

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Services All Week— Services will be conducted throughout the week at the West Salem Methodist church, with special music and song service each evening in addition to the sermon. Violin and orchestra are musical features.

Nine-Pound Boy Arrives— Mr. and Mrs. Biddy Bishop are recipients of a Christmas present in the form of a nine-pound baby boy who arrived yesterday morning at their home, 1854 State street. He has been named William Lytle.

Legal Blanks— Get them at The Statesman office. Catalog on application. —Adv.

Present Didn't Arrive— The Christmas present that the 11 candidates for the pleasure of serving the people of Salem and vicinity as postmaster for the next four years was looking for, didn't arrive. Among the three or four who are really quite confident of receiving the appointment there is hope that the new year will bring the much coveted commission. Others are inclined to think that as congress has adjourned until January 4, there will be no appointments announced until after that date.

Recovering Slowly— Miss Zenda Busch of Twenty-second and D streets, who was knocked down by an automobile Saturday evening and seriously injured, was taken yesterday from the hospital to her home. It is thought her injuries are such that she will be confined to her room for a week or more.

Will Meet Tonight— Members of the Sunday school basketball league will meet this evening at the Y.M.C.A. at 7:30 o'clock to arrange a schedule for contests to be put on early in the year. It is thought that eight teams will take part in the coming season. Clifford Smart is chairman of the league.

A Classified Ad— Will bring you a buyer.—Adv.

Will Report in January— The Elks' building committee, which will have official charge of the building plans of the Elks for the coming year, will meet sometime early in January. Then after the committee has had several sessions and has some definite plan to report. This report will be submitted at a regular Thursday evening session of the lodge.

Willing to Help— R. O. Snelling, secretary of the Rotary club, received in yesterday's mail, the following letter, with a $5 check enclosed: "We are sending you this check which we hope will reach you before Christmas, to help in aid of the needy ones in care of the Associated Charities." The letter and check were sent by Mabel and Bertha Allen of Rickreall.

Salvation Army Christmas Tree— At its hall on State street, just west of the United States National bank, the Salvation army will hold its annual Christmas tree on Wednesday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. It is thought that fully 100 children will attend the Christmas tree services, almost all of whom were not remembered Christmas with toys. Hence those in charge of Salvation army headquarters, ask contributions be sent in the way of toys, candy, etc. They may be sent to the headquarters of the army on State street. On Christmas day, through the efforts of the Salvation army, 75 baskets of food were sent out to that many families who were in actual need of food and Christmas cheer.

Afflicted Youths Escape— Two boys, inmates of the state school for feeble minded, escaped from that institution yesterday, according to a report filed at the police station. Harry Moody, 15, is a mute, the other lad, Ralph Memmet, 19, wore blue overalls and coat.

Weather Forecast— For those who believe in the almanac's forecasts of weather, January will be about as follows, according to the almanac: The first week will bring a storm and cold wave. Then it will be partly cloudy and warmer. Then about the 7th of the month, it may rain. Then it will become cold and then pleasant. There will be rain about the 12th followed by partly cloudy and warmer weather. There will be a cold wave in the Missouri valley a little later in the month. This prognostication of the January weather is supposed to stand good anywhere from Maine to Oregon.

DIED

SMITH—At Weed, Cal., Dec. 20, 1921, Louis L. Smith, age 62 years, born in Hannibal, Mo., husband of Margaret E. Smith, father of Beatrice E. Townsend and Marion M. Smith, all of Portland. Expounding Gasoline Tax— To correct an impression that the proposed gasoline tax is an addition of 2 cents on the present tax, an oil agent puts it like this: The legislature of 1919 passed a bill providing for a tax of 1 cent a gallon on gasoline for road maintenance. The legislature of 1921 put on another one cent, making the tax 2 cents a gallon. Then the present legislature proposed to put on one more cent a gallon, which exempts gasoline that is not actually used for travel on highways. Of this 2 cents 60 percent was to go to the exposition fund and 40 percent to the highway fund. While the figures are not especially big as to the tax on each gallon, this dealer says there is an impression that the additional tax as proposed was two cents. Yesterday, and for some time past, gasoline has been selling for 27 1/2 cents a gallon, 2 cents of which went into road maintenance.

New Rotarians— At the Wednesday noon luncheon of the Rotary club, two new members will be introduced. These are George W. Hag, superintendent of the Salem public schools, and V. W. Fells, in charge of the Burroughs Adding Machine company's business in Salem.

Getting Up With the Sun— Officially speaking from figures as to the rising and the setting of the sun, it is no great accomplishment to rise with the sun, especially on the morning of December 27. Astronomers have figured it out that the sun rose in Oregon this morning at exactly 7:40 o'clock and that it will set this afternoon at 4:23 o'clock.

Have Perfect Attendance— Only three Rotarians have a 100 percent record of attendance at luncheon for the year 1921. These are William McGilchrist Jr., R. O. Snelling and Fred Thielson. As Mr. Snelling is obliged to leave for California Tuesday evening, he will go to Portland today to attend the Rotary luncheon in that city, and thus receive credit for this week's attendance.

Practicing at Y.M.C.A.— No definite program was put on yesterday at the Y.M.C.A. Many teams, however, were in the gym, practicing and getting ready for the contests announced for next Monday.

Little Present from Postoffice— Quite a number of patrons of the Salem Postoffice who have their mail delivered to boxes, received the following little present from the Christmas mail: "Your box rent is due."

To Hold Last Dance of Year— The Illihee County club will hold its last dance of the year at the club house on Saturday evening of this week. C. B. Webb, chairman of the entertainment committee, says there will be a large attendance as many have already notified him of their intention of attending.

Children Entertained— More than 300 children were entertained Monday morning by Frank Bligh at the Liberty theater. The show was given complimentary and was especially for those who have not had the opportunity to any extent of attending the movies. It was one of Charles Ray's plays entitled "Ready to Go" with plenty of action to please the children.

He Has Another Idea— Discussing the proposed extra one cent tax on gasoline to help put over the 1925 exposition, an auto driver who doesn't relish another one cent tax, comes forward with the suggestion that the legislators overlooked a bet. His idea is that the one cent asked for on gasoline could better be raised by putting on one cent a pound on sugar, especially as sugar is so cheap.

Card of Thanks— I desire to express my gratitude to the many friends who so kindly assisted me during my recent bereavement. Mrs. Alice Goodell.—Adv.

Pythians Will Entertain— On Tuesday evening, December 27, the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters will give a Christmas entertainment at their Castle Hall, Elks' temple. All members of both orders are cordially invited to bring the kiddies, candy and nuts for the night. Dancing will follow the program.

Valuable Diamond Lost— H. J. Coventry of Albany, yesterday reported to the police that he had lost a 5000 diamond stud while in Salem, during the forenoon. Mr. Coventry stated that the gem is enclosed in a small bag and is affixed to a small piece of cloth. Return of the gem to the Salem police will entitle the finder to a suitable reward, posted by the owner.

Searches for Team— M. Hutchinson of Woodrow avenue yesterday asked the police to aid in locating a team of horses which had strayed from his property Sunday.

A Cold Christmas— The weather man broke old cold weather records in Salem for the past 10 or 11 years when he sent a temperature of 39 as the maximum for Sunday and 21 for the minimum, Sunday evening. And with the wind blowing, many thermometers recorded lower temperatures than these. The government's official thermometer is placed in a wooden box where there is plenty of air, but where no wind strikes the mercury.

PRAYING TEAM WINS VICTORY

Colonels Defeat Arizona U 38 to 0; Gridiron Churned to Mass of Mud

ROBERTS, CENTRE, STAR

Western University Seldom Has Possession of Ball —5000 See Game

STADIUM, SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 26.—"Uncle" Charley Moran's "Praying Colonels," otherwise known as the Centre college football team, celebrated their debut on a far western field by defeating the University of Arizona here today, 38 to 0.

Rain fell throughout the game and the field was a churned mass of slippery mud. About 5000 persons armed with umbrellas and raincoats watched the game. Centre proved it is not a one-man team. There are at least two "Bo" McMillan and "Red" Roberts. The latter easily outshined his famous teammates. His work in running interference again and again brought forth cheers from the chilled spectators.

Arizona Totally Mired— Arizona did not make a first down in the first half and rarely had possession of the ball. In the third and fourth periods the Wildcats made a few good gains but were unable to maintain continued drives.

Too many words of praise can hardly be written about Roberts. He seldom failed to take out his man when running in interference. He made sensational catches of forward passes, bucked the line, kicked goal, and proved himself a great defensive player.

Red-Haired One Leads— Roberts scored the first touchdown for Centre within five minutes of the opening whistle. With the red-haired giant leading the interference, McMillan and Tanner made steady gains. With the ball on Arizona's three-yard line Tanner twice failed to pierce the Wildcats' defense. McMillan also failed to break through. On the fourth down Roberts broke through right tackle, falling across the Arizona goal line.

Score by periods:
Centre . . . 12 6 7 13—38
Centre scoring:
Touchdowns: Roberts, McMillan, Tanner, Snoddy, Covington (2).
Goals from touchdowns: Roberts, Covington.
Officials: Referee, Evans, Millikin; umpire, Rosenthal, Minnesota; head linesman, Pfefferkorn, Indiana; field judge, Klawans, Chicago.

Junior Basketball Teams Will Arrange Schedules

All the junior basketballers, who wish to play in the series at the Y. M. C. A. this week, are urged to perfect their organizations and send a representative to the committee meeting at the Y tonight. All the Sunday school teams of the city are invited to the series, which is to begin Wednesday and run fast and furiously the rest of the week. All the teams are urged to get busy today, and make their plans to enter the series through their representative tonight, when the drawings will be made and the schedule definitely arranged. The series will occupy the Y gym most of the week, so that all the juniors who wish to play at all, through the busy holiday season, will need to come in this agreed order so that all can be accommodated.

HORNER'S BOOK FASCINATING TALE

Wonderful Story of Oregon Country Told by College Historian

What's in a name? Some names haven't much excuse for being; they are like old Methuselah, who did nothing but exist for 369 years and then shuffled off the stage "Lived and died" was his whole story. Not very thrilling, is it? But under the concealing title of "Oregon," Prof. J. B. Horner of the Oregon Agricultural college has packed a marvellous lot of interest, of mystery, of thrill, of heroism, of fortitude and faithfulness into a single volume. There's everything hidden under this one name. From where comes the name "The Joseph Plains"? From Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce nation, whom historians accord as the greatest Indian of the past 100 years? Where all the seminaries, the colleges, the universities, that have made the Willamette valley the greatest college section of the whole world? Everybody knows a few of these historic places; but some of the dead-and-gone are as interesting as wonderful as those who survive. Where can one go for all these living details. Who knows that there was once a college at Sublimity, and that its president, Rev. Milton Wright, later a bishop in the United Brethren church, was father of the pioneer aeronaut of the world—Orville Wright? Who knows just when and where and why all these colleges, most of them established by Christian church people, were built, and what has been their history? Who knows just when and where slavery was a part of Oregon history? Professor Horner knows—and he has put it all into his wonderful book. The historian has two methods of approach—to segregate all the items of one kind, into separate groups, or to follow everything in chronological order. Professor Horner, however, is more than a historian—he is a storyteller with all the charm of an Aesop or a Dickens. No historical item is quite complete in itself—it must have a cause, it's like the old debate as to which was first, the chicken or the egg? Back of every egg was the hen that laid it, and back of the hen was the original egg—and what would you?

One can see, readily enough, that certain things happen—like the world war; but it is no story at all unless one knows the "Why" and the "How." Professor Horner has led down a thorough and delightful line of "how's" and "why's," and produced a fascinating story of Oregon. The state and its institutions did not merely "happen," they were ordered; they were thought out and worked out by earnest men and women, and the high lights of their inspirations and achievements have been set down in his delightful book.

"Oregon" may be a textbook in the schools, but it ought to be more than that; it should be a companion of every desk, every fireside, every politician, every Oregonian good, or had, rich or poor, proud or humble. One can find anything in it—the sublime, the ridiculous, the tender, the tough, the everything that makes a state.

Really, you ought to have the book, not to borrow it, but to own it and have it as one's own kitchen or shoes or shirt.

"FACTS" ABOUT THE TEMPORAL POWER OF THE POPE

Before studying the alleged "infallibility" of the Pope, we study today his demand for Secular Power; and later will show how such power would affect America.

Jesus said to Pilate: "My Kingdom is not of this world." If, were, they would not, "My Kingdom" is the "Vicar" and "Viceregent" of God. A "Vicar" is one who is authorized to perform the functions of another.

Using these titles the pope claims that he performs certain functions that belong to the Lord Almighty, and that he cannot do the full and proper work of his office as Secular Ruler, with a territory in which his will is supreme, where he exercises all the rights and powers of a secular monarch, and from which he can deal, as an equal in secular dignity, with the secular governments of earth.

All this is claimed as an additional to his claim as supreme teacher of the human race in all things connected with Morals and Religion. Do you realize the distance to which this can be pushed? Your personal duties as a private citizen are thereby made a public duty. If you are an official of any rank whatever, you have to do with the Law, and this involves Morals and Religion. Do you realize that affect the welfare of the public. And in voting for the candidates of your choice for office, questions of Morals are again involved. And the pope also is supreme in all questions of Morals!

England once spent more than a million dollars to punish a few savages who had murdered an Englishman—a private citizen. This illustrates the reason for the pope's demand for Secular Power. He is not powerful to inflict physical punishment on any at any home who may offend him. But more than that he wants power through a secular standing, to compel earth's civil rulers to inflict physical pains on any of their people who offend him. He is a public offender against himself and his of fire.

Read the following: Proposition 24, from the "Bill" issued by Pope Pius 9, when he was in fullness of power, to set him as anathema who says that the church has not authority to use force, nor any temporal authority direct or indirect. —and how this, from "The Moral and Moral Theology," by Fred Vincent of the Romanist seminary of Claremont: "The church has received from God power to constrains and repress those who obstinately forsake the truth, not only by spiritual penalties; but by temporal and corporal ones; such as confiscation of goods, imprisonment, beating, torture, mutilation and death." (Page 400).

The Secular Power is demanded by the pope to make it possible for him to effect all the above things. What he did had to be done. —JAMES LITTLE, Dec. 26, 1921. —Adv.

about $850 from booth sales in Salem alone, according to an estimate of Mrs. Fred W. C. Beltinger, who had charge of booths in the city. This is a larger amount than received from the city one year ago.

As yet no estimate can be made of accounts given throughout the county, as Mrs. Elizabeth Putnam, who was in charge of out-of-town districts, has not received all reports. The Woman's club of Salem had charge of the sale of souls and all the details necessary in arranging the annual Christmas efforts to secure money with which to fight the spread of tuberculosis.
