

TAX REVISION BILL DELAYED

Pressure Behind Measure Stops When Immediate Vote Not Possible

BONUS ACTIVITY STARTS

Reed Would Have Profits of Profiteers Contribute To Soldiers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Pressure behind the tax revision bill eased off perceptibly today in the senate after it had become apparent that there was small prospect of a final vote before the middle of next week.

pect of a final vote before the middle of next week. Negotiations between the majority and the minority looking to an argument for a day for a final vote fell through.

Consideration Sure "We have now broken the back of the movement to force this bill through without proper consideration," said Senator Simmons of North Carolina, Democrat.

Only two amendments were discussed today. Under one change adopted on motion of Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, income tax returns would be open to inspection by direction of either house of congress.

Bonus Fight Launched Senator Reed today launched his fight for the bonus bill which he has proposed shall be paid out of funds obtained by continuing the excess profits tax.

Reading the message of President Harding and the letter of Secretary Mellon opposing the bonus at present, Senator Reed charged that it was the Republican plan "to kill" the bonus bill.

Insane Man Turned Loose On Streets of Butte

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 29.—An attendant at the Medical Lake insane asylum of Washington arrived here in Butte with two inmates whom he said could no longer be cared for there because of the expense.

The Washington official is said to have turned them loose on the street and to have shortly afterward boarded a train to return home.

PUBLIC INVITED TO SEE HOSPITAL

Sister Marie Wedel Refutes Articles Published in Afternoon Paper

"This institution has always been conducted in an open manner and the public is welcome at all times to familiarize themselves with the work," said Sister Marie Wedel of the Deaconess hospital last night.

"The Salem Deaconess hospital has no closed doors, no secrets, except, of course, no publicity is given those unfortunate girls who either voluntarily or through legal action are brought here for shelter.

THELMA PERRY LEADS IN HALLOWE'EN PRANKS

"Come this way, everybody," shouted Thelma as she led the way to another room where a second girl proceeded to eat a tremendous meal of pumpkins, strings of sausages and other heavy foods.

After refreshments were served, the children bade their guests, "good night," and bid away to their coats at what is a late hour with the youngsters (9 o'clock).

tives be present for the protection of the child as well as ourselves. It is very easy for an unprincipled person to misquote a child."

The statement is an answer to a Capital Journal story of several thousand words yesterday.

In brief, the article refers to an affidavit made by a Mrs. Alice Kays who had worked at the hospital. The incident in question occurred on March 1, 1921, according to hospital officials.

LEGION MAY HIT JAP IMMIGRANTS

Practical Exclusion Advocated in Report of Oriental Committee

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 29.—Practical exclusion of the Japanese immigrant by a new international agreement based on mutual respect and reciprocal in nature is commended in the report of the American legion's Oriental committee, to be submitted to the national convention next week, it was announced tonight.

The report, a statement by the committee, says, is the result of exhaustive investigations made at the direction of last year's convention.

The report describes Japan's immigrants as "unassailable." "The instances in which the Japanese in other countries have become assimilated," the report says, "are almost non-existent."

Strict Standard Demand of Education Committee The higher education standards committee of the State Teachers' association met yesterday in Salem to consider the standing to be given normal graduates in colleges and universities. The committee was originally appointed to secure uniformity in colleges and universities in Oregon in credits issued by each. The resolution finally passed by the committee expresses the sense of the committee that no institution that issues degrees should issue a blanket degree for advanced standing. Instead, each institution should translate all such credits into terms of its own degree courses and appraise them accordingly.
