4-POWER PACT AGAIN FOUGHT BY OPPOSITION

Sustained Assault Thrown Against Treaty by Senate Irreconcilables During Heated Argument.

JOHNSON AGAIN HAS BIG HAND IN FIGHT

Propaganda Accusations Are Made by Both Sides as Debate Proceeds

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Another sustained assault was thrown against the four-power Pacific treaty by senate irreconcilables today after the treaty's friends had argued among themselves for an hour as to whether the pact might properly be called an "alliance."

The fight against ratification was carried forward in turn by Senators France, Republican, Maryland; Johnson, Republican, California, and Watson, Democrat, Georgia, in a series of speeches which occupied the senate most of the afternoon and which drew no reply from the treaty's supporters. Senator Johnson compared the pact with the Anglo-Japanese alliance in an effort to show that both "contain a meaning broader than their words."

Propaganda Charged
In the course of the debate charges of "propaganda" both for and against the treaty, were made by the opposing sides, but no one produced any direct evidence to support the assertions or asked for any investigation of the influences declared to be at work to control the action of the senate.

The discussion over application of the term "alliance" took place largely between Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, and Senator Spencer, Republican, Missouri, both supporters of the treaty.

Spencer Assailed
A speech recently made by Senator Spencer declaring the pact to be "an alliance for conference" but not for use of force, was assailed by Senator Willis, who insisted that no sort of "alliance" was contemplated and that the speech of the Missouri senator had embarrassed the treaty's friends. Mr. Spencer stood by his definition and his characterization of the foreign relations committee "no alliance" reservation as a "ridiculous absurdity."

Dangerous, Says Johnson
Mr. Johnson asserted that so far as actual wording went, the Anglo-Japanese alliance covered only unprovoked aggression in eastern Asia and India and that if really was dangerous to the United States, as argued by supporters of the four power treaty, the reason lay between the lines. Judged by the same process, he asserted, the four power pact might easily lead to many dangers in actual practice.

Seattle Patrolman is Apparent Murder Victim

SEATTLE, Wash., March 17.—Police this afternoon discarded completely the suicide theory in connection with the death of Charles O. Legate, veteran Seattle patrolman, whose body was found in an automobile garage here early today with two bullet wounds in the head. Later a third bullet was found in the body.

POET'S DREAM ILLUSTRATED BY AN 11-YEAR-OLD ARTIST

THIS picture, exhibited by the Society of Independent Artists, is the work of Anna Belle Culverwell, an eleven-year-old artist, and is a piece of unexpected realism. It shows vividly the raven hair, arched eyebrows, eyes like stars, rosy cheeks, seashell ears, pearly teeth, cherry lips, swanlike neck and lily white hands that the poets rave about.

MISTLAND CLUB SUCCEEDS IN BRINGING GAME TO COUNTY

Some interesting, if not startling facts were brought out in the secretary's report at the annual meeting of the Mistland Field and Stream club, at the Commercial club rooms last night.

The club was formed a year ago, to promote the fish and game interests in this section of the state. The real reason is given in the figures for fish distribution. In this and in some other sections of the state. It was shown that in 1919 and 1920 Deschutes county paid fish and game licenses amounting to $2,799, and received 2,596,000 state trout fry. Klamath county in the same period paid $2443, and received 2,536,000 trout fry. Lane county paid $4386, and for the past five years has received an average of 700,000 trout fry a year.

Marion Unfortunate
Marion county paid $6746 for licenses, and received only 164,000 trout fry for all her trout streams, including all the splendid waters in the western part of the county, up in the foothills of the Cascades.

The Mistland club got busy immediately after its inception a year ago, and things have been different. Rainbow trout fry to the number of 427,000 have been secured and planted in Marion county within the year; 180,000 of them in Mill creek, between Aumsville and Salem. The others were put into the lakes and upper streams in the east end of the county. There should be fishing nearer home, in the very near future, from these activities.

Membership Large
The club has a membership of 167, at $1 each per year. It hopes to make this number 200, or 500, this year, to include all who are interested in fish and game. President Henry W. Meyers, commenting on the conditions as outlined in the report of Secretary Edward Rostein, remarked that the people of this section are paying entirely too much license money for what they are getting from the state. He said he considered it was time to demand more recognition for the excellent trout streams of Marion county.

A resolution was passed asking for the closing of the Little North Fork of the Santiam for three years, to allow that noted trout stream a chance to get back to

SERVICE BOYS WILL ENFORCE LIQUOR LAWS

Dr. Linville, Prohibition Director, Tells Policy to Be Followed in Naming His Deputies.

MARION COUNTY MAN SAID TO BE SLATED

No Additions to Force, However, Until Federal Money is Available

"Ex-service men will be given preference in replacing members of my force." This was the announcement made in this city yesterday by Dr. Joseph Linville, federal director of prohibition enforcement for Oregon. Dr. Linville spent several hours in Salem.

"Since my appointment to this office, I have made every effort to appoint deputies from the ranks of Oregon men who served during the World war," he said. "In this I have received the assistance of our congressional members and of Mr. Haines, chief of the federal enforcement organization."

Dr. Linville comments upon progress which his office is making in enforcement of the Volstead act. He had a word of praise for what he termed the excellent cooperation given his department by police departments and sheriff's offices throughout the state.

Dr. Linville denied reports that he will soon name a Marion county man as a deputy in his office. No deputies will be added to the present federal prohibition enforcement staff until funds for the purpose become available in June, he said.

"When these appointments are made, it is certain that at least one man will be named from Marion county," said Dr. Linville.

George Chamberlain Will Not Enter Governor Race

PORTLAND, Or., March 17.—George E. Chamberlain, former United States senator from Oregon and now a member of the federal shipping board, has definitely declined to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Oregon, according to telegrams received here today from Washington.

He said he had received numerous importunities from Oregon Democrats to make the race, but that he had decided not to do so, because he believed that he is at present more useful in the position he holds than he would be as governor of Oregon.

Three Nominated for Willamette May Queen

Nominations for May Queen were made yesterday by the Associated Student body of Willamette university.

Miss Eva Roberts, member of the Beta Chi sorority, Emma Shannafelt of the Delta Phi sorority and Loriel Blatchford were the three senior girls receiving the highest number of votes.

Election of a May Queen for junior week-end will be from these three names. The election to be held next Wednesday, the Australian ballot system being used. It is a tradition at Willamette that the candidates for this office must be members of the senior class.

18 MORE NAMES ARE SUGGESTED FOR BUSY TOWN

Eighteen more suggested names for the pretty little city across the river in Polk county when it becomes necessary under postal regulations for the name to be changed from West Salem to something else, were received by the Statesman yesterday. This makes 74 in all—they have come so fast it has been almost impossible for the editor in charge of this particular feature to keep accurate count.

This is a good list to select from, but any others who have names to suggest are urged to send them to the Statesman. There will be one more issue—Sunday morning—before the West Salem council meets, so there should be a big batch come in today. Let's make it 100 for Sunday morning.

However—Here is the list received yesterday and last night: "Friendship," suggested by H. Pohle of Salem.

"Ioka," submitted by E. R. Wilmer.

"Wingville," "Cresco" and "Appleton," all sent in by E. L. Briggs of Salem. Relative to "Appleton" Mr. Briggs explains that in Salem and surrounding country there are more people from Wisconsin than from any other state, so he would name the town after Appleton, Wis.

"Westside," or "West Side," is the name selected as appropriate by William Fleming, Salem realtor. "The business and residential relation," says Mr. Fleming, "make it practically a suburb of Salem; and it will always be just that, or possible become incorporated in the Greater Salem to come."

"Willaview" is favored by Mrs. R. O. Snelling of the Marion hotel. She also submits "Scenic," "Woodvale" and "Willametteon," but thinks "Willaview" is best.

"It strikes me as being appropriate on account of the wonderful view of Willamette," writes Mrs. Snelling.

"Leeds" is presented by Mrs. Anderson, 955 North Fifth street. She says it leads in fruit and most things in general.

"Riverview" is the choice of O. A. Wallace.

"Polka," says Everett Gwinn of Dallas, is the proper name. "Polka, Polk county, Oregon," just like that. "My reason for giving the town that name," says Mr. Gwinn, "is that it is named after the county in which it is located, and that it is a short name to spell."

"Oreamette," one who signs "Unknown" believes has it over any other name that has been suggested. "Pronounced Oreamet," says the letter. "It is taken from the words Oregon and Willamette and I believe it would apply very well to our sister city."

"Newton" and "Wayside" are sent in by Mrs. L. B. Allen of Wallace road.

"Lemore" comes from someone at the Seward hotel in Portland who doesn't sign a name. "Derived from Salem, Oregon," writes this unidentified person.

"Last three letters of former, first three of latter."

Here's the whole list up-to-date as revised:

Capitola, Kingwood, Polk City, Earlsdale, Churchmere, West Park, Wallace, Fletcher, Cleao, Riverside, Meias, Spaulding View, Riverside, Riverview, Willamette City, Cherry Center, Rose Center, Tulip, Lane City, Avonova, Rego, Chemeketa, Cherryvale, Fruitvale, Eola, Rivertown, Hucklestein, Gladiola, Mossbrae, Council, Lambwood, Lambrerest, Millwood, Robinson, Millford, Woodford, Huntman, Robincrest, Alcyona, Bush, Boise, Peace, Rhododendron, Skinnerville, West View, Flagville, Flagsdale, Flagville, Glen Park, Beach Cove, Polkalumette, Transrivero, Cavelle, Adamville, Friendship, Ioka, Wingville, Cresco, Appleton, Westside, West Side, Willaview, Scenic, Woodvale, Willametteon, Leeds, Riverview, Polka, Oreamette, Newton, Wayside, Lemore, Westlen and Choapside.

Patriotic Motive Back of Check for $6.06

TACOMA, Wash., March 17.—A resident here who must go down to Tacoma under the name of John Doe because of government regulations, sent Burns Poe, collector of internal revenue a check for $6.06.

GILLETT BACK WITHOUT LIGHT ON BONUS BILL

Speaker Says He is Open to Argument As to Whether Measure Should Be Called up Next Monday.

KITCHIN SURPRISES BY SUDDEN VISIT

Democratic Leader Urges Party Members to Submit Minority Report

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Developments today in the soldiers' bonus situation, included:

The return to Washington of Speaker Gillett, with the announcement that he was open to argument as permitting the soldiers' bonus bill to be called up in the house next Monday after a suspension of the rules.

An unexpected visit to the capitol by Representative Kitchin of North Carolina, the Democrat house leader, who urged his party members in the ways and means committee to submit a minority report opposing certain features of the bonus measure.

Mellon Attacked
An attack on Secretary Mellon, comptroller of the Currency Crisinger, Wall street, and others, delivered in the house by Representative Frear, Republican, Wisconsin.

An announcement by Representative Treadway of Massachusetts that he and Representative Tilson of Connecticut, both Republican members of the ways and means committee would submit joint minority views on the bonus bill.

A disclaimer by Secretary Mellon in a letter to Representative Frear, that he had attempted in any of his letters regarding the bonus legislation "to argue the matters of the soldiers' bonus."

No Message Brought
Returning this evening from a trip to Florida with President Harding, Speaker Gillett told newspapermen that he had brought no message on the bonus for house leaders from the president. He said he was still of the opinion expressed before he departed from Florida that the bonus measure should not be taken up under a suspension of the rules, but added that he would not make a final decision until after he had conferred with his friends.

Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee, and other Republican house leaders, expected to confer with the speaker at the capitol early tomorrow. If Mr. Gillett refuses to entertain a motion on Monday to suspend the rules—and there appeared to growing belief at the capitol today that he would—there was a possibility that the house Republicans would hold a party conference tomorrow night to discuss the procedure in handling the bill under a special rule.

Differ on Minority
The conference by Representative Kitchin with the Democratic members of the ways and means committee developed a difference of opinion among those members as to whether there should be a minority report. Representative Garner, Texas, declared after the conference that he would not sign such a report. Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, declared that a minority report would be filed and that it would be signed by some Democrats who voted for the bill.

As now contemplated by Mr. Kitchin and others favorable to the plan, the report would declare against the bank loan provision of the adjusted service certificate in favor of the original cash bonus provision. The vocational training and home and land aid titles did not meet with objection in the conference called by Mr. Kitchin.

Kitchin Not on Floor
The Democratic leader, who had been absent for nearly a year on account of ill health, did not appear.

WALTER JONES IS ACCUSED AT EUGENE OF COURT CONTEMPT

EUGENE, Or., March 17.—Walter B. Jones, local attorney and state senator from Lane county, was arrested today on a charge of contempt of court.

It is charged that he induced to leave the state, the principal witness in a case against a man charged with a statutory crime against a young girl.

MASKED MYSTERY AT POLICE STATION; SERGEANT SAW HER

Masked mystery stepped daintily into the Salem police station last night.

About 10 o'clock, Sergeant Ralph Davis while busy at his desk, looked up to find that a visitor had entered the station and was awaiting his attention.

The visitor, according to Sergeant Davis, was a well dressed woman whose features were hidden by a long, black mask. She was a young woman, the sergeant asserts.

"Please, can you tell me where—?" began the young woman. Then she interrupted her own question, and fled.

The masked caller was also seen by Patrolman George White, who was in the station at the time. Patrolman White hurried after the black domino, but the woman of mystery stepped into a waiting car and disappeared.

CANADIAN IS ARRESTED IN TAYLOR MURDER CASE

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—A former Canadian soldier, wanted in Los Angeles in connection with the murder of William Desmond Taylor, film director here February 1, voluntarily submitted to arrest in Mexicali, Lower California, and tonight is on the way back to this city in custody of two local detectives, according to a special dispatch from Calexico, Cal., to the Los Angeles Times.

The former soldier, whose name, according to the Times correspondent, was not made public by the officers, admitted that during the World war he was in the company with Taylor, as a captain in the British forces, commanded in France, it was said.

The Times correspondent stated the prisoner had been turned over to Police Sergeants King and Winn of Los Angeles after L. A. Cock, a rancher of Santa Ana had identified him as one of the two men he had given an automobile ride near Tustin, Cal., January 21 last. These men, according to Cock threatened, in his presence to "get" a former British army captain then residing in Southern California.

The arrest of the former soldier and his departure for Los Angeles in the custody of detectives were conducted with all possible secrecy, it was stated.

Reports which reached Los Angeles earlier were that two men had been arrested in Lower California in connection with the Taylor murder but information from Calexico did not confirm them.

OBENCHAIN JURY FAILS TO REPORT

Rumor Says Vote is Nine to Three, But Trend is Not Made Known

LOS ANGELES, March 17.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain charged with conspiring to murder her sweetheart, J. Belton Kennedy, was locked up for the night at 9:25 p. m. having failed to reach a verdict. The nine men and three women on the jury had been deliberating about six and one-half hours at that time.

Judge Sidney N. Reeve, on ordering the jurors locked up directed they return to the jury room not later than 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Court room rumors were to the effect that they were divided nine to three for at least a part of the time they were balloting, but there was no information which pointed to authenticity, which indicated how the majority balloted. Court attaches predicted the jury might stay out as long as the one which heard the case of Mrs. Obenchain's co-defendant, Arthur C. Burch. That jury was discharged after having been out 72 hours, standing 10 to 2 for conviction.

The only official word from the jury came late in the afternoon when it came into court and asked a portion of testimony to be read. Frank W. Crockett, a retired lawyer of Pasadena, spoke for the jury as its foreman.

Mrs. Obenchain, in court of occasion, said she was confident of a speedy acquittal. She passed the rest of the time during the jury deliberation in her cell and her attorneys said, was bearing up well under the strain of waiting. Her former husband, Ralph R. Obenchain of Chicago who is one of her counsel, remained in the court room.
