

LIBERTY BONDS SELLING STRONG

Four Issues Make New High Prices on New York Stock Exchange

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Liberty bonds again contributed to the trading on the stock exchange today. Four of these issues made new high prices of the year.

At the maximum quotations of 95.50 the 3 1/2's showed a gain of 150 points, while the second, third and fourth 4 1/4's were 38 to 56 points higher. Some foreign war issues also hardened, but domestic rails and industrials reflected the dullness of shares of that character. Total sales, par value, 9,850,000.

Business in stocks was perfunctory, the several contrary movements denoting little more than the customary week-end settlement of speculative contracts. High grade oils were inclined to strengthen, but junior oils reacted under pressure directed mainly against Union oil.

Steels, equipments and coppers and kindred stocks lost 1 to 2 points, and trading in rails fell to lowest ebb of the week, a number of active transportations remaining unquoted throughout the session. Sales 235,000 shares.

German marks collapsed to the new low price of .39 1/2 cents with concurrent weakness in rates to Austria and Hungary. The important foreign exchanges ignored this condition, however, British bills especially showing decided activity and strength. The clearing houses weekly statement failed to disclose any marked changes resulting from November 1 transfer of funds. Actual loans and discounts showed the

PRESS MEN TO UNITE PACIFIC

Editor Hume Ford Sounds Keynote of Recent Conference at Honolulu

MUST WORK TOGETHER

Australia, Japan, South America and Islands Need Better Service

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 24.—The Pan-Pacific Press conference, concrete accompaniment of the present session of the Press Congress of the World, held its first meeting here with the Pacific journalists who attended the congress present.

The keynote of the new organization was sounded by Alexander Hume Ford, editor of the Mid-Pacific magazine and director of the Pan-Pacific union. His topic was "Why a Permanent Pan-Pacific Press Conference?" "There is need, as never before, that the gatherers and disseminators of news in Pacific lands come to a better knowledge of each other and each other's lands and problems," he said.

Jingoes Out-Jingoes. "The Australasian journalist knows little of Japan; the American journalist is confused by the reams of propaganda that deluge him from the Orient; the Japanese press takes seriously the ut-relatively nominal increase of $45,836,000, and cash contraction of $3,412,000 reduced excess reserves to about $13,000,000.

terances of the American jingo journalist and tries to out-jingo him. The neighbor is concerned, but little in other Pacific lands is known concerning the great South American continent.

"The result is that Pacific lands are steering straight for the shoals of chronic misunderstanding and worse. Unfortunately, the great news disturbing bodies of Europe and America play an influential part in keeping up Pan-Pacific misunderstanding.

"They control largely, the dissemination of world news between Pacific lands and because of their contracts, entered into long ago when news dissemination depended on now antiquated methods, and make practically impossible for the press of the Pacific to secure cheap and abundant news service to which the invention of the wireless entitles it. When in Japan I learned from a director of The Associated Press that, owing to a contract between the American Associated Press and British Reuter's, world news to Japan must go only through Reuter's.

Java has asked that Honolulu be made a drop station and that a man be stationed here to select from the drop service such news as each Pacific country may desire and forward it by wireless.

Truth Is Needed. "Who knows what may happen in the Pacific during the next few years if the press of the Pacific does not arise to its great duty and by truthfully reporting dispel some of the misunderstandings that are arising because the press of the Pacific is not educating the people concerning each other's affairs."

"Contributory to the shores of the Pacific lives more than half the population of the globe. The Pacific is the future theater of the commerce of the world. Here in the Pacific meet the oldest and newest civilizations. From now on the Pacific lands must feed the world. Lack of co-operation and understanding among Pacific peoples would prove the greatest calamity the world has known. The press of the Pacific alone can prevent this calamity and save the world. From now on the greater part of the world's people will have their homes in Pacific lands. Their leaders should be brought together for a better understanding of each other's aims and ambitions, and the press should create—as it can—a patriotism of the Pacific.

Could Solve Problems. "The men of the press in the Pacific, when they know each other, will learn to trust each other and in every Pacific land they will strive to be worthy of this trust of their distant conferees and the serious problems of the Pacific will dissipate in fleecy clouds. Understanding will supersede misunderstanding if only our press of the Pacific will consummate its high mission.

"Perhaps there should be two distinct bodies in the Pan-Pacific Press Conference. One, a league of Pacific newspapers composed of proprietors and the business staff that should outline the general business policy, deal with the cost of paper and news-gathering, reducing their cost by co-operative methods, and perhaps reducing the cost of international advertising to the advertiser through similar methods of co-operation with business staffs of the newspapers and magazines published in Pacific lands. The other and more important body, for the peace of the world at least, should be the actual dissemination of news and information concerning Pacific lands. They should meet together to know each other and to plan work that will make the people of each Pacific land know more about the people of other Pacific lands.

Urge Cheaper Rates. "The first action this body should take would be to obtain a reduction in the cable and wireless press rates between Pacific lands and actual free trade in wireless press correspondence, unhampered by any private or other contracts that would militate against the cheapest possible rates in the dissemination of international news and information.

"Franklin K. Lane, the late secretary of the interior, former President Woodrow Wilson, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and President Harding all have voiced the opinion that in the Pacific, haying behind it thousands of years of traditions of peace, might be the logical birthplace of a real league of nations. Who knows but that it may not be the mission

ELEPHANTS ARE NOT EASY GAME

British Hunter of Big Game Has Narrow Escape From Enraged Beast

LONDON, Oct. 24.—A good elephant yara is told by J. Morewood Dowsett, a well-known big game hunter, who has just returned from a hunting trip in South Africa.

He was hunting elephants in Uganda when information was brought of the whereabouts of a large herd. With a native chief and a house boy, he started to find them.

The party came upon the herd in the forest. Mr. Dowsett got several photographs within 20 yards of the beasts when the chief warned him that they had been "scared" and that the animals were coming for them. Snatching up his rifle Mr. Dowsett shot and killed the leader, a big bull.

While some surrounded their dead leader, many of the beasts stamped and, running the wrong way, Mr. Dowsett was cut off from the party. Reloading his gun, the hunter dashed off for safety and ran into a big bull elephant which crashed through the bush six yards in front of him.

Trunk aloft, ears extended and trumpeting wildly, the beast rushed at Mr. Dowsett and swept him to the ground with his trunk and turned rapidly in its own length ready to trample him.

The hunter took a flying dive under the monster's belly, realizing he would then be on the right side of the wind but the beast turned rapidly round and again tried to trample him. Instead the animal rolled him over and over with its legs and the hunter saw above him two great tusks as the beast tried to maneuver his body into position and pick him up. Mr. Dowsett managed to roll behind the animal and get to his feet and make a rush for cover.

To the hunter's relief and surprise the furious beast set off in the opposite direction and disappeared.
