Cynical doubters with small vision the country over and the world over have spoken repeatedly of the likelihood of failure of the disarmament conference, or of the possibility of small results-

But Marshal Foch, the commanding figure of the war to end war, breathes no such faint hearted misgivings on the eve of the conference to arrange for setting in motion the influences and to provide for the agreements that will substitute orderly arbitration and mutual justice and understanding for a resort to wholesale murder when nations shall in the future disagree.

There is at least one all the delegates or a majority of them have the vision chance in ten that he was a nsgro and the grasp and the sincerity and open minded determination of Marshal Foch.
