BEARCATS LEAVE FOR WALLA WALLA

Willamette Basketball Team Has Three Games in Washington City

The Bearcat basketball team leaves this afternoon at 4 o'clock for a tour of Walla Walla and environs. They play the famous American Legion team of Walla Walla Wednesday night, and Whitman college Thursday and on Saturday nights. On Friday night, the Willamette Bearcat singers, the glee club, give their annual concert in Walla Walla, so it makes four nights straight that the Willamette boys will be doing something to or for the Missionaries or their townsmen.

The line-up will be the same as that which played Multnomah and Pacific last week: Dimick, Doney, Logan, Gillette, Sociofsky, Patton and Caughlan. A new and untried brand of defense was put on for the first time on the last trip, and it didn't work any more than trying to run on the hands after specializing in footwork. In the Multnomah game, after being 10 points to the lead, the Bearcats went back to the old game, and they piled up scores almost at will. They were 10 points behind with 10 minutes to play, when they took their brace and they evened the score at 26 all. What is said by Superintendent Hug to have been a clear oversight on the part of the referee, wherein the ball was given to Multnomah for a throw-in when it properly belonged to the Bearcats at almost the last moment of play gave the Multnomahs their chance for one lone field goal that decided the game.

Close critics give the Bearcats a slight edge over their Missionary rivals if the invaders are up to their best game. They have the handicap of being in the enemy's home town, and on a floor that every day in the year is accustomed to every day in the year. The team cannot return before Sunday. The examinations, scheduled for most of this week, have been shoved forward where necessary for the team and they haven't a scholastic worry in the world.

FROSH DOWNED BUT WON'T QUIT

Coach McKittrick Putting First-Year Men Through Strenuous Paces

If anybody sees a rather husky youth dragging one or even two legs, and looking as if he had been run ragged with hardly a chance to rest or sleep, it's probably one of the Willamette frosh basketball team.

The frosh have had the course of youth—and the success of "most anybody" that still has his wits about him, and they are submitting themselves to Coach Bryan McKittrick, a four-year graduate of Bearcat basketball and baseball. What he is doing to them is responsible for the dragging legs if there are any.

COUNTRY BOY IS REAL HOPE

Albert E. Roberts, International Y.M.C.A., Addresses Commercial Club

RURAL WORK NECESSARY

Youths Bred on Farms Have Basis on Which to Build, Says Speaker

"The country boy is the hope of the nation," declared Albert E. Roberts, senior secretary of the international Y. M. C. A. country community work department, in an address Monday noon to members of the Salem Commercial club.

"City institutions are reaching out for the country boy, who is making good in the smaller communities," said Mr. Roberts. "I have great faith in the country boy and but little faith in the boy who grows up in a large city. Big city influences are artificial. The country boy has better thinking methods."

Tendency Held Menace

Referring to some advanced thinkers who say that in years to come farms will be operated just as great industrial institutions are now, with workers coming from the city each day, Mr. Roberts said that if such a thing ever did come to pass "it would mean the death of our country. For it is the country boy who is really the foundation of our country."

County Y. M. C. A. Boosted

"A boy about 17 years old needs our greatest help," declared Mr. Roberts. "For at that age he knows more about everything than anybody else."

He urged the great work of the county Y. M. C. A., Mr. Roberts said: "We do not give as much attention to our boys as we do our livestock. We can send to Washington, D. C., and have an expert sent to us who will advise us about our fine stock, but we cannot find an expert who can tell us how to raise our boys."

APPRENTICE LADS WHO PROMISE TO DEVELOP INTO GREAT JOCKEYS.

AUSTIN MCLAUGHLIN

By HENRY V. KING. The Sandes, Factors, Turners and all veteran jockeys who were in the limelight on the tracks last season may not have things all their own way this year. A new crop of youngsters is being developed and they promise to furnish the turf with some first rate riders. Charles "Chick" Lang, a youngster, will come north heralded as another Tod Sloan. He has proved time and again that he is a wizard with the reins. Although only 17 years old, veteran horsemen proclaim him the best rider in the country. He has been riding only two years, but he knows all the tricks of a veteran. Horses like to run for him, and he seldom if ever uses a whip. He talks to his mounts and pleads with them to go on, and almost always they give him all the speed and stamina they possess. At Jefferson Park he rode twenty-nine winners in twenty-seven days and attracted a following such as no jockey has had at New Orleans in more than a decade. With his host of followers, he started the new year auspiciously at the Fair Grounds and rode twenty-seven winners in fifteen days. He has a wonderful seat, skilful hands, is alert at the post and can put up a finish the equal of a jockey almost twice his weight. He knows the shortest route home, is a good judge of pace and isn't afraid of any kind of a horse. His honesty is above reproach, and he seems as much interested in the success of the racegoers who wager on his mounts as he does about the size of the prize he receives from horsemen who employ him. Another youngster who is riding like a veteran is Austin McLaughlin, son of the once widely famed ninety pounds. Pete Walls, brother of George Walls, demonstrated last year that he had the makings of a good jockey in him. With small, quiet horses he could hold his own with the veterans. He weighed only seventy pounds and a big horse was too much for him, and he was unable to hold him in on the turns. This winter Jim Fitzsimmons sent him to Cuba with Frank Frisby. There he was a sensation until he met with an accident, a fortnight ago and suffered a broken collarbone. In a letter from him last week he said he was rapidly recovering and would return to the saddle before the end of the month. He said he has gained several pounds and developed the muscles of his arms and can now hold any kind of a horse. "He has everything Joe McCahey possessed—seat, hands, nerve, alertness at the post and a faculty of making a horse run his best without pulling him." Eddie Kummer, brother of the veteran Clarence, is not a winter development, but next season he promises to play an important part in affairs on the turf. Near the best winners and season he rode many winners and showed improvement with every mount. He is a mite of a lad, weighing less than ninety pounds, but he can do almost everything his brother can with a horse. Like all good jockeys, he isn't afraid of any kind of a horse, and he is the hardest worker at Belmont Park. He is the first of McNaughton's stable help at work in the mornings and he is the last one finished at night. He is tall and rangy, and because he is so thin his mates call him "Razor."

DEATH HIDING IN MOONSHINE

Liquid Product of Illicit Stills As Harmful as Real Article

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 23.—"The face on the barroom floor" should be a skull with crossbones under it, these days," declares George H. Blincoe, federal prohibition agent.

"Death lurks in white corn liquor," he says. "It is a continuing fuel oil, one of the most deadly poisons. First-run moonshine is rank poison; yet the moonshiner who makes the stuff—first shots it is called by the legitimate distiller, doesn't trouble himself to distill it again, but sells it as it is for drinking purposes."

Double distillation and aging in charred barrels for at least four years is necessary to remove the fuel oil, Mr. Blincoe says.

"No moonshine I have ever seen in my experience as a prohibition enforcement officer has been aged. The bootleggers' motto seems to be 'full speed ahead' and never safety first."

Burning of Transformer Causes Plant to Shut Down

The burning out of a transformer that supplies the electric power, caused a shut-down Saturday in the plant of the Oregon Wood Products plant in West Salem. This is a serious matter, almost an international calamity, for they're waiting clamorously for broom handles and axe handles and mop handles from this fast-growing Salem enterprise, as far as Ontario, Philadelphia, Atlanta, New Orleans, and goodness only knows how many other places.

Dairying and Dry Farming Await Bonus Beneficiaries

The bonus commission is taking note of the fact that many plans are being announced to deed ex-service men property, taking one-half of the $3,000 maximum loan as the first payment and the balance on the same plan as the state of Oregon will loan the soldier.

On this basis, where a soldier asks for the maximum, he would have left $1,500 with which to construct himself a home and live on his land until such time that it will be self-sustaining.

Near East Workers Are Heard by Silvertonians

SILVERTON, Or., Jan. 30.—(Special to The Statesman)—J. J. Handsaker, state director of the Near East relief, and Mrs. W. E. Both Mr. Handsaker and Mrs. Rambo have had actual experience in the suffering countries and therefore could bring the subject more vividly before their audiences.

Mrs. Rambo spoke at the Methodist Episcopal church in the morning and at the Christian church in the evening. There were no services at the Methodist church in the evening as the two congregations held a joint gathering. The Christian church was crowded so that not even standing room was left. Mr. Handsaker spoke at Trinity church Sunday evening. Collections were taken at the different meetings.
