Russian General Works
For Living as Driver

PARIS, Jan. 27.—Passers-by on the boulevards were surprised recently to see a distinguished looking man greet a taxicab driver and kiss him on both cheeks, the regulation salutation between Russians. The passenger was a Russian admiral and the chauffeur was a former Russian general, celebrated during the first period of the war, now earning his living by driving a taxicab.

Students who take their meals in a very modest boarding house in the Latin quarter had a similar surprise recently. As the serving woman, a woman of middle age whose worn garments could not conceal her distinguished appearance, approached a table a young girl student suddenly arose, knelt on one knee and kissed the
