November Brunswick Record— On sale today, Moore-Dunn Music Store, Masonic Bldg.—Adv. Captain Leroy Hewlett, of Company F. O. N. G., says that recommendations have been made for the promotion of Paul Hendricks from the rank of second lieutenant to that of first lieutenant, also for the promotion of Forest Welborn, sergeant, Company F, to the rank of second lieutenant. These recommendations will be sent first to the commanding officer of the regiment and then referred to the office of Col. George A. White, adjutant general, for approval. Masquerade Dance— Friday, 8:30 hall.—Adv. Frances Willard Day— The Oregon legislature about four years ago passed a law providing that Frances Willard day should be observed each year in the public schools with appropriate exercises. The ceremonies will be held this year Friday morning at 9 o'clock in the high school building. The address will be delivered by the Rev. W. W. Long, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Trusses— Fitted at Tyler's drug store by an expert in the business.—Adv. Dr. B. L. Steeves to Speak— Due to the fact that members of the supreme court leave Sunday for Pendleton, Justice George H. Burnett will not be in the city to deliver an address at the laying of the corner stone of the Salem hospital. It is announced that Dr. B. L. Steeves will be the speaker for the occasion. The ceremonies will be held Sunday afternoon. There will be placed in the corner stone, names of members of the original hospital board, present members and history of the hospital building. Fresh Eastern Oysters— Home made Chile, steaks, chops, etc., Jack's Cafe, 163 So. Commercial St.—Adv. Biff Ball Last Night— The first biffball game of the season at the Y. M. C. A. was played last night. Hereafter, there will be biff and volley playing at the "Y" on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. There is also being planned a rally of all biff and volleyball players in Salem. Wood— Five loads 16 inch mill wood $13.75. Guaranteed two-thirds cord per load. Prompt delivery. Spaulding Logging Co.—Adv. Work Is Surveyed— A group of Salem newspapermen, state officials and others visited the Cottage farm yesterday and viewed the livestock owned by the state. Agricultural implements and farm accomplishments preparatory to the winter months were also inspected. Highland Bus Line— See schedule in classified ad.—Adv. Students Entertain— Miss Caroline Stober, Miss Lorelei Blachford and Miss Mary Elizabeth Hunt entertained the Order of Eastern Star with a program held Tuesday evening at the Masonic temple. All three are members of the Beta Chi sorority of Willamette university. Miss Stober gave a reading, Miss Hunt entertained with a piano solo, and Miss Blachford sang a solo. Mrs. F. A. Legge, house mother for the Beta Chi sorority, was in charge of the program. A Classified Ad— Will bring you a buyer.—Adv. Suggestions for School Districts— In the quarterly issue of the Oregon State Teachers' association recently issued, Miss Lena Belle Tartar, chairman of the committee on music standards, recommended that adjoining school districts or small towns, co-operate in employing special music supervisors or teachers, such as one teacher to serve at Turner and Jefferson, or Williams and Sheridan. Miss Tartar also recommended that inservice practical teachers of instrumental lessons be given the privilege of instructing pupils at school buildings during study periods.

Just Looking Around— H. Rhigen of Canyon City, Col., was in the city yesterday accompanied by his wife and daughter, Minnieville. Mr. Rhigen intends to locate in Oregon and is taking a look at this part of the Willamette valley. Legal Blanks— Got them at The Statesman office. Catalog on application.—Adv. Interested in Listing System— The Portland Realty board is greatly interested in the multiple listing system, according to Ora F. McIntyre, secretary of the Marion County Realtors' association, who addressed the board on Wednesday night. After a discussion of the exclusive multiple listing system, a resolution was passed asking that the board, at a regular meeting, adopt the exclusive listings entirely and discard what is termed open listings. A resolution was also passed asking that at a regular meeting of the board a committee be appointed to investigate the multiple listing system with a view to its adoption in Portland. Mrs. McIntyre will attend the meeting of the state association of real estate dealers to be held at Eugene Saturday of this week. Neimeyer Pharmacy— Ready to serve you at 175 N. Commercial street.—Adv. Administrator Appointed— J. F. Goode was yesterday appointed by the county court as administrator of the estate of Nancy B. Goode, who died June 20, 1921. The estate is valued at about $900. There are seven heirs, five daughters and two sons. All live in Salem except Etta Howland, whose home is in Denver, Colo. Found Health in Salem— Mrs. E. J. Day, sister of D. A. White, who has been visiting at the home of her brother in Salem for the past three months, left yesterday for her home at Stockton. While Mrs. Day did not come here for her health, Mr. White says his sister will go back to California boasting the fine Willamette valley summer climate. Moved— Neimeyer, Drugs, now open for business at 175 N. Com'l St.—Adv. Will Have More Opera Chairs— The school board has directed the purchase of 200 chairs for the high school auditorium. When the chairs arrive, the auditorium will have a seating capacity of 750, which is more than the opera house. Just at present, during assembly, more than 100 students are obliged to stand in the high school auditorium. In Our New Location— Neimeyer, Drugs, now at 175 N. Commercial street.—Adv. Game Saturday— As the Albany team is not in condition to play the Salem high school football team has taken on the Columbia university team of Portland. The game will be played Saturday afternoon on the Willamette football field. The Salem high school football team will receive considerable encouragement Saturday, as so far this season it has lost all games played, having been defeated by Chemawa and McMinnville.

MINISTER TO BOLIVIA. Jesse S. Cottrell of Tennessee, Washington correspondent for the Nashville Banner and the Fort Worth (Texas) Telegram, who has been appointed to represent this country in Bolivia. Never Wants Anything Else The season or coughs, colds, croup and bronchial troubles is at hand. Every mother will be interested in this letter from Mrs. E. K. Olson, 1917 Ohio Ave., Superior, Wis. "I tried many different kinds of cough medicine but now I never want anything else than Foley's Honey and Tar. I used it for all my children when I lived in Iowa and also for my grandchild in Duluth, and it has always done good work." Contains no opiates. Sold everywhere.—Adv. AGRICULTURE IN SCHOOLS GROWING Report on Progress of Vocational Work Made by Director Elliott E. E. Elliott, director of the state board for vocational education, who has returned to Salem after a tour through the eastern part of the state, declares that vocational agriculture is steadily advancing in the estimation of school officials. Last year only seven departments were in operation under the Smith-Hughes act in high schools east of the Cascade mountains, enrolling 191 pupils. This year the number has been increased to 12 with corresponding increase in attendance. Reports also show a heavier enrollment for this work in western Oregon. There are now 23 high schools in the state having agriculture departments, employing a total of 24 instructors, and using, in addition, a number of advanced students from the training department at O.A.C. as assistant instructors in some of the larger schools. Of these 24 men all are graduates of O.A.C. except three, being from Kansas Agricultural college, one from the University of Missouri, and the third from Washington state. The state board for vocational education believes that men trained in its own institutions and therefore familiar with the conditions and needs of the state will prove to be best adapted for the work in these vocational departments. Frequent conferences and close supervision enable these men to carry on their departments in a systematic and uniform manner. During the recent joint institute of the three counties of Baker, Union and Wallowa counties, a group conference of a number of these instructors was conducted as a part of the institute. Similar conferences will be held during the year, one of these during the meeting in Portland in December of the State Teachers' association. Vocational agriculture in Oregon is now in its third year of operation and the progress made during this period, as evidenced by the increase in the number of schools and instructors, the enrollment of students, and the cordial relations existing between the departments and the schools of which they can form a part has been most encouraging.

mentioned. He later identified the coat as his, according to the prison officials. Meanwhile the gravel pit was searched, and under a discarded boiler was found a crumpled garment identified as one of the coats worn by convicts on McNeil island. Captain Neil Henley, in charge of the prison's fleet of motor boats, announced he learned a rowboat was stolen from Still Harbor, on the west side of the island, the night of September 18. The boat has never been recovered. The workman's coat was found at Raymond after the San Francisco Bulletin published a letter purporting to be from Gardner and describing his escape. The letter represented that Gardner swam to safety, though wounded twice. Read The Classified Ads.
