

BERRY PLANTS IN QUARANTINE

Certificates from State Board Necessary Before Sales Allowed

WEEVIL REAL MENACE

Growers Having Strawberry Plants to Sell Should Ask Inspection

No one may sell strawberry plants in the state of Oregon without first having written credentials from the state board of horticulture and this will be in effect until the state board removes the quarantine from the sale of such plants.

This action of the state board of horticulture, according to Charles A. Park, president, was in order to save the industry in the state, which is now seriously threatened with strawberry root weevil, a most dangerous pest.

Proclamation issued. By proclamation of the governor and the state board of horticulture, the quarantine has been put in effect. Those who wish to sell strawberry plants in Marion county must first send to Mr. Park or S. H. Van Trump, county fruit inspector, in order to have their vines inspected. If free from root weevil, a certificate will be given. This certificate enables any railroad or common carrier, such as trucks, to accept the plants. Without the certificate, any common carrier or truck lays himself liable to legal action on the part of the state.

As there is no county fruit inspector in Polk county, growers in that county who wish to sell strawberry plants, should apply first to Mr. Park, and he will make arrangements to send an inspector.

Industry in Danger. "This action on the part of the state board of horticulture, was absolutely necessary to protect and preserve the great strawberry industry of the state," Mr. Park said. "The root weevil is a most dangerous pest and unless we take radical steps to prevent its spread, within a few years there would be nothing left of this great industry."

Open Season is Here For Burning of Slashings

The open season for the burning of slashings by timber owners, allowing them to burn without obtaining permits from the state department of forestry, opened on October 1. Because of the unusually favorable season for the burning of slashings the department is encouraging the timber owners to clean up their slashings as rapidly as possible. It is said the season with respect to weather conditions is one of the most favorable ever known in the state. From June 1 to October 1 it is necessary that permits be obtained from the forestry department before slashings may be burned.

ARTHUR WOODS HEADS AGENCY

Former Police Commissioner of New York Heads Unemployment Office

SITUATION IS HOPEFUL

Hoover Wants Policy Inaugurated That Will Distribute Jobs Quickly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Colonel Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York, will head the central agency to be established here by the national conference on unemployment to co-ordinate emergency relief of the workless wage earners throughout the country.

The conference desires, Secretary Hoover said, in making the announcement today, to see the whole country organized on a community basis to effect the quick distribution of jobs to the involuntary idle through efficient operations of the emergency program adopted last week.

Machinery Prepared. Informal machinery, voluntary in its nature, is being set up in the form of one of the conference committees which under the direction of Colonel Woods, can receive reports from various communities of the progress being made and transmit to the different localities successful employment methods tried out in others. Hope was expressed in high administration circles today that President Harding's suggestion for a review by community authorities of the unemployment situation and steps taken to alleviate it in local areas would produce a picture from which it would be possible to determine where there is evidence of "slackness" in any community.

Authorities Interested. The municipalities and other authorities were said to have shown great interest in steps being planned here to deal with unemployment and where any community has failed to provide aid to its own unemployed, it is felt it would be brought to such undesirable notice through publication of the facts that emergency measures in that community would promptly follow.

Locals Coming In. Reports of local organizations are coming into the conference steadily. Mr. Hoover said, adding that telegrams had been received from the mayors of Memphis, Chattanooga, Nashville, Tenn., and Youngstown, O., stating that they were organizing to meet their unemployment situations along the lines suggested by the conference.

The first train of logs from the new camp of the Spaulding-Miami Logging company near Grand Ronde, was shipped Monday to the Spaulding saw mill at Newberg, according to Roy H. Mills, secretary of the Spaulding Logging company. The new camp is now in operation and employing 150 men.

PENITENTIARY MAY CONFRONT DEFICIT

Population Increasing Far Beyond Expectations of State Legislature

Because of the rapidly increasing population of the state penitentiary a deficiency is probable before the end of the present biennium, according to a report made to the state board of control yesterday by Louis H. Compton, warden of the prison.

The present population of the penitentiary is 396 and Warden Compton predicts a population of 500 before the completion of the two-year period. The appropriation of the legislature of 1921 was made on a basis of a population of 325.

Dr. R. E. L. Steiner, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane, said that a similar condition might prevail at the hospital. The legislative appropriation was made on a basis of 1800 inmates, and the present population is 16 in excess of that number.

Dr. Steiner reported that recent frosts destroyed several thousands of dollars worth of vegetables in the hospital gardens.
