To these annual services the public is invited. The committee in charge announces that a program of more than usual interest has been prepared. The vocalist of the day will be Miss Mary Wylie of Portland, who will sing "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears." Miss Wylie is regarded as one of Portland's best contralto singers. She is a member of the Portland opera association.

The address of the afternoon will be delivered by Judge George M. Brown, member of the Oregon supreme court. The eulogy will be spoken by Charles R. Archer.

Members of the lodge are requested to assemble in the Odd Fellows' rooms on the third floor of the theater building, at 2 o'clock and be prepared to march in a body into the theater. The usual number of seats will be reserved for Elks.

The stage has been beautifully decorated.

Officers of the lodge who will have charge of the services today are as follows: Roy D. Byrd, exalted ruler; D. G. Drager, esteemed leading knight; E. M. Page, esteemed loyal knight; W. I. Needham, esteemed lecturing knight; secretary, Harry J. Wiedmer; treasurer, Roy Burton; Esquire, George P. Griffith; Tyler, A. L. Fraser; chaplain, Karl E. Hinges; inner guard, Milo Rasmussen; organist, D. C. Burton; director Elks' orchestra, C. J. Kurth; director Elks chorus, Dan F. Langenberg.

The program committee which prepared the services for today consist of August Hucklestein, Dan F. Langenberg and Brazier C. Small.

All Kinds of Nut Dainties to be Served at Monday Noon Luncheon

For the Commercial club luncheon Monday noon, nuts of all kinds which can be grown in Oregon will be served.

C. A. Reed, chief of the nut investigation branch of the United States bureau of agriculture, will be the chief speaker of the day. It is understood he is regarded as one of the greatest authorities on nut culture, having made a special study of walnuts.

Earl Pearey, president of the Oregon Horticultural association, will also be on the program and give a short talk on filberts, which have been attracting so much attention in this part of the Willamette valley.

In order that the luncheon may be suggestive of the subjects under discussion, John Rundberg, steward, promises a menu that will be most tempting. This will include meat loaf with walnut dressing, mashed potatoes with gravy, buttered French peas; walnut salad with apples and celery; pickled walnut olives; jello with walnut, banana and whipped cream; walnut cake and coffee and last but not least, assorted nuts with appli.

Speaking of nuts, it may be said that nurseries have been doing a heavy business this fall in filberts. It has been demonstrated that filberts are well adapted to the valley, and the market is almost unlimited. Experts also claim that the flavor of English walnuts is much finer than the California walnut. The poorest and most undesirable English walnut on the market is the Manchurian, shipped to this country by the Japanese.

A number of farmers who are interested in nut growing have been invited to attend the Monday noon meeting.

lights at Silverton disappeared leaving everything in total darkness. The periods of darkness were luckily short. As far as mail service is concerned Silverton has entered the realms of cityhood. There are four daily city deliveries, Robin Cooley and Henry Hutton are the carriers. They report everything going along nicely.

California Bars Sheep from Ranges of Oregon
The Klamath Wool Growers' association has under its jurisdiction about 30,000 head of sheep which it wishes to send into the Modoc federal forest in California for winter grazing, but is unable to do so under an order of Governor Stephens of California until the sheep have been dipped under what is known as the Modoc dipping order. Dozens of telegrams are reaching Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, and Governor Olcott urging that they obtain relief from the order if possible.

Dr. Lytle says the sheep have all undergone government inspection and have been pronounced free from scab or other disease. It is probable, however, that California will insist on enforcement of the order, since it is not at all anxious that the grass in that state be eaten by Oregon sheep, and the government is likely to follow California's wishes.

Dipping at this season is undesirable because of the expense and the damage to which sheep are endangered because of cold weather.

DR. STEINER TO BUILD CONVEYOR

Portion of Maintenance Fund to Be Used at State Insane Hospital

At the state board meeting yesterday Dr. R. E. L. Steiner, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane, was authorized to expend $3000 from his maintenance fund for the construction of a conveyor to carry "hog fuel" which is a waste from lumber mills, from its storage place at the hospital to the furnaces. It is used for heating purposes and has been found economical.

Dr. G. C. Bellinger, superintendent of the state tuberculosis hospital, reported that there is more demand for accommodations at the hospital now by afflicted persons than ever before and that room is at a premium. The applicants are admitted in order as they come unless circumstances make necessary a deviation from this rule. Multnomah county has furnished half the patients now in the hospital. This situation is about to make some relief necessary so that other counties may not be discriminated against.

J. W. Howard and E. S. Tilling, superintendents respectively of the state blind school and the state deaf school, took exception to the census reports of the public school districts as furnished to the state superintendent of schools, declaring the school apparently make little effort to ascertain the numbers of blind and deaf persons of school age living in their districts. They estimated that the numbers of such persons are far in excess of the numbers mentioned in the reports.

Superintendent W. D. McNary of the Eastern Oregon hospital for the insane, reported progress in the construction of the new wing at the Pendleton institution and that the institution suffered no damage from the recent storm. The workmen are nearly ready to place the roof on the building.

American Education Week to Be Observed in State

"American education week" has been set aside for December 4 to 10 under sanction of President Harding and through the joint enterprise of the National Education association and the American legion. Observation of the week in Oregon is recommended by Governor Olcott in a letter in a statement in which he says:

"Nothing could be of greater importance to the nation than the development of a feeling among all classes of people that Americanization work is an important factor in the future of our nation and our commonwealth. It is for the advancement of this work in particular, and to educate the people of the nation as to its necessity, that this week is being observed. I trust that it will receive the careful thought of our people."

Loyalty to Industries At Home is Advocated

Loyalty to home industries is urged by Governor Olcott in a letter to the people of Oregon issued Saturday with respect to "Oregon Industries Week," which will be observed in the state from January 23 to 28. "The purpose of the movement is a highly laudable one," says the governor's letter, "to stimulate
