MISS BYRD MAY APPEAR AGAIN

Music Teachers Association Considers Sponsoring Event in November

The Salem district of the Oregon State Music Teachers' association, the oldest music association in Salem, met last night at the studio of Frank Churchill, in the Odd Fellow's building. The meeting was the fifth annual session.

Included in the plans of the association for the coming winter is that of sponsoring the appearance in Salem next November of Miss Winnifred Byrd, Salem's famous pianist. It is probable that Miss Byrd will appear in Salem before filling her Portland engagement.

The plans of the association include a monthly session to be held the first Tuesday of each month. A regular system of programs has been arranged for the winter, each meeting to take up a study of some special phase of American music.

The association also decided to take up the matter of giving pipe organ recitals, two each month. The first recital for the public will be given Sunday afternoon, November 7, and thereafter on the afternoon of the first Sunday of each month. The November and December recitals will be held at the First Christian church. In order that the community may hear the best of organists, the association will arrange for the appearance during the winter months of several noted organists of the northwest.

The next meeting of the association will be held Tuesday night November 9, when the annual election of officers will be held.

GUN SMALL BUT IT BAGGED DEER

Wife With .22 Rifle Does As Well As Husband With His Big 30-30

Hunters will be interested in a little hunting story brought in to Hauser's store a few days ago.

A man and his wife came in to buy a "gun" for hunting. The man already had a 30-30, but they wanted a lighter one for the wife. They picked out about the last, a .22 caliber repeater. The man bought a quantity of long-rifle, hollow point ammunition, and set out. If the store boys and the rubbernecks laughed at this little pill-shooter for a deer gun, they were chivalrous enough to wait until the buyers were well on their way. Nobody forgot the story, however; it was quite a durable joke, and as seen the gun buyers and laughed, everybody enjoyed it.

A few days ago the hunters returned. The man had killed two fine bucks with his 30-30 rifle, which will always get 'em anywhere. The wife—well, she, too, had got the limit; a three-point and a spike buck—both with the little .22 that the boys had laughed at.

The hunters reported that one of the deer was killed at 150 yards, which is a long shot in almost any Oregon forest. The woman shot at one other five-point buck before getting the smaller one, but either missed or failed to land in a vital spot. But the other two went down before she had the 40-grain pellets, and the hunters is today one of the happiest outdoorswomen in all the west.

Hunters know that a deer can be killed by one of those .22-caliber bullets, but it isn't a usual deer gun. Only a few years ago the average bullet weight for deer hunting was fully eight times as great as this latest little killer.

Entertainment Promised Lodge Members Tonight

Members of the Salem Elks' lodge will be given an entertainment tonight, according to Paul Stege, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The famous Schindler orchestra of six pieces will appear at the lodge rooms as the first of the series of entertainments to be given for members of the lodge only. It is announced that the work of initiations will occupy but a short time and that before 9 o'clock the orchestra will begin its program.

Mr. Stege says this entertainment is one of the best to be given this winter as the orchestra comes highly recommended.

Willamette Valley Apples Are Widely Distributed

Apples from the Willamette and Umpqua valleys have received wide distribution even this early in the season and shipments made by the Oregon Growers have gone to 12 states and three foreign countries. C. L. Lewis says that the demand has been for early deliveries of large sized apples. The variety is of minor importance as long as the apples are large and well colored. There is a good demand for large apples during any season and even last year, big apples sold readily. It is hard to sell small apples at any time and they are moving slowly even this year when there is a severe shortage of apples in the country as a whole. Many growers, realizing that the best approved cultural practices must be applied to get big apples, are cultivating thoroughly and pruning and thinning carefully. These are the ones who are getting large fruit and large profits.

Clubs Asked to Act Under Scenic Preservation Plan

Governor Olcott has addressed a letter to all the commercial bodies of the state requesting that they act pursuant to a policy adopted at a recent meeting in Salem when steps were taken for the organization of the Scenic Preservation association of Oregon. Under the plan the commercial bodies are expected each to appoint a scenic preservation committee. All committees in each county are then to assemble at some convenient point and name a representative of the county to be recommended to the governor for appointment as director of the state association.

CLANCEY WOULD QUIT CHERRIANS

Organization Refuses to Accept Withdrawal and Asks for Reconsideration

At the monthly dinner of the Cherrians Tuesday night at the Commercial club all disbursements of various committees serving during fair week were approved.

For the entertainment of visitors in uniform the committee spent on Booster day of fair week the sum of $224, and on Thursday $108. There now remains in the Cherrian treasury for state fair entertainment $205.97.

Lee Gilbert, chairman of the dance committee, reported that he was willing to go ahead and arrange for a dance, but wanted to know if the Cherrians really wanted a dance. A poll was taken of the 57 present and 42 indicated a desire to have a dance. Mr. Gilbert was instructed to fix a date.

The resignation of C. B. Clancey, former King Bing, was presented to the Cherrians in a written communication. Clancey was expressed that Mr. Clancey should consider a resignation, especially since he had done such great service for the Cherrians last year. By a unanimous vote it was decided not to accept the resignation. A committee consisting of former King Bings and King Bings Knowland will wait upon Mr. Clancey and ask him to withdraw his resignation.

HOPE ABIDES IN BEARCATS

Manager Bryan McKittrick is telling the people all about it in every legitimate way. He has invited the Portland dailies to send their star sports writers down to help christen the new press box that has been built overlooking the field.

O. A. C. COMES STRONG

A great student rally at Willamette is staged for Friday night including a pajama parade and some star stunt from each college class. They will visit down town. Officials for the game are Sam Dolan, formerly of Notre Dame, now professor in O. A. C. as referee; Dean Walker, of Oregon State university, umpire; Tom Louttit, Multnomah Athletic club, as linesman; and Paul Hauser of Salem, timekeeper. It's a good corps of officers and a good corps of officers is almost as interesting to watch as the players themselves.

Trainload of Rooters and 60-Piece Band Will Be on Sidelines

"We are not saying that we'll beat O. A. C. to a whisper, or even to a loud yell or an Indian sign. But the bigger they are the harder they fall, and if they're counting for a practice to give 'em their varsity letters, the whole dictionary won't be big enough to tell of the other and better guesses they can make. For there's going to be a football game and not picking easy honors out of the air, like a moonshiner making ten dollars worth of whiskey out of an ear of corn and a couple of raisins."

The Bearcats will be outweighed at least 15 pounds. The O. A. C. team is reputed to be even heavier than the Oregon giants, and O. A. C. doesn't expect to do any "after you, my dear" stunts even if they are bigger. It's a pretty heavy handicap, that 15 to 20 pounds.

Home Boys Crippled

Some cripples in the Bearcat lineup are disquieting enough, though all are getting better. Earned had some fractured ribs that are slow in healing. Irvine and Lawson, two of the old standbys, are in wraps from scrimmage this week; Socolofsky is hardly able to conceal the fact that one leg is heavier than the other; and various other injuries have made it an anxious week.

The team as a whole, however, is playing good ball. Baine, the center, probably the lightest middleman in the whole conference schedule, is making them all sit up and take notice. Whitely also a candidate for this position, is improving, and may get into the game. The line now has Nichols, husky tackle, who had not been in until the last few days. If Irvine comes in on Saturday, he will be placed either at left half or at quarter. He is a quick, sure kicker and valuable. Patton, who had some good experience in the Forest Grove high school is doing some good kicking. With the heavy O. A. C. line in front of them, too big to hurdle, too wide and thick to run past or through, it may have to be a punting game. Socolofsky at full is a hard man to stop. He can be counted on for some good service.

Rooters Coming

Edwards and Isham have been tried at quarter, and both are making good. Either would be a good choice against any company. They have the true football instinct, to get in where the ball is.

O. A. C. is coming with a horde of rooters, a 60-piece band, and incidentally some football players to help make it an interesting day. If the weather holds good, it ought to be the biggest crowd that ever saw a game in Salem.

Manager Bryan McKittrick is telling the people all about it in every legitimate way. He has invited the Portland dailies to send their star sports writers down to help christen the new press box that has been built overlooking the field.

A good scrimmage last night with the high school team, was of much value in putting into practice some of the lessons that the coach has been giving them. Some "skull work" is to be given for the last part of the week, and tonight the team will be off by its lonesome to let the lectures sink in.

Bearcats Well Equipped

The Bearcats are reveling in their new dressing and bath rooms, in the basement of Waterloo hall. It is the best equipment the team ever had, and they're getting all there is in it. Coach Bohler is an expert trainer and handler, and is keeping down injuries and keeping up spirits of the team in a wizardly way. Nobody will fall of his absolute best with the atmosphere that pervades the squad.

Sweetland field was to have been sprinkled today, but the weather man beat the hose cart to it, and did it up last night.

Apple Packers Are Asked To Await Additional Cars

Fred A. Williams, chairman of the state public service commission, who is now in the east, yesterday telegraphed the Oregon commerce commission has informed him of a serious shortage of refrigerator cars. The interstate commerce commission advises apple shippers to hold their fruit until more cars are available if possible.
