

FARMERS URGED TO BE ON HAND

Agricultural Bloc Will Be Discussed at Commercial Club Luncheon

Every farmer, every one interested in farming, everybody who wants to know how to get in touch with the farmers' money, or to get him money so that he can have it to spend in Oregon, is being invited to attend the Commercial club luncheon Monday noon, when E. E. Faville of Portland is to speak on "The Agricultural Bloc" of the United States congress.

Professor Faville, who is the editor of the Western Farmer, attended the recent national farmers' convention at Washington, called by President Harding, and brings home the whole story of what the so-called agricultural bloc aims to do and actually is doing.

The aims, the personnel, the methods, the achievements, of this unique non-political business organization that is trying to solve the farm and common people problems of the nation, will be given in detail. It is a big subject to handle in one short hour, on top of a good dinner, but if everybody is there on time, a very wonderful story can be told within the hour.

A Warning—to feel tired before exertion is not laziness—it's a sign that the system lacks vitality, and needs the tonic effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sufferers should not delay. Get rid of that tired feeling by beginning to take Hood's Sarsaparilla today.—Adv.

MOVE MADE TO DISBAR JONES

Accusation Filed With Supreme Court Against Lane County Senator

CROOKED WORK CLAIMED

Attorney Said to Have Misappropriated Money Belonging to Ward

State Senator Walter B. Jones of Eugene is the target of disbarment proceedings filed in the state supreme court yesterday by the grievance committee of the Oregon Bar association to prevent him from practicing as an attorney in this state. The reason assigned for the proceedings is given as "willful fraud and deceit and misconduct in his profession." Jones is cited to appear before the court April 17 to answer the association's charge.

Jones, who represents Lane county in the senate, has been a member of the legislature for the last six years and is a candidate for re-election in May.

Charge $9810 Shortage

In the complaint, filed by Elton Watkins of Portland, prosecutor of the grievance committee of the Oregon Bar association, it is specifically charged that Jones "appropriated to his own use and benefit approximately $9810.71 belonging to the estate of Hazel M. O'Dell, an aged resident of Multnomah county." It is stated that of this sum but $7,000 was covered by Jones' surety.

On February 10, 1919, Jones was appointed guardian of the property of Miss O'Dell by the probate court of Multnomah county. According to the complaint, it was agreed at that time that Jones would resign as guardian and make an accounting at any time requested. Early in August of that year, so the accusation states, Miss O'Dell asked him to resign. He refused to comply with her expressed wish and attorneys were appointed on her behalf to make the demand.

It is stated in the complaint that several requests were made for his resignation but he failed to heed them. Finally proceedings were begun and he was ousted the latter part of 1919. In January of 1920, it is stated, Jones filed an amended final report of the estate.

Sought to Cover Up

According to the complaint filed today, the last accounting made by him showed a pretended mortgage of $10,000, but it is said this bore the date of November 10, 1919, more than a month after his resignation was sought. The note taken out at that time was made payable to Jones and the mortgage was found to be a second one, so the complaint declares, and the first mortgage on the property in question was barely sufficient to cover the value of the property. The complaint further declares that "the purported note and mortgage was procured to conceal the misappropriation by him of the money belonging to the estate amounting to $9,810.71 and asks that he be disbarred from practicing as an attorney in this state."

The way the poultry industry is booming means a great deal to the Salem district.

Every candidate is going to do something for the taxpayer. Perhaps one of them may suggest painless extraction.

We are hearing a good deal about the self appointed and self announced candidates under our celebrated direct primary law.

A newly married Salem man declares that the only two who can live as cheaply as one are a flea and a dog.

If all the money taken out of Salem in the past thirty years and invested in outside schemes that did not pan out had been put into the flax industry here, Salem would now have 100,000 population, and it would be the Belfast of the United States. Fact.

Though a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump, few people judge the United States senate by Borah, Johnson, Reed, France and Watson.

Some one suggests that now that the armament race is stopped the only remaining obstacle to universal peace is the human race.

Flashlight Mystery is Still Silverton Puzzle

SILVERTON, Or., March 18.—(Special to The Statesman.)—The flashlight mystery still holds the attention of many of Silverton's residents. Especially is this true of the younger set. Every day it is said many inquiries are made of the inhabitants of Paradise road as to whether the flashlight is still seen or not.

The residents of this community report that it is impossible to say which is the original flashlight and which are merely transients, as every evening sees a number of young people in search of the ghost. The Science club of the Silverton high school seems to have taken special interest in the affair and is trying to solve the mystery. So far no solution has been reached.

County Beekeepers Form Society at Silverton

SILVERTON, Or., March 18.—(Special to The Statesman.)—H. S. Scullen of Oregon Agricultural college addressed a meeting of beekeepers at the Silverton Community club rooms Friday evening. Those present formed a temporary beekeepers' association of Marion county. This association elected Joe Winters of Hult as temporary chairman and William H. Bowers as secretary and treasurer.

The newly formed organization will hold another meeting in the near future for the purpose of adopting a constitution and bylaws. It is also the plan of the association to affiliate with the State Beekeepers' association.
