

FLARES AND FLICKERS

Mr. Meier, organist at The Oregon, will give a special Wurlitzer concert on Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week in addition to the regular show. His program will consist of: March, "Le Pro Phete"; adaptation, "Dear Old Pal of Mine," "Barcarolle," "Tales of Hoffman;" overture, "Morn'ng, Noon and Night."

We warn you in advance that Will Rogers in his latest picture, "Doubling For Romeo," will keep you constantly upon the verge of hysteria. A funnier performance has never been given upon the screen. Among the various roles Will assumes in this picture are these: a lazy Arizona cowpuncher dressed in a theatrical costume's conception of Western clothing, trying to land a job as cowboy in the movies; a "double" for a movie villain, getting a fearful drubbing from the red-blooded hero; a movie lover in a Kollege Kat suit paying desperate advances a henna haired vamp on a pile of cushions; and, finally, in a wild dream, a "Romeo" in doubt and hose, capering passionately before the stary-eyed Juliet. Does it sound different? It is, and you'll laugh till the tears come. At the Oregon Wednesday and Thursday.

Norma Talmadge's adaptability to portraying unusual girls on the screen is again evidenced in the remarkable character of "Ginger," an island girl, she has built up in her latest picture titled "Love's Redemption."

One of the most delightful photoplays to be shown here in many weeks is "Three Live Ghosts," a Paramount picture produced by George Fitzmaurice. The story deals with three lads who after being reported "missing," escape from a German prison camp and on reaching London prove themselves to be live ghosts indeed. The featured players are Anna Q. Nilsson and Norman Kerry, both well known to Paramount audiences. The picture is artistic and the supporting cast all that the most exacting taste could demand.

Miles and miles of growing tobacco leaves furnish an interesting sidelight on Jamaica industries for "Love's Redemption." Norma Talmadge's picture which was filmed in the eWst Indies.

Zoe Atkins, the interesting young woman who attained immediate fame following the first performance of her play, "Declasse," in which Ethel Barrymore is to be seen at the Grand theater for one performance, Wednesday evening, April 5th, is a Missourian, having been born in Humansville, a small town in that state, where her father, Thomas Jasper Atkins, was a leading banker and merchant. He later moved to St. Louis and was appointed Assistant United States Treasurer in that city. His daughter entered the newspaper world and for some time was on the staff of the late William Marion Reedy's St. Louis Mirror.

Announcement was made yesterday by A. E. Laflar that he has secured for presentation in Salem the long heralded and long awaited motion picture production "Foolish Wives," said to be the costliest cinematic entertainment ever conceived. "Foolish Wives" is the work of Erich von Stroheim, known as "the man you love to hate," through his artistic portrayal of various roles of villainy.

"Foolish Wives" required 29 months to film and cost over 2 million dollars. Its action is laid entirely in Monte Carlo, Europe's most famous playground, and many buildings such as the Casino, the public dove shoot at Monaco and the Cafe and Hotel de Paris have been reproduced to the minutest detail for the picture. The engagement at the Grand will be for five days, starting March 9.

With Mae Murray in the stellar role of "Peacock Alley," which comes to the Liberty theater next Sunday, motion picture fans will see this beautiful star of stage and screen in one of the most elaborate of productions.

"Peacock Alley" presented by Robert Z. Leonard, is by Edmund Goulding based on a story by Ouida Bergere. The story of a Parisian dancer who falls in love with a small town American youth and finds her husband's people scandalized when she goes back to his home, resulting in the couple seeking their fortunes in New York, is one which gives Miss Murray unusual opportunity to appear in many gorgeous and artistic costumes among elaborate settings.

STEEL MAN'S DAUGHTER BECOMES FILM ACTRESS.

Miss Kathleen Myers of Newark, N. J., has achieved some successes that indicate she may attain stardom on the silver screen. Her father is S. C. Myers, manager of the Chroma Steel Works, one of the largest steel works of its kind in America.

In addition to the remarkable stage settings that were worked out during the months of preparation for "Camille," a Nazimova production at the Liberty theater the gowns worn by Nazimova and the principal characters in the picture also were the subject of special attention by the youthful artist, Natacha Rambova. As a result of her work it is said that even the former records made by Nazimova for beautiful gowns is broken in this picture.

The supporting company to be seen in "Camille" is headed by Rudolph Valentino, who won fame in the Rex Ingram production for Metro of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "The Conquering Power."

One of the most attractive and at the same time important actors in "You Find It Everywhere," the feature attraction at the Bligh theater, commencing Tuesday for three days, starring Catherine Calvert and Herbert Rawlinson, is "Gunpowder," Herbert Rawlinson's English setter hunting dog. Most of the exteriors for the picture were taken in the Maine woods at the time when the hunting season had just opened. The result was that whereas "Gunpowder," under most conditions a dependable actor became quite the most temperamental member of the cast.

"A Guilty Conscience" might well be called a travelogue as well as one of the most interesting dramatic features to appear upon the screen this year. It will be shown at the Bligh theater today and in addition to having Antonio Moreno as star, it has a notable cast including such names as Harry L. Van Meter, Betty Francisco, John MacFarlane and Lila Leslie.

Several hundred Hindus were engaged and a representation of a street in Kaira made in the Vitagraph studio lot. There are also scenes of Simla and a street in Sialkot. These two are actual scenes of the cities in Oindia, and show the customs of the people.

The story itself is unusual in every respect, full of dramatic incident, suspense and love interest.

The Morales Brothers show remarkable ability on the trapeze and give demonstrations of their strength and poise seldom equalled on any stage, doing a spectacular act on the Roman rings, one of the best features of the kind. Their act is enjoyable and entertaining and will prove a popular offering wherever presented. At the Bligh theater today and tomorrow.

Muri and Newton, a happy-go-lucky pair, in their mirth provoking skit, "The Clerk and the Girl," showing the humorous side of everyday life at a country hotel, replete with songs, talk and dances. They are on the Hippodrome show at the Bligh theater today and tomorrow.

"No Defense" is the title of the Vitagraph production which will be shown at the Bligh theater next Sunday. In this film William Duncan and Edith Johnson are co-starred. The former has a western role, his favorite type of picture, while the latter appears as a society girl.

Many of the members of "The London Follies" company which comes to the Grand theater Tuesday of next week have appeared in the movies in England and are anxiously looking forward to their engagement in order that they may get a glimpse of how it is down over here. Harry Tate has received many offers to make comedies on the other side. But his many revue contracts have prevented it.

ments, while L. S. Shumaker of Linfield college and Dr. Kimball Young of the University of Oregon will have charge of the high school department and assembly work.

The Study-club met at the home of Mrs. D. B. Hill on Thursday afternoon. The subject for the meeting was Edgar A. Guest. Poet Mrs. Fry read a paper on his life, and read some of his poems. After the program refreshments were served.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Glorious sunshine. Even laggard spring is welcome.

There is light ahead in the matter of a paved street (or streets) all the way to the fair grounds.

The state highway commission has tackled the job of eliminating the unpaved stretches through Salem and Jefferson. Every one will wish them success.

The county paving forces are "rarin' to go." They will be busy with the coming of settled weather, and they will take up a good deal of the slack unemployment.

Coming out time for candidates is still on. Do you want to run for anything, from governor to city councilman?

The way to build up your city is to buy at home, and the way to build up your country is to do the same thing; to develop your home markets. That is what the protective tariff and American valuation will help to do. They have been a long time coming, but they are coming.

The expansion of the dehydration plant at Salem will be greater than the first announcements indicated. And the benefits to both city and country will be correspondingly greater. Salem is elected the dehydration capital of the world.

had to be constructed. When the equipment was unloaded from the S. S. Metagama at Montreal it was found that several of the pieces could not be got through an ordinary car door. Instead of cutting out the scenes, Mr. de Courville, with his usual prodigality ordered special doors cut in cars which he leased for the entire tour.
