who stood on the block before him, stripped to the waist, awaiting some word from the men who were offered on the auction block on their way to Boston Commons. The little fox terrier in the lead brought $5. This was more than was offered for any of the men in the contingent. The lower photo shows Davis, a young factory worker, being held by the hands by Mr. and Mrs. James Sanger, who bid $2 above his room and board. Mr. Ledoux, better known as "Mr. Zero," the auctioneer, is at the right.

The remainder of the day. The purchase of school books which has been delayed for high school students in order that the rush from the grades may be cleared first, will begin this afternoon.

At the end of the school year last year the enrollment reached 800 and the belief that that number will be exceeded this year has been expressed by Principal J. C. Nelson. Last year accommodations were pushed to the very edge of inefficiency, but a new system inaugurated this year whereby the periods have been shortened, and the number of periods increased, promises to eliminate most of the difficulty.

Teachers Work Harder.
As a measure of economy each teacher is required to teach one more class this year than formerly. The system of allowing the student to study for a subject in the same room in which he recites, is also being partially removed. Study halls have been arranged for large groups of students and but 20 minutes will be given in the recitation room out of the one hour class periods.

FAIR ATTENDANCE LARGE INCREASE

Total Officially Reported As 132,390, more Than 50,000 Increase

By a margin of 52,277 attendance at the Oregon state fair, which closed Saturday night exceeded the total attendance of a year ago, according to official figures given out by A. H. Lea, secretary of the state fair board and manager of the exposition. This has reference to paid admissions.

The figure on total attendance for the fair just closed is 132,390, and the total attendance last year was 80,113.

Receipts Heavier.
Receipts are $16,754.30 ahead of last year, notwithstanding that some of the revenue producing features had been eliminated by the state fair board.

Total receipts for this year's unprecedented exposition are placed at $106,754.30, while last year the returns amounted to $90,000. The net profit will aggregate from $25,000 to $30,000.

Had the state fair this year been on the same basis relative to concessions as last year the receipts would have been increased about $29,000.

Games Eliminated.
Elimination of games of chance and other questionable amusements this year reduced revenues by $14,000, and it required an expenditure of $15,000 to substitute non-revenue producing attractions in their place.

WHITNEY CHORUS PLEASES THROUGH

Concert at State Fair Ground Sunday Comes up to Expectations

More than 2000 people from Salem and surrounding country attended Whitney's boy chorus concert Sunday afternoon at the state fair grounds. The grand stand was well filled and numbers sat in the bleachers.

The concert in every respect lived up to the expectations of musicians who, for the first time, had the opportunity of hearing the 500 Portland boys sing under the direction of the Rev. H. E. K. Whitney. And in his control of the boys Mr. Whitney demonstrated his ability as a conductor.

Perhaps the number that was most generously applauded was "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground," while a close second in popularity was "Come Where the Roses Bloom," rearranged from the most popular song of a generation ago, entitled, "Come Where the Lilies Bloom." There was also generous appreciation of the song boosting the Oregon 1925 exposition.

The audience also showed by its keen appreciation of the boys who directed and who gave special numbers. Short talks were made by Governor Olcott, A. O. Eberhart, former governor of Minnesota, and Mayor George R. Halvorsen.

Miss Genevieve Gilbert, who trained the Salem boys in the chorus, said that a boys' chorus would probably be organized in Salem, as well as other cities in the state. It is the intention of Mr. Whitney to take 1000 boys east in 1923 in a concert tour to extend as far as New York, and keep them interested in order to take part in the great boys' chorus for the 1925 exposition.

Mr. Whitney expressed his appreciation of the hearty reception given his boys in their first appearance in Salem.

THEO. KARLE IS COMING TONIGHT

All Tickets and Reservations Are Good for Deferred Appearance

Theo. Karle, world renowned tenor, assisted by Enrique Ross, pianist, and Harold Hicks, accompanist, will make his delayed appearance tonight at the Grand theater.

All tickets and reservations made for the date he was expected to appear, are good for tonight and the advanced sale of tickets indicate that not only all who intended to attend the concert at the former date will be present, but others in number sufficient to give the singer a crowded house.

In Portland Mr. Karle was given an enthusiastic reception when he appeared a few days ago and Portland papers were generous in their appreciative notices.

At the May Festival given by the Oberlin, Ohio, Musical union,

Theo. Karle was chosen as one of the leading artists, and reports are that he was acclaimed as one of the great tenors of the United States.

Other notices of appreciation credit Mr. Karle with selecting numbers that are just what the public wants, something that many artists like Mr. Karle do not do.

As an added attraction for this evening's concert, there is the Cuban pianist, Enrique Ross, who adds greatly to the interest of the musical evening.
