

POLK COUNTY COURT NEWS

Circuit Court
DALLAS, Or., Feb. 11.—John M. Campbell et al vs. James M. Shelton et al. Attorney L. D. Brown made affidavit in the case setting forth that he mailed to certain of the defendants on December 10, 1921, a copy of the summons and complaint. In another affidavit he set forth that certain of the defendants were non-residents of the state and could not be served within the state. The court entered an order directing that summons be served upon the defendants by publication.

Lurena F. Fowler vs. George C. Fowler. Plaintiff filed her complaint against the defendant, alleging non-support and cruel and inhuman treatment. The sheriff, after diligent search, returned the summons.
Charles L. Swenson vs. Enid J. Swenson. Attorney Glen O. Holman filed the complaint which alleges infidelity, and asks that the minor child be given to Elmer Gilliam. The sheriff returned the summons showing that he had on February 7, served the defendant with the summons and complaint.

Ethical and Unethical

"Being a continuation of my preceding message: 'Why Do I Advertise?', 'What I Advertise', 'Is My Policy Right?', 'Do You Know This Fact?' and 'Should A Person Be Penalized For Rendering A Public Service?'"

They say I am "unethical." Let's see what the dictionary says about ethics:

Ethics. The science or doctrine of the sources, principles, sanctions and ideals of human conduct and character; the science of the morally right.

That's a mouthful all right. But note the words "ideals of human conduct and character," and "the morally right." Do you think my conduct squares up with that definition when, as a result of my efforts, thousands of people are made happier and healthier—people who would not otherwise know the benefits and blessings of good teeth?

Every dentist knows that 77 per cent of the people have seldom or never sat in a dentist's chair, either because they don't know enough or are afraid.

If honest dental advertising backed up by honest dentistry is helping to correct this appalling state of affairs, isn't it more nearly "ethical"—according to the definition above—than the silent "dignity" and do-nothing attitude of the so-called "ethical" dentists?

I leave it to you.
I don't claim to be a philanthropist. But my educational advertising is benefiting thousands of people and so I am happy in the thought that I am able to render a public service while earning my livelihood. Yet, because I am trying to do single-handed what the profession as a whole should be doing, I am the inspiration for all sorts of obstructive laws and regulations fostered by dental associations and boards.

What do you think about it?

HISTORIC CIVIL WAR PHOTOGRAPH OF THE MARTYRED PRESIDENT

Abraham Lincoln, with Major Pinkerton, founder of the famous detective agency, visiting the headquarters of Gen. Robert McClellan during the last year of the civil war.

W. S. McClain vs. John Doe et al. Attorney E. K. Piasecki having heretofore filed his application for judgment foreclosing tax lien, the sheriff returned the summons showing that he was unable to find defendants within Polk county.

Buena Vista lodge No. 24, I. O. O. F., vs. John Doe et al. The sheriff returned the summons showing that the defendant cannot be found within Polk county.
Buena Vista lodge No. 24, I. O. O. F., vs. W. J. Van Schuyver. The sheriff returned the summons and shows that the defendant is not to be found within Polk county.

Samuel S. Houston vs. City of Monmouth. The city, by its attorney, B. F. Swope, moved the court that the $57 paid into the court as defendant's tender be returned to the city because the court had awarded the plaintiff a judgment in the amount of $100 and costs. The court, after duly considering the motion and the record, entered an order directing the court to return the $57 as prayed for in the motion.

Dallas City bank vs. M. C. Kellow et al. Some time ago plaintiff was awarded judgment against the defendant Kellow, and execution was issued and returned but left a deficiency. Upon application of plaintiff's attorney, a writ of execution was issued to the sheriff of Tillamook county and, acting upon the authority of the execution, the sheriff returned to this court his certificate of levy showing that he has levied upon 120 acres of land belonging to the defendant in Tillamook county.

Probate Court

In the estate of Barney Phillips. The administratrix, Sylvia E. Phillips, filed with the court the receipt of Austin Phillips for his final distributive share of the estate. The court finding that all matters having been attended to and that the estate no longer needs the care of the administrator, discharged the administrator and released her bondsmen of all further liability of the estate.

In the estate of Anna Helzey.

Application having been made to the court for a guardian of the person and estate of the above named incompetent, the court appointed E. C. Sims, guardian and directed that letters issue to him upon his filing to the court his bond in the sum of $2400.

In the guardianship of the estate of Echo Yeater et al. Grace Applequist, the mother of the minors petitioned the court that she be appointed guardian. The court entered an order appointing Grace Applequist as guardian and directing that the clerk issue letters of guardianship upon her filing a bond in the sum of $150. Grace Applequist filed with the court her bond in the sum of $150, which bond was duly approved by the court. The court appointed J. E. Vinegar, C. C. Yeater and W. R. Graham appraisers of the estate, whereupon the clerk issued to the appraisers a commission.

In the estate of Byrda Reese and Elda Reese, minors, the guardian of the above named minors, Morgan Reese, petitioned the court for an order to sell certain realty in Polk and Marion counties belonging to the minors, alleging that it would be for the best interests of all parties concerned that such property be sold. The court, after considering all matters and records at hand, entered an order directing that letters issue to the next of kin, citing them to appear before the court on or before March 11, 1922, to show cause why the order prayed for in the petition should not be granted.

In the guardianship of Gessie Alderman, incompetent. The guardians of Belle Sullivan. Retta Hammer filed with the court the inventory and appraisal of the above entitled matter showing that their ward was possessed of property of the value of $2408.41. The court, finding that such inventory and appraisal are in due and legal form, entered an order approving the same and charging the guardians with such an amount.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Wigwam, where all big events were held. On that visit, he delivered the Fourth of July oration in Portland.

General Tom Thumb and wife, Commodore Nutt and Minnie Warren, the most famous dwarfs ever known, were in Salem in 1869 and showed at the Wigwam. These Lilliputians had become famous under the management of the famous showman, P. T. Barnum.

Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago, accompanied by Walker Blaine, son of James G. Blaine, visited the city in 1883. Harrison was the Democratic mayor of Chicago who had been elected five times in succession. He advised the people of Oregon to vote the Democratic ticket. He was received by Governor Moody.

One of the greatest social events in Salem was the visit of General L. S. Grant and his party on their return from a trip around the world. The reception was given at the Chemeketa hotel, now known as the Marion. It was at this reception that A. N. Moores, P. H. D'Arcy and other old timers in the receiving line, just to shake hands with the famous general. G. N. Gray was mayor of Salem at that time.

President Rutherford B. Hayes, spoke twice in Salem at the time of his visit in 1880. The first time was in the capitol and the second from the steps on the east side of the capitol. He was accompanied by General W. T. Sherman. The legislature was in session at the time and the welcoming address was delivered by Solomon Hirsch, president of the senate.

President Benjamin Harrison, accompanied by John W. Wamaker, postmaster general, visited Salem in 1891. Harrison was a stickler for etiquette and would not alight from the train until Governor Penney arrived at the depot. Penney was half an hour late, and none of the Harrison party left the train until the governor officially received them. Penney blamed his tardy arrival on a cabman. There was a reception at the capitol. P. H. D'Arcy was mayor and officiated at the reception.

Theodore Roosevelt visited Salem for the first time in 1903, delivering his address from the west entrance of the capitol. Later he talked to children in Marion square. C. P. Bishop was mayor at the time. Four or five years ago Roosevelt passed through Salem and greeted the people for 15 minutes at the Southern Pacific depot.

William Jennings Bryan delivered an address at Marion Square in 1897. This was his second appearance, he having been here two years previously. Just a few years ago he was again in Salem, and then referred to that refreshing juice known as the loganberry and looked forward to the time when there would be no more breweries.

Senator Bob La Follette of Wisconsin, cousin of the Marion county senator of the same name, spoke at the opera house in 1912. Judge Taft, present chief justice of the United States supreme court, spoke in Salem for the first time in 1910. Since then he has made several visits, the last time when he appeared at the armory under the auspices of Ellison White.

Last but not least in the eyes of many Democrats, was the Ohio governor, James D. Cox, the Democratic nominee for president at the time Harding was so overwhelmingly elected.

banks where he asked for "a franc worth of German money."

The clerk was amazed at the youthful request and stuck his head out of the cage so that he might better see the boy whose head scarcely reached the window ledge. The child continued, as though seeking advice: "Perhaps it would be better if I bought Hungarian money. I read in the paper this morning that marks had gone up but Hungarian money hadn't, but Hungary has lots of corn and I think her money will go up soon. Don't you?"

The clerk told the child the bank did not transact business on such a limited scale, and advised him to invest his franc in candy.
