

APPLE SHIPPERS. LACKING CARS

Commissioner Buchtel Urges Railroads to Send Aid as Soon as Possible

An acute car shortage has again hit the state and apple shippers are particularly in danger of suffering heavy losses as a result. The refrigerator car situation is very tight and appeals are reaching the public service commission from shippers in several quarters of the state.

Seattle company, calling their attention to the complaints and asking for relief as soon as possible. The apple harvest is heavy and the pack of high quality. Should the proposed railroad strike mature it is feared that some of the growers will suffer losses from which it will take years to recover.

One of the heaviest producing sections informs the commission that "We have not had half the cars we should have in order properly to handle our crop, and the car situation is not improving."

From the western part of the state comes word that "it is going to work a terrible hardship on some districts where there is no cold storage and where fruit cannot be held."

Another report says "The average rate of shipment from our district at the present time is probably about 10 to 12 cars per day and we should have at least 20 to 40 cars per day."

Will everything be square in diplomatic "circles" at the disarmament conference?

LUMBER TRADE GOOD, REPORT

John Perrin, of Twelfth Federal District, Makes Survey Statement

BUSINESS IS IMPROVED

August Shipments Keep Up With Timber Cut, Market is Steady

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—Some actual improvement in the demand for lumber is reported from states of the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, John Perrin declared in a report made public here today.

Stiffening of prices in the upper grades of Douglas fir, stationary or declining prices for California redwood and white and sugar pine, and decidedly more hopeful feeling as to future business prospects also feature the lumber industry at this time, the report said.

Progress in Output "August production of 256,233,000 feet of lumber, according to reports from the four lumber associations in the district, was 26,890,000 feet greater than the July cut, an increase of 8.1 per cent," the report said.

"About 75 per cent of the lumber mill capacity in the Pacific northwest and 60 per cent in the Inland Empire is reported as being in operation, while logging operations are reported as 40 per cent of normal."

Sales Effort Needed "Shipments and orders kept pace with the increased cut and were greater than in July. Orders are reported to require much sales effort, but increased from 283,416,000 feet in July to 331,310,000 feet in August of 25.7 per cent. Shipments made during the month totaled 336,941,000 feet compared with 286,727,000 feet in July, an increase of 17.5 per cent. Shipments of lumber by water to the Atlantic seaboard have increased 5,868 per cent during the first six months of 1921 compared with the same period in 1920. Notwithstanding the tremendous increase in water movement, the total volume of business of the Pacific northwest mills in Atlantic coast markets is stated to be less than it was a year ago, indicating a heavy decline in rail shipments. The report of the Pacific Lumber Inspection bureau reveals gains in water-borne shipments to all destinations at nine cargo markets and losses in a like number with a net loss of 13 per cent. Shipments to European markets show a decline of approximately 52 per cent, to the west coast of South America of 41 per cent, to Australia of 58 per cent, and to China of 12 per cent. Shipments to Japan, which is rebuilding six of her largest cities, showed an increase of 31 per cent. All com-

The Well Dressed Woman

By AGNES AVRES, Star in Paramount Pictures.

I am taking considerable thought for the morrow and am inclined to be pessimistic and side with the weather prophets in the matter of a cold winter. Also there is the coal shortage that strikes when we are longing most fervently for blue skies and sunny climates. And I am not alone in the matter, either—the tailors are with me—and, of course, the furriers.

So yesterday I went out and bought me the fascinating frock you see in the sketch. With it there is a short coat of cloth and embroidery just right for cold, autumn weather and heavy enough for winter. But what pleased me most was the dress. It is cut of the all comfortable and becoming chemise lines, which seems to be as good as over, the waist line is a little lower and very sketchedly indicated, quite after the prediction from Paris. The sleeves are costly, long and soft, coming down to the knuckles in a point. The neck is not very low and has a pleasantly startling suggestion of winter in the inserted line of white ermine between the point and the tiny cloth vest.

Matching the ermine are the rather large opaque white beads used in conjunction with the embroidery.

The round patches of embroidery are done in heavy black floss, and the white beads are ostentatiously sewn on with the same, making them look like the "black eyed beans" of the wedding supper.

We have not followed Paris too closely in the matter of the length of the skirt. As you can see, it is comfortably short. We shall undoubtedly wear the longer and more formal skirts for afternoon and for evening, but for street wear and walking we are still, with startling sense and discretion, clinging to the freedom of short ones.

My new velvet hat, that I wear with this suit, has for its only trimming a knot of ostrich, perched perilously on the edge of the brim.

STATE PREPARING FOR RAIL STRIKE

If Emergency Comes it Will Be Met, Declares Governor Olcott

Beyond intimating that preparations are quietly being made in Oregon to meet any emergencies that may be caused by the proposed railroad strike, Governor Olcott refuses to make any statement concerning what organization the state may perfect to take care of transportation and protect property.

"If there is an emergency," said the governor, "we expect to be prepared to meet it. Further than that I do not care to put out any statement about what is going to be done."

Should the necessity arise the governor would have the national guard at his disposal. In addition there are in the state hundreds of automobiles and motor trucks, owned by the state, the counties, cities and school districts that authorities could be commanded to take care of passenger and freight transportation.

Customer—These socks I received by parcel post from this store are vile. I would be seen in the street with them on!
Dealer—Yes. We advertised that you would never wear them out, didn't we?
"I see they're having trouble getting a jury in that landlord and tenant case."
"Yes, one side won't take any man who owns a house."
"And the other side?"
"Won't accept any man who rents one."—Louisville Courier Journal.

START ON LONG JAUNT FROM NEW YORK TO OHIO

Hikers? Well, I guess they are! Not the sort that walk three miles and ride thirty with some kindly autoist whose car has a conveniently empty back seat. But honest-to-goodness hikers, who walk for the sheer joy of stumping the roads. With their knapsacks slung jauntily over their khaki clad shoulders, Miss Isabella Henderson and Miss Elizabeth Fleckenstein started on September 17 on the first leg of the 784 miles that stretch between the West Side Y. W. C. A., New York city, and the association building in Dayton, Ohio. Averaging from eighteen to twenty miles a day, they expect to do the trip in a month's time.
