Talks on Athletics—Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, president of Willamette university, in his semi-annual report to the board of trustees recently, said: "The general criticism now current of intercollegiate athletics, does not apply to Willamette. Our poverty may have been our protection, although I think the university's sense of honor would have kept our athletics honest and clean; but we have been obliged to compete with a condition which has not made it easy to secure athletes who normally would have come to this school. The whole disgruntled matter which has secretly existed for years, is another appeal for religion in our educational institutions."

Will Speak to Kiwanians—James Palmer, assistant secretary of the Portland Y. M. C. A., will be the speaker for the Kiwanis luncheon to be held today at the Commercial club. Arthur H. Rahn will offer the attendance prize.

What's in a Name—When the famous William Shakespeare propounded his famous query "What's in a Name?" he was not aware of the fact that several hundreds of years later here would be established in Salem a grocery store called "The Clean Cupboard" in this particular instance there's a whole lot in a name, for the new store at 125 North High street is all that the name implies. It's clean, W. R. Ellis, the proprietor, has so arranged his store with this idea uppermost in his mind and the result is a brand new stock of high grade groceries, on shiny white shelves and in shiny white bins. No housewife's cupboard is more tidy than this spick and span little store and Salem housewives are going to find this an ideal place to do their morning shopping. Mr. Ellis has moved his family to Salem and expects to make this his permanent home.

Among the new students who have registered at Willamette university for the second semester are the following: Adella A. White of Portland, coming from the Lincoln high school of that city; Franklyn J. Somer of Portland, coming from the Jefferson high, and Kenneth M. Graham of Portland, who has attended the University of Oregon. Two Indians from Chemawa have also registered for this semester—Irving Shepard, who was born at Cordova, Alaska, and who attended the Salem high school, and Frank Paul Corbett, who was born at Kimiah, Idaho, and who attended the Kimiah high school. William Knight registered from Boise, Idaho, having had his preparation at the Coeur d'Alene high school. Anna K. Holm, born in Denmark, come from the Junction City high school. George F. Guldager registered from Albany college.

Charles Cobine to Have Trial Under Booze Law

DALLAS, Or., Feb. 12.—(Special to The Statesman.)—Charles Cobine, a resident of Bunea Vista, was arrested by Sheriff John W. Orr in Independence late Friday night on a charge of selling moonshine. Cobine is believed to be one of the rascals that has been operating about Independence for some time and both the Polk county authorities and city officials of Independence have entered upon a campaign to break up the ring. Cobine was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Baker of that city and his bail was fixed at $500. He will have a trial at Independence tomorrow.

Never Wants Anything Else—"I tried many different kinds of cough medicine," writes Mrs. E. K. Olson, 1917 Ohio Ave., Superior, Wis., "but I never want anything else but Foley's Honey and Tar. I used it for all my children and also for my grandchild. It has always done fine work." Foley's is a pure, wholesome and absolutely safe remedy for the relief of colds, croup and whooping cough. Children like it and it checks sneezing and sniffling. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Salem Girls to Appear in Posing Act at Bligh

In conjunction with the beautiful posing act of the Garrison Sisters, the Bligh theater is presenting a novelty in the form of a beauty contest, with local girls appearing in artistic poses. The fact that the entrants are Salem girls lends an unusual degree of interest to the affair.

There will be six contestants in the race, each one representing one of Salem's leading business firms and wearing gowns and different apparel from those they represent.

Babe Ruth, the miracle boy of the bat, will be seen in his big six part photodrama "Headin' Home."

The fair sex, too, will admire "Babe" Ruth as an actor for he is realistic and has the spirit of Douglas Fairbanks and is a second Charles Ray in the subject of love-making. As a boy who is forced to leave his mother, sister and sweetheart because of an innocent accident, but returns later to win the respect of all who had sneered at him, he reaches out and seems to come to life. He is capably assisted by Miss Ruth Taylor, a lovely and charmingly sweet star, who as "Babe's" sweetheart, captivated the audience.

Among the new students who have registered at Willamette university for the second semester are the following: Adella A. White of Portland, coming from the Lincoln high school of that city; Franklyn J. Somer of Portland, coming from the Jefferson high, and Kenneth M. UNCLE BEN SAYS

One minute essay on health by O. L. Scott, D. C.

Nervy, if a fellow's a game fish he's willing to struggle upstream. It's the sick man that drifts toward the rocks.

Five Words To The Wise

Five words to the wise are "try chiropractic spinal adjustments first." When chiropractic first became known it was only tried after everything else had failed. In twenty-five years it has built up a marvelous record of results with cases pronounced incurable.

No health method ever had a tougher assignment, and that chiropractic succeeded in the world to its sound scientific basis as a means of restoring the conditions of health. It is beyond the trial stage. It now becomes the science of health which should be tried first. To "try chiropractic spinal adjustments first" is to save time, money and health.
