About Christmas Candy—

Christmas candy will be a little cheaper than one year ago, according to a prominent grocer, who is one of the heaviest buyers of the city in the candy wholesale market. Fruits and nuts will be somewhat lower in price than one year ago. Walnuts, however, will be higher, as California walnuts are not up to grade. In fact, Oregon walnuts are fast displacing the California English walnuts, due to the fact that the Oregon nut has a much finer flavor. One large grocery firm will handle 8,000 pounds of Oregon walnuts this season, specializing on the home grown nut.
