

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

No Turkeys Left—The local market is pretty well sold out on dressed turkeys. The Thanksgiving closed with a retail price of from 42 to 45 cents a pound. The wholesale prices for turkeys yesterday was from 28 to 30 cents a pound for live birds and 35 to 36 cents a pound for dressed. The poultry market is lower.

Baby Chicks—All local hatched this season—$17 per 100 for White Leghorns. Reduced prices on all varieties. Now booking orders for spring delivery. C. N. Needham, 558 State St., Salem.—Adv.

Lost But Little Time—The Oregon Pulp & Paper company lost less than one day's time from flood troubles. Four motors were removed from the sub-basement when the water rose to a depth of one foot in the basement, but these were replaced with the falling water and the mill is now operating on the usual three shifts.

The Drug Stores Will Close—On Thanksgiving day between the hours of 12 noon and 6 p. m.—Adv.

Returns From Canada—Charles W. Niemeyer has returned from a two weeks business visit in the province of Alberta, Canada. He was in the big wheat farming district near Edmonton. He says a number of people are coming into that country, banking their future on wheat.

The Gray Belle—Will serve turkey dinner all day today; $1 per plate.—Adv.

Slowly Falling—Ordinarily after very high water the flood recedes rapidly, and in a day or two the river goes back to normal. This time, however, there appears to be such a flood of water coming from the upper Willamette that the water is receding slowly. With 26.6 feet as the high water mark this year, the gauge yesterday afternoon read 22.5 feet.

Take Your Turkey Dinner—At the Gray Belle.—Adv.

Wrong Folks Got Credit—It was C. B. Clancey who thought so much of the school teachers of Marion county as to decorate most artistically the stage at the high school auditorium where the annual institute sessions were held. Someone had mentioned the fact that Mr. Clancey was a Rotarian and then some one else went a little further and told the teachers it was the Rotary club that was so thoughtful. But it wasn't. It was Mr. Clancey.

Experienced Waitresses Wanted—For steady work. The Gray Belle.—Adv.

Assumed Name Filed—George W. Hubbs of Silverton has filed with the county clerk the name under which he will do business in Silverton. His letterhead will read, "Hubbs Real Estate Company."

Next Thanksgiving Are you going to be thankful a year from now that you still have the old job, at the old pay?

Rather, are you not going to be thankful that you decided today to break away and go to business school (day or night) and fit yourself for a better place?

Are you not going to be thankful the first round of the ladder which leads to still higher positions?

What are you going to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day, 1922?

Will Talk to Rotarians—The Rev. Martin Fereshethian, pastor of the Unitarian church, has accepted an invitation to speak to the Rotarians at McMinnville next Friday. The McMinnville Rotarians decided to hold a session in the evening to which all high school students have been invited. Mr. Fereshethian will speak on "America, the Land of Opportunity."

The Spa—Will serve Thanksgiving dinner from 1 p. m. till 8 p. m.—Adv.

Where Zero Is—For the benefit of those who have been reading about the river gauge and how high the water has been, it may be said that according to the government's official records, the zero gauge at Salem is placed exactly 113.13 feet above sea level. The city of Salem is ordinarily reported as 130 feet above sea level.

Legal Blanks—Get them at The Statesman office. Catalog on application.—Adv.

Flax Growers Sign Up—Many farmers who have not heretofore been interested in flax, are now signing up for acreage since the Willamette Valley Flax & Hemp Growers Cooperative association has been organized. W. P. Brantley signed for five acres of flax and C. R. Porter for 10 acres. Neither of these farmers has heretofore grown flax.

Temperature Is Freshish—One of the most surprising drops recorded in Salem for many years occurred Sunday afternoon. The thermometer had been registering at 52 degrees for a day, when at noon it dropped down to 40 degrees, almost in less time than it takes to write the story. For three hours it stuck down to 40 degrees; and then, almost in a flash, it began to rise, until it reached 54 degrees Fahrenheit.

The card index on the automatic recording thermometer at the Hartman store shows this freak of the weather most graphically. The change from warm to cold, and then back up to warmth has not been explained.

Salmon 7 Cents—Fitts Market, Phone 211.—Adv.

Red Cross Booths Planned—If weather conditions permit, a number of Red Cross booths will be placed in the downtown district Friday, the closing day of the fifth annual Red Cross roll call. As the weather broke all records for being uncomfortable the past week, it was decided to continue the campaign for membership until Saturday night.

Turkey Dinner—50c, White Cloud Tea House, 110 1/2 Com'l St.—Adv.

To Attend Flax Meeting—George Quayle, general secretary of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce will probably attend the meeting of flax growers to be held in the Commercial club next Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m. He writes that he is greatly interested in the development of the industry and will make every effort to attend the meeting.

Contract Signed—S. V. Hughes, contractor, has received and signed and forwarded to Washington his formal contract for erecting several buildings at Chemawa for the Salem Indian school. The contract price is $22,250.75.

Mr. Howe Will Use—A different musical instrument each evening at the First Christian church. LeGrand and Howe are worth hearing.—Adv.

R. A. Booth, state highway commissioner who recently underwent an operation in a Portland hospital, has so far recovered that he is now at his home in Eugene. He has written friends that he feels like getting to work.

College Men Will Meet—The 15th annual meeting and conference of presidents and faculties of independent colleges and universities of Oregon will be held November 25 and 26 at Forest Grove. Eight colleges and universities will be represented. Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, president of the Willamette university will speak November 25 on "The Place of the Bible in the A. B. Course."

Don't Cut Library Papers—A patron of the Salem Public library learned a few days ago that it is mighty risky to cut or mutilate a newspaper, magazine or any book in the library. He was observed cutting out an article in a newspaper in the library. He was informed that there is an Oregon law which provides that such an act is punishable by a fine of from $5 to $50 or a jail sentence of not more than six months.

From Senator Underwood—In response to resolutions passed by Willamette university favoring disarmament, and sent to Senator Oscar W. Underwood, one of the five Americans on the conference committee, Dr. Carl Gregg Doney yesterday received the following telegram from the senator: "I feel quite optimistic that the conference can work out the great results we all desire and I certainly shall do my best in that regard."

the Cloverdale pupils on Friday afternoon. Several of the parents were present. School closed for the following week on account of the teachers' institute.

Forrest Brown's Trial Postponed Until Saturday

Trial of Forrest Brown upon a charge of having intoxicated liquor in his possession was yesterday postponed for the third time within 15 days by Justice G. E. Unruh.

Brown is being held in the county jail following his arrest by local police. According to witnesses, Brown made an attempt to outrun Officer Bircheater, after dashing a bottle to the pavement in the downtown district. The case was postponed yesterday due to absence from the city of Brown's attorney, P. H. D'Arcy. The case will be heard Saturday morning, Judge Unruh announced last night.

Nelson's Automobile is Stripped of Many Parts

SILVERTON, Ore., Nov. 23.—(Special to The Statesman)—The Ford car belonging to E. Nelson was robbed Monday night. Everything that was loose or could be removed was taken. Cushions, tools and even the spark plugs were gone. Mr. Nelson lives in the Silverton hills and his buildings are set in about half a mile from the road, which leads some to suspect that the thief was acquainted with the surroundings. No trace of the articles have so far been found.

MAIL TRAIN ARRIVES

SILVERTON, Ore., Nov. 23.—(Special to The Statesman)—The first mail train to Silverton since the flood arrived at 7:10 p. m. Tuesday. Silverton has been getting some mail but only that which the stages brought. The postoffice force distributed the mail during the evening.

New Postoffice is Now Occupied at Silverton

SILVERTON, Ore., Nov. 23.—(Special to The Statesman)—Mailing and receiving mail were made rather difficult in Silverton Tuesday, due to the fact that the postoffice force took advantage of the scarcity of mail and began moving into the new postoffice building shortly after noon. Many Silverton business men were seen carrying huge packages from one place to another, trying to get them mailed before working overtime. The postoffice force were able to begin work somewhat systematically in the new location yesterday morning. Preparations are also being made for the city delivery, which is to begin the first part of next month.

THE SPIRIT OF HOME IN adult years we look back with ten der thoughts to our childhood, to happy holidays spent in the home, whether it was rich or poor. A spirit of thankfulness should fill us today for what HOME means in this America of ours, and for all the blessings 1921 brought us. May we never cease to gather round the fireside, and to invite there those less happily situated.
