At a quiet wedding at the Congregational parsonage Sunday at noon, Mrs. Lillian Hartshorn and Alexander Robertson of Condon were married by Rev. W. C. Kantner. The attendants were Mrs. John F. Lau and Jack Mulligan.

The bride wore an embroidered blue canton crepe frock and a corsage bouquet of lilies and roses. The couple left late in the afternoon for a wedding trip to Portland and will be at home next week in Condon, where Mr. Robertson is a prominent grain elevator man.

Dinner was served at the Spa following the wedding service. Pink carnations were used on the table and dainty place cards marked the places for the few guests. An informal reception was held later at the F. P. Talkington home. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Thissen of Turner.

Another Sunday wedding was that of Miss Gladys Page and Floyd E. White, which took place at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Page. Rev. R. L. Putnam officiated and only relatives and immediate friends were present. Miss Clara Page and Bert Eshelman were the only attendants.

The bride wore white net over white satin and carried brides' roses. The bridesmaid wore pink crepe. Brown canton crepe was the traveling costume of the bride. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Page following the service. She was assisted by Mrs. O. L. Brubaker and Mrs. A. L. Page.

The young couple will make their home in Corvallis, where Mr. White is a sophomore in Industrial Arts. Both are well known in Salem and attended the local high school. Mr. White is a son of Mrs. Stella White of Salem and served overseas with Company M. Mrs. White has recently been employed at the Union Abstract company.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester I. Pearmine returned last week from California where they have been for the last five weeks. Mrs. Pearmine was formerly Miss Nell Sykes and their wedding was an event of New Year's day. They will make their home in Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Egan returned Sunday from their wedding trip to Seattle and Vancouver, B. C. They are visiting for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deckebach in Salem and will be at home after February 20 at their home near Gervais.

Capt. and Mrs. Harry Braumbaugh are spending a few days in Portland.

The Progressive Dancing club will hold their regular dance to night in the Elite Hall. It is to be a masquerade affair. The Cherry City Dancing club will hold their regular party a week from tonight and it, too, will be in the nature of a masquerade party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Malthouse of Portland were visitors in Salem last night, coming down to hear Mary Jean Porter, harpist, play at the Oregon theater. Mrs. Malthouse is a musician in Portland.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

CLUBS AND WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

MISS HAZEL HARRIS of Salem has been chosen to represent the Oregon State Normal in the state oratorical contest to be held in Newberg. She won first place in both composition and delivery in the tryout.

"The individual, the Unit of Civilization," is the subject of her oration.

Other contestants were, Mrs. Ethel MacAdoo of Monmouth, John Dickson of Portland, and Dorothy Blake of Oregon City.

The final tryout was held before the student body at chapel hour last Friday. The plan of having but one judge was adopted. Dr. H. C. Dunsmore of Independence acted as judge on delivery.

Miss Harris is a member of the senior class and will be graduated at the close of the winter term in March. She is president of the Delphian literary society and was formerly a student at the University of Oregon.

Miss Harris is a daughter of D. A. Harris.

The W. C. T. U. is to hold its regular meeting this afternoon at the hall, at 2:30. A business meeting and the regular lesson for the day will be part of the program.

The Tri L club will be entertained this evening at the home of Miss Hester Hillpott, 1456 Chemeketa street.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

Adelo Garrison's New Phase of REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

THE WAY MADGE ENLISTED MARION'S HELP AND MET KATHERINE AND JACK.

Mother Graham, her daughter and her son-in-law went for a drive with Dicky in the early afternoon. A hastily whispered word in Harriet Braithwaite's ear outlined my plans for the afternoon and insured that all being on the veranda when Jack and Katherine should arrive.

After they had gone I flew around with Katie, putting glowing autumn flowers in all the rooms. My father suspected nothing, for he knows my weakness for flowers everywhere. Then I dressed Junior in his very best baby togger and left him in Katie's charge to the great delight of both of them.

Marion I took with me, partly because I knew of the child's great affection for Katherine, partly because of the devoted care the little nurse had given Marion's grandmother in her last illness, partly because of Katie's ultimatum, delivered shortly after the departure of the family for their drive.

"Wun ting sure, Meesis Graham," she said decisively, "nuttings doings of dot Marion and dot babeef left together by me. Me, I take vun or I take udder vun, no together. Dot babeef he joost have bees clothes all rump led oop if dot Marion she stayed by heem. I no mean dot Marion not good kid"—magnificently—"but she love dot babeef so mooch she no can keep her hands off heem."

Heroically I repressed a smile, for the weakness she criticized, Marion was one she displayed herself in season and out of season. But I knew her pride in Junior's appearance would prevent her hugging him unduly before the guests came, and silently agreed with her that Marion was better off with me.

The child was wild with delight when on the way to the station in the car I explained that the "Auntie Katherine" she adored was coming, and that the arrival of the visitors would be a surprise which she should have the honor of announcing. Marion had been undeniably lonesome since the departure of her mother for New York, and I felt an additional responsibility for her comfort because Lillian's errand was on my account exclusively.

Marion's Question.

"Oh—oh!" she carolled. "Just to think of seeing Auntie Katherine again! I think she's the sweetest woman in the world next to mother and you," she added loyally. "You know"—this

The Well Dressed Woman

By AGNES AYRES.
Star in Paramount Pictures.

Here is a French skating costume that you will want to go out directly and buy. To me it was irresistible. Always it seems a bit strange to me when I find French sports clothes that are altogether good. I do not expect it; what I really expect is that all of the good sports clothes shall have the ear marks of London on them. But there is no least detail here but is right.

It is made of kasha duvety in rust color, is furless, as most of the good sports things are, and is trimmed with small jet beads.

The jet beads elaborately ornament the side front opening and are used on the sleeves in the same design. But the really unique and interesting touch about the trimming is the huge cloth collar and cuffs. Both are corded with great round cords, over which the cloth is drawn loosely.

The collar is almost shoulder width, soft, high and rolling. The cuffs are made wind and weather tight by ending in a tight band at the wrist.

Straight, one piece, unfitted, the frock or coat, as you like, is drawn in about the waist with a few draped folds. The skirt is only knee length, allowing plenty of freedom without taking away from the feminine grace of the figure, as knickerbockers sometimes do.

The costume is Russian in inspiration, of course, as is the small agnella turban. Golf stockings and skating shoes complete the ensemble.

could easily do that—but at the remembrance that like all well-meaning planners, I had omitted the vital precaution of telling Marion the guests were not to know of other visitors.

If the child should betray the presence of the Braithwaites at our house I did not doubt that Jack would take the next train back to town.

Had That Tired, Worn-Out Feeling?

Do you know that "awful tired feeling," languidness, lame or weak back, sore muscles, stiff or swollen joints, or rheumatic pains usually indicate kidney trouble? Foley Kidney Pills act promptly and effectively. Mrs. Roberta Lilly, 709 Alton street, Alton, Ill., writes: "For three years I had a tired, worn-out feeling. Various treatments failed. I began to improve on the second dose of Foley Kidney Pills, and today I feel like new." Sold everywhere.—Adv.

WOODBURN NOTES

WOODBURN, Feb. 6.—Mrs. W. C. Miller returned Sunday from visiting relatives in Oakland and San Francisco for the past month. J. W. McCracken was called to Chicago on account of illness of a relative.

Mrs. T. H. Sanderson and Mrs. W. A. Chapman were joint hostesses at the home of the former on Young street. Seven tables of five hundred were played. Mrs. Keith Powell receiving the high score prize and Mrs. Mrs. A. J. Beck the consolation. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Courtney. Those attending were Mrs. H. L. Gill, Mrs. F. W. Settlemier, Mrs. T. C. Poorman, Mrs. H. M. Austin, Mrs. J. M. Poorman, Mrs. A. J. Beck, Mrs. Keith Powell, Mrs. Eugene Courtney, Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. L. M. Billings, Mrs. F. G. Haverman, Mrs. L. Lawrence, Mrs. C. F. Whitman, Mrs. George Beach, Mrs. O. K. Wolf, Mrs. L. A. Beckman, Mrs. T. G. Evenden, Mrs. Susan Livesley, Mrs. R. H. Scott, Mrs. J. F. Steelhammer, Mrs. Carl Graves, Mrs. S. A. Connor, Mrs. E. J. Allen, Mrs. H. P. Miller, Mrs. O. W. Love, Mrs. H. F. Butterfield, Mrs. Leland Austin, Mrs. A. Proctor, Mrs. R. L. Guiss and Mrs. W. P. Conaway of Portland, house guests of Mrs. Whitman.

The Woodburn Women's club

bered of old when he was annoyed. "I didn't understand that you had guests," he said.

For a moment I was panic-stricken, not at the thought of explaining Marion's presence—I

"I don't believe relatives-in-law generally think that, Marion," I said dryly. "At any rate I wouldn't worry about it one bit if I were you. Just go ahead and love Aunt Katherine best. She needs all our love."

I spoke the last words absently, forgetting for the moment the quick perceptions of the child. She bent toward me with a startled movement that drew a quick side glance from me. Her face was filled with apprehension.

"Is—is—Uncle Jack had to her, Auntie Madge?" she asked tremulously.

"Just Watch Me."

I pronounced a mental imprecation upon my stupidity. "No, no, dear," I said earnestly, and that Jack was not "bad" to Katherine in any sense that Marion could understand and saved my conscience with the thought. "But Auntie Katherine isn't well, and she has been worrying ever Uncle Jack's health for so long that I'm afraid she isn't quite happy. But you must never speak of it," I added lamely, "open to her. Just love her lot. That's what she likes best."

"Just watch me," the child returned earnestly, with one of the expressions she has picked up from Katie, and when we reached the station and greeted Jack and Katherine descending from the train she made good her boast by enveloping Katherine joyously in a "big bear hug," kissing her repeatedly and landing once and over, "Oh, my darling Auntie Katherine! I'm so glad you're here!"

Jack kissed my forehead perfunctorily and shook hands with Marion when the child had released Katherine in the same almost formal way. There was a look in his eyes which I rememmet at the house of Mrs. A. E. Austin Wednesday. After the regular business meeting Mrs. O. C. Weller gave a paper on the Norwegian composer, Grieg, with illustrative music. A group of songs were sung by Mrs. P. Love. Two piano solos by Grieg were played by Miss Margaret Hall. Mrs. Allen of the Near East Relief committee of Portland gave a talk. Mrs. W. J. Wilson became a member. Mrs. Austin, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. F. Wohlhuter and Mrs. F. W. Settlemier were joint hostesses and served refreshments.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Pugh entertained twelve of her women friends. Guessing photos was one of the polly parts of the party. In an observation contest, Mrs. R. H. Bronleeve received the prize. Dainty refreshments.

Friday evening the losers in the afternoon five hundred club entertained the winners and all the husbands at a 7 o'clock dinner at the home of Mrs. T. K. Sanderson. The 16 were seated at a long table and the losers, Mrs. Robert Scott, Mrs. S. A. Connor, Mrs. Fred Havemann and Mrs. Sanderson received many compliments for the delicious dinner. Cards were the diversion of the evening, Mrs. W. A. Chapman and Mrs. Frank Whitman receiving the prizes. The winners of the club are Mrs. O. K. Wolf, Mrs. F. W. Settlemier, Mrs. A. Chapman and Mrs. Frank Wheelman and Mrs. Walter Johnson was an additional guest.

Mr. and Mrs. LaFayette Lawrence entertained a few friends Friday evening in a delightful manner. Three tables of five hundred were played, the prizes going to Mrs. L. M. Bitney and J. M. Poorman. The guests were served in the dining room at tables. Those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Graves, Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Butterfield, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Poorman, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Bitney and Mrs. Susan Livesley.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Emmett gave the first of three parties Friday evening. Five tables of five hundred were played. Mrs. Blaine McCord and Robert Guiss receiving the prizes. Lunch was served. Those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Courtney, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine McCord, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guiss, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Evenden, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Shorey, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Steelhammer, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bronleeve, Mr. and Mrs. Beckman Monday evening. Mrs. Emmett has the second of her parties all women and Wednesday evening the third which is another five hundred party.

Tuesday night the past matrons club entertained their husbands at the Masonic temple with a 7 o'clock dinner.

Mother: "What are you doing, Jim?"
Jim: "Nothing, mother."
Mother: "My, but you are getting like your father."
