

ARBUCKLE JURY STILL HANGS

PROSPECT FOR CHINA FREEDOM NOW BRIGHTER

Proposals of Japan, Great Britain and France Set Forward Emancipation From Foreign Control.

ALL LEASED AREAS ARE NOT INCLUDED

America, Having no Territory in its Grasp, is Little Concerned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—Emancipation of China from foreign control was said to have moved forward considerably today at a conference of the nine powers through proposals from Japan, Great Britain and France for relinquishment of large and important areas of their leased territory in China.

The proffers of the three powers were conditional and limited, not including all their leased areas, but were declared officially to be one of the most important developments of the Far Eastern conference.

Definite undertakings were due the next meeting of the Far Eastern committee Wednesday. During the recess discussions between China and Japan on Shanghai and the studies of the sub-committees on other Chinese questions will proceed.

Japan Repeats Offer
When the question of removal of special spheres of influence in China was brought up today, France offered to relinquish her leased territory of Kiao Chow providing similar concessions would be made by other powers.

Japan followed with reiteration of an offer to relinquish her leased territory in Shantung and Great Britain joined with a proposal to relinquish British leased territory of Wei-Hai-Wei.

All offers except that of Japan concerning Kiao-Chow were conditional on cessions of leased territory by the other powers and also on performance by China of certain conditions, which delegates declared probably would be met.

Objections Heard
Objections were presented by Japan to relinquishment of her leased territory in South Manchuria and by Great Britain to release of Kai-Low, opposite Hongkong. British representatives contended that Kai-Low was an important factor in protection of Hong Kong and insuring its retention as an open port.

The leased territory remaining for discussion as far as Japan was concerned, Mr. Hanhara said, was the Kwantung province, or Port Arthur and Rangoon.

"The Japanese delegates desire to make it clear that Japan has no intention at present to relinquish the important rights she has lawfully acquired and at no small sacrifice. The territory forms a part of Manchuria, a region where by reason of its close proximity to Japan's territory, more than anything else, she has vital interests in that which relates to her economic life and national safety."

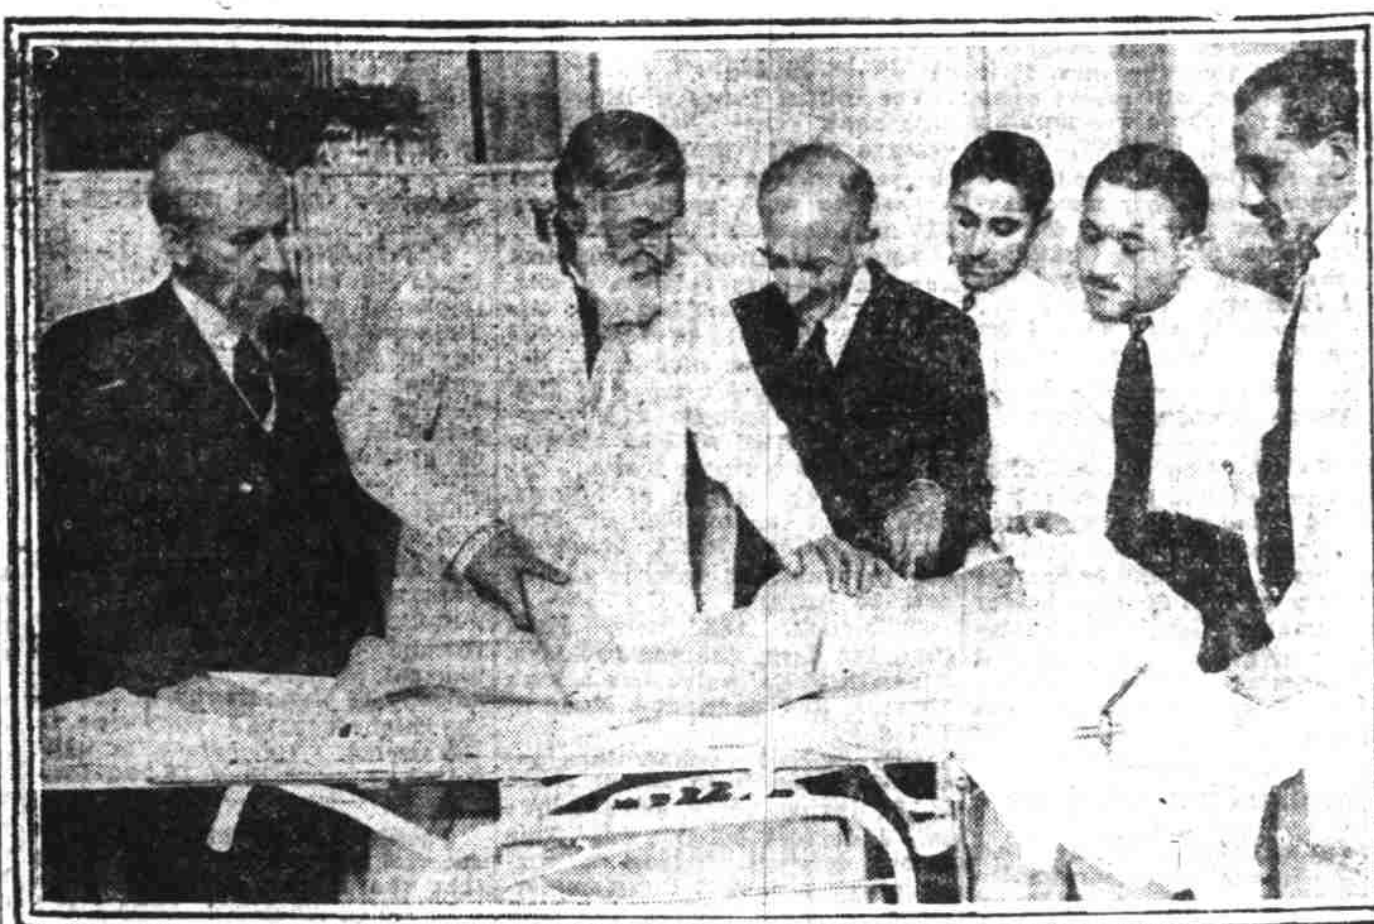

America Little Concerned
The United States, according to reports, expressed a sympathetic attitude toward China's reason for the return of leased areas, but America having no leased territory was said not to be concerned directly in this phase of the discussions.

Considerations which occupy minds of official Japanese, through representatives at the Washington conference, and which form the background of practical questions involved in percentage of ships under an armament limitation agreement were said tonight to be summarized in the following proposition: "Is Japan to be isolated politically or is she to be linked compactly with other great nations with a full recognition of her desire to be known actually as one of the five great powers in spirit as well as name."

Definite Agreement Wanted
Developments in the discussion of naval ratio, it was said, show Japan is looking at this question from a broader standpoint than a mere issue as between 60 or 70 per cent in tonnage. The Japanese

Longer Skirts and Low Waist Lines Are Decried

Cleveland, Dec. 3.—Oriental styles and low waist lines and wide graceful sleeves and the skirt slightly longer, but still short enough to retain a "youthful appearance" were recommended for the spring and summer of 1922 by the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' association today.

The combination of matelasses, plaids, satins or tafetas with plain cloths are suggested, with ornaments of cut steel nailheads, Aurora wool, braids, stitching, leather trimmings and buckles. Soft, roomy sport coats will be popular, it is believed.

Bloused coats with wide voluminous sleeves and low waist lines also are designed.

Three piece suits are expected to be popular, the dress made on straight hanging lines to be worn with a jaunty little loose type of coat or a cape.

Disarmament Not Enough Avers Samuel Gompers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—Samuel Gompers, discussing the arms conference in a statement tonight, declared a naval agreement would be a "magnificent achievement," but if the conference stops there it cannot be said to have succeeded.

Mr. Gompers said that "every person who sincerely looks for an end of wars must hope with deep fervor that the conference will go beyond naval limitation and strike hard and true at the causes of war."

To destroy 66 ships and to fail on the Far Eastern and Pacific problem," he asserted, "would be a transient victory in the shadow of disaster. The conference must go on to the deeper questions."

Multnomah tied the score in the second period when Faulk took a long forward pass from Bill Steers and ran 15 yards for a touchdown. Steers kicked goal. Big Bill Steers won the game for the clubmen in the same period when he booted a dropkick from the 15-yard line.

At the same time Judge W. Y. TOKIO TO SEND ITS DESIRE ON NAVAL ISSUES

Reduction Question at Disarmament Conference Awaits Information from Japanese Capital.

ADJOURNMENT TAKEN UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Foreign Delegates Are Anxious to Witness Convening of Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—Naval negotiations, apparently at their most favorable stage since the arms conference began, waited on Tokio today while representatives of Great Britain, Japan and France were coming together in a conditional agreement for withdrawal from portions of their leased territory in China.

Outward developments contributed nothing to the status of the naval discussions, but the impression grew that the American, British and Japanese governments were considering in provisional form an agreement that not only would include acceptance of the American 5-5-3 ratio but would have to do also with Pacific problems of a more definite nature.

Japs Move Cautiously
Definite action, however, will have to await several days while Japanese delegates feel out the attitude of their home government toward the newest phase of the negotiations as it shapes up from last night's conference between heads of the American, British and Japanese delegations.

In the Far Eastern negotiations developments centering about the Chinese leases were of so pronounced a character as to be regarded generally as ranking among the most important of the conference.

Tonight the conference after three weeks of continuous work, went into recess until Wednesday. Many delegates, it was said, had important personal affairs and most of them wanted to be present Monday and Tuesday at the opening of congress.

Balfour to New York
The interim also will permit the Japanese to advise themselves as to the attitude of Tokio and will make it possible for Arthur J. Balfour and other members of the British delegation to fulfill engagements in New York.

In all the major delegations confidence apparently was increasing tonight that the response from Tokio would be favorable to the Anglo-Japanese alliance. That is a subject which the British, Japanese and Americans will refer to guardedly but there have been many hints that both Great Britain and Japan would prefer to have the United States a party to any continuation of the treaty or even would be willing to make a new agreement by which the three would unite to preserve peace in the Far East.

Alliance Importance Grows
Of growing prominence among the side issues of the naval problem is the Anglo-Japanese alliance. That is a subject which the British, Japanese and Americans will refer to guardedly but there have been many hints that both Great Britain and Japan would prefer to have the United States a party to any continuation of the treaty or even would be willing to make a new agreement by which the three would unite to preserve peace in the Far East.

The crux of the whole question lies in the fact that American delegation is opposed to entering any such agreement if it is to be regarded as in any sense an alliance and that Japan, on the other hand, is reluctant to substitute for the Anglo-Japanese treaty any agreement whose terms would seem to leave her in a weaker situation.

A system of arbitration treaties has been suggested, but there is not authoritative information as to how nearly satisfactory that solution might be to either the United States or Japan.

May Include France
It is taken for granted that should a regional agreement or set of cross treaties develop, France would be included.

All of these considerations are regarded by Japan as integral parts of her program of national security and while it is considered possible that a final agreement as to naval ratio can be reached, there will be bound up with it a decision on some of the most important political questions on the Pacific and the Orient.

Maintenance of fortifications and naval bases in the Pacific islands is another factor of increasing interest to Japan as the naval Deploping what they termed widespread unemployment, speakers at a national conference of unemployed today pleaded for governmental aid for all persons out of work and for a government system of pensions for the aged.

Speaking of the recent unemployment conference in Washington, Robert Irwin of St. Louis declared "no tangible results had been shown as the result of it."

JUDGE REFUSES TO DISCHARGE ARBUCKLE JURY

Illness of Woman Member Causes Early Retirement to Hotel With Instructions to Resume Today.

VERDICT IS TOSS-UP

ACTOR'S CHANCES FOR ACQUITTAL APPEAR LESS AS TIME IS CONSUMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3.—The jury in the manslaughter case of Roscoe S. (Fatty) Arbuckle, was taken to its hotel at 10:37 p. m. after Miss Louise E. Winterburn is reported to have suffered a slight attack of illness. The jury is to return to court at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Miss Louise E. Winterburn, one of the woman jurors, was reported to have become ill during the jury deliberation tonight. The court officials were considering taking the jury to its hotel at once as a result of Miss Winterburn's illness.

The nature of Miss Winterburn's illness was not revealed but it was reported that it was only a slight attack.

Judge Harold Louderback, the trial judge, announced he would be in his chambers at 10 a. m. tomorrow to decide if the jury deliberation is to continue on Sunday. At the time of its departure tonight the jury was said to still be 11 to one for acquittal. Up to the time it left it had been out 29 hours and 15 minutes.

Gavin McNab, chief defense counsel, said before the jury left for the night that he had ceased to speculate on the outcome. "It is a tossup," he said.

Milton T. U'Ren, assistant district attorney, reiterated former statements that the jury should be discharged as unable to reach a verdict. He had requested the judge to order such discharge earlier in the day but the request was denied.

Judge Harold Louderback, trial judge in the manslaughter trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, today refused a request of the prosecution to dismiss the jury which has been deliberating on the case since 4:15 yesterday afternoon.

The dismissal was asked for on the ground that the jury was "tired out and that it would be coercion to keep them balloting further."

The judge ordered the jury taken to dinner and returned to the courtroom at 8:30 p. m. The prosecution's request came after the jury had been out more than 24 hours without an indication that they had reached a decision of any kind.

The judge said that in the event there is no decision tonight, he will go to court at 10 a. m. tomorrow and will decide at that time whether the balloting shall be continued tomorrow or Monday.

A few minutes before 6 o'clock Attorney Gavin McNab conferred with the bailiff, who had just finished a conference with the judge. McNab then left the court room and it was reported that he had come to confer with the district attorney on a possible agreement for a dismissal of the jury.

Brady Not in Room
District Attorney Matthew Brady did not appear in the court room during the day. A portion of the day, however, he spent in his offices on the floor above the court room. The crowd in attendance started from a more handsful and grew until the court room and the surrounding corridors were filled. Despite the dragging, hours the crowd clung

I. C. C. ACCEPTS CUT IN FREIGHT

Products of Farms Are Benefitted by Order Issued at Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Voluntarily railroad proposals for inauguration of a 10 per cent decrease in freight rates on practically all farm, range and orchard products in the United States, outside of New England, were accepted today by the interstate commerce commission.

Orders were issued calling on the railroads to disregard all usual restrictions in making up the new rate schedules as well as such reductions of the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act as might be brought about by percentage reductions.

The orders also permit rates to be put into effect on one day's notice "on as early a date and in as inexpensive a manner as possible" for a six-month experimental period.

The commission left standing its order of October 20, requiring approximately 16 2/3 per cent decrease on grain, grain products and hay in the trans-Mississippi district which the railroads were later instructed to put into effect by December 27.

SCHOOL CENSUS TOTALS 14,462

Count of Persons of School Age in Marion County Is Completed

The total number of young folks in the county of school age, between the ages of 4 and 20 years, is 14,462, according to final reports received at the office of county superintendent. This is an increase of 397 over the school census of one year ago.

In Marion county there are 129 schools now in session. One district is having its pupils transported. Another district, known as Elkhorn No. 115, happens to have only one pupil in the district of school age.

Rather than conduct the school at the same expense as though a dozen were attending, the directors of this Elkhorn district have found it advisable to send the one little boy in the district to attend school in Salem. They pay his board and tuition in Salem.
