DRIVERS WOULD CARRY RECORDS
Plan Advanced in Florida to Curb Reckless Drivers Who Hide Misdeeds

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 27.—The motorist who persisted in violating the local traffic rules would suffer more than he who broke them infrequently if a novel plan invented by the police here to curb the "don't care" drivers is put into effect.

Violators would be rated by means of punch marks on registration cards which motorists in Florida are required to carry with them. When a motorist aroused the ire of a traffic officer through failure to obey signals or by cutting corners, the officer would demand the driver's registration card and for each violation of the rules would punch it. Every motorist thus would carry his record with him and when haled into court the judge would examine the card and ascertain the number of times he had violated the law and been released with a reprimand from an officer. The hardened offender would get the limit while the driver with a good record would be dealt with lightly.

More "Facts," Judged By Their Fruits

Remembering that Rome claims to be "always the same"; whatever she has done in the past she would do again. President Wilson once went to Boston to attend a political gathering and the officials were to be there to attend a banquet with the president as guests. As next in office the governor of the state should sit beside the president and the Irish should be invited—O'Donnell who had been invited—for he was in politics—declared "I am a prince, and I sit next to the president." The fight to restore the temporal power to the pope is a fight to make that impudent action of O'Donnell the rule in American affairs; priests ranking governors standing next the president—but with the pope or his legate boasting the president and everybody else.

Look over the claims made by the Roman canon law and by the pope's syllabus, as shown in our last. If the pope were put back where they once were, in power in the world, he would claim the American nation, instead of being a government OF, BY and FOR the people, would be a government of the pope, by the pope and for the Roman corporation.

In the past the pope has deposed rulers, have ordered them to rebel against their lawful rulers; have taken territory from lawfully elected rulers; he has to others, excommunicating, cursing and damning eternally the men who have offended them; and these, all these, he has done. Sometimes they have given the offenders a chance to repent; but their territories were then-forward held to be "heirs" of the pope. We now give from history, a few instances:—In the year 1059, Pope Gregory VII deposed Emperor Leo Isauricus for the MONARCHY crime of opposing the use of images in the churches. Here is the example in practice.

In 1059 Nicholas II. deposed the rulers of Apulia, Calabria and Sicily and gave himself holding it as a "gift" of Rome. His grand-nephew, Gregory VII, deposed Henry IV, of the western empire. In 1084 Urban II. declared a crusade against the emperor, who opposed God or His saints, or who violated their precepts.

In 1199, Innocent III. affirmed the acts of these predecessors, and incited the enemies of the emperor to persecute him. In 1212, Innocent III. deposed Otto IV. This pope and his council, the first Lateran, declared that if a ruler neglected to purge his territory of "heretical filth" his territory should be seized by Catholics.

In 1239, Gregory IX. handed the emperor Frederick II. Innocent IV. who reigned 1243 to 1254, confined this action.

Pope VIII. issued his bull against Henry VIII. of England in 1538. This bull we will study separately.

Pope Sixtus V. in 1579 set his hall to blowing against Queen Elizabeth. Gregory XIII. confirmed this action and promised a "plenary indulgence" to all who would fight against the queen.

In 1667 Austria passed a law that Pius IX. said established "free liberty of all opinions, liberty of the press, of every faith, and no matter what confession or doctrine," and he at once retracted it, the whole, in a single day. He made the same declaration concerning reform action in Sardinia. And in 1871 Pius IX. "abrogated" certain laws in Portugal.

Our neighbor, "Catholic Citizen," tells how Lord Baltimore refused the Baltimore Protestants when he reigned a Protestant, then was "reverted" to a Protestant. He wanted to be a Catholic, to get a charter for a colony, and the king saw it that no advantage should be taken by Protestants. This Baltimore was a bad Catholic, for he discovered the foundation paper law, and his objection in writing, is a simple writing the old Jesuit trick: "White is black and black is white, if it will be good for the church." Here is the example in practice.

Adv.—JAMES USQUE

Facts you should know when you buy a car

The question of greatest importance is not what you will be allowed for your old car but the price you pay for the new car and the value received.

You are money out if allowed $100 more for your old car, yet have to pay a $150 higher list price for a new car when the comparative value is not there.

A purchaser's loss is only postponed when trading allowances are made above a used car's real value. The deal that may appear most satisfactory to you in the beginning may prove to be the most expensive in the end.

No one receives anything gratuitously in this world—don't be misled by false allowances.

We believe that any sales policy which encourages the giving of fictitious values for used cars is an injustice to the public. We wish to establish definitely the fact that the Buick Motor Company has never followed this policy—rather has always based the price of its product upon actual costs and when costs come down correspondingly reduced the prices of its cars to the public without any camouflage whatsoever.
