Corporation Fees May Be Collected in Court

I. H. Van Winkle, attorney general, has given an opinion to T. B. Handley, state corporation commissioner, holding that annual license fees of a foreign corporation which has done business in the state since 1913, without complying with the foreign corporation law, can be called by action in the courts. It is held that the statute of limitations does not run against the claim of the state. Further it is held that a penalty of $100 can be collected in the same manner for failure to comply with the corporation laws. The law provides that when a corporation commissioner may request any district attorney in the state to take action.

PEACE MADE WITH GERMANS

Proclamation Signed by President Yesterday Ends State of War

EMBASSY TO BE FORMED

Settlement With Austria and Hungary Remains to Be Effected Later

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A peace between the United States and Germany was formally proclaimed today by President Harding.

The president in a proclamation signed at 3:52 today, declared the state of war between the United States and Germany, existing from April 6, 1917, to have terminated in fact, July 2, 1921, when the joint peace resolution of congress was approved by the executive.

Issuance of the proclamation which followed exchange of ratifications of the treaty of Berlin, effected Armistice day, was considered the first of a series of three steps which when completed, will return the United States to a peace status.

Complete Peace Near The second step probably will be the promulgation of a proclamation declaring the war with Austria to have ended and the third, issuance of a similar proclamation as to Hungary. A proclamation dealing with Austria is expected to be signed by the president and issued through the state department within a few days, as ratifications of the treaty between the United States and Austria were exchanged at Vienna last Tuesday.

Ratification between the United States and Hungary are expected to be exchanged soon.

War Laws Yet Stand Until the third and final step is taken, the purposes of the formal proclamations will not be achieved in the opinion of officials.

These purposes are stated to end without certain war laws unaffected by the congressional resolution of repeal approved March 3. Notable among these laws are sections of the espionage act, the liberty bond act and trading with the enemy act. Portions of the last named statute are preserved, however, through the treaty.

Disposition of the cases of Eugene V. Debs and others convicted of violation of war laws likewise will await the third and final step. Attorney General Daugherty has prepared an opinion for the president, suggesting a method of disposing of the Debs cases, and it is understood, proposing definite treatment of the cases of others convicted of similar offenses.

Therman Expected

Today's proclamation has no bearing on the resumption of diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany, state department officials asserting that the exchange of ratifications restored such relations. Just when Germany will resume her old diplomatic status in Washington is not known, but it is expected Baron Edmund Therman, former counsellor of the German legation at Budapest, will arrive shortly to arrange for a technical installation of a German embassy.

STORY OF GAME TOLD BY FANS

Salem High School Has All the Best of it in Contest With Cottage Grove

An account of fast, clean game, but with odds against the local fighters, is brought back by high school fans who returned on Sunday from Cottage Grove after witnessing the victory of Salem high school over Cottage Grove by a score of 7 to 0 on Armistice day. In the third quarter Salem carried the ball over the line for the second touchdown but was forced to give up the valuable six points when the head linesman ruled that a Salem player had been playing offside on the final plunge. Later in the same quarter the red and black machine forced its way to within one yard of the goal line on a trird down and was penalized 10 yards for a similar offense. On the fourth down the Salem players were unable to cover the loose territory and were forced to give up the ball.

"Brownie," Salem quarterback, made the winning touchdown for the local team and was responsible for a large portion of the yardage made by the Salem team. Salem played the game offensively and kept the Southern Oregon squad continually on the defense. Abandoning their usual tactics of punting, the locals relied chiefly on the ability of their fast backfield and the speed to their ends in getting under passes. Only twice during the game did Salem punt. The tow teams were evenly matched in weight but the Cottage Grove team lacked the generalship strong enough to cope with the Salem quarter.

The eyes of local fans are turned with considerable interest to the Corvallis-McMinnville game scheduled for the week after next. Salem has been defeated by McMinnville but later in the season has conquered over schools reputed by comparative scores to be much stronger than the McMinnville team. Cottage Grove defeated Corvallis and if Corvallis is able to humble McMinnville the local team can have clear title to the championship. Until they do the comparative ability at the present time of the two teams will be a matter of argument unless a game can be arranged.

Since the time that it played McMinnville the Salem squad has improved 500 per cent in the eyes of local fans who insist that Salem can easily humble any rival now. On November 18 Salem will meet Silverton here and on Thanksgiving will battle with Lincoln high of Portland.

CITY POPULATION INCREASED BY 57

Twenty-Nine Boys and 28 Girls Born During Month Records Show

The population of Salem was increased 57 last month, according to the report of births filed with Dr. C. E. Cashatt, city health officer. Of this number 29 were boys and 28 girls.

Twenty-one of the 57 births were recorded as the first child in the family. In four families, the birth was the fifth. In two families the record shows the sixth child, while with one family, the record of birth indicates the 14th child.

The average age of the mothers was 30 years. Only two were under 20 years old. The oldest mother was 44 years of age. The greatest disparity in ages of parents was where the father was 58 and the mother 26 years old. In 10 of the births recorded, the mother of the child was older than the father.

The average age of the fathers of the children born during October was 33 years. Only one was under 21 years. Only one was more than 50 years old, and only four more was more than 40 years of age.

Twenty out of these 57 fathers were between the ages of 20 and 40 years. And out of the births recorded, 15 of the fathers were reported as farmers with seven going on record as laborers.

Skidmore has been checking up on the work of the Oregon state board for vocational education, his report to go before the national authorities. Among other things he has passed on the expenditure of federal funds by the state board under the direction of J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of vocational education for the state. Also he investigated the training of teachers at Oregon Agricultural College.

The selection of Portland is considered a recognition of its advantages as a convention city and of the remarkable progress of vocational education in Oregon.

"I have spent several days looking into the work of the state board," said Mr. Skidmore, "particularly as it has been carried on in cooperation with the federal board and I am highly pleased with the showing. The records of the state office, both financial and statistical, are in excellent condition, and this has made it easy to compile the information wanted by the federal board. We are especially gratified with the large increase in the number of departments of vocational agriculture in Oregon and the steady advance made in the number of students enrolling. According to our figures, Oregon stands at the top of all the states in the country in the percentage of increase both in the number of new departments of vocational agriculture organized and in the enrollment of students, the former being 220 percent and the latter 165.7 percent."
