CHEERFUL OUTLOOK FOR SALEM DISTRICT

C. I. Lewis, in his recent extended visit throughout the East, found many encouraging pieces of news to bring home to the fruit growers of the Salem district.

He found Oregon walnuts and filberts in high favor, with demands at high prices for more than can be supplied at the present time, or in the near future.

He found in the markets of the big cities that Oregon boxed apples and Oregon pears stand well.

That Oregon berries are favored all over the country—in fact, that there is scarcely any limit to what this land of diversity and country of opportunity may do in supplying to the consumers of constantly widening fields the fruits and nuts and vegetables in various marketable forms which we produce here either exclusively or to better advantage than other sections.

Mr. Lewis found, too, that, while a good deal of pioneering has already been done in the marketing of our products, there is a great deal yet to be done.

That there must be more advertising—And more attention to grading and packing and supplying the things we grow to the ultimate consumer in the attractive forms that will give them greater favor with the vast consuming public and in consequence yield better prices and profits to the growers here.

Mr. Lewis found that it will be necessary to widely advertise Oregon prunes, for instance, and to persistently tell in the printed page of the superior qualities of our product; and to carry this campaign to the retailers.

California growers have brought advertising to a high degree of success, and they have no intention of ceasing their campaigns of publicity.

The messages which Mr. Lewis is leaving with our growers before taking up his work in the East, with headquarters in Chicago, will no doubt be heeded and acted upon.

We must grow the best; we must pack the best; put our products in the best marketable shape.

And then we must persistently tell the world. Not once or twice, or spasmodically, but all the time, every year, and throughout the years. "Keeping everlastingly at it will bring success."

The outlook is not bright for the broccoli crop of the Salem district. There will not be a great deal of broccoli of first quality to ship. The season was against our growers.

While the Roseburg district will ship the largest crop ever grown there, on account of the increased acreage, the Willamette valley will have to mark off this year as largely one of failure for the broccoli crop. It is a pity; too bad that the first large planting could not have been as successful as the smaller plantings of the year before. But many growers will go ahead, convinced that, most seasons, this is a good broccoli country.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

More and more like spring. Coming out time for candidates is still on. Lillian Russell has prepared a lecture on "How to Live a Hundred Years!" But few women will ever acknowledge it.

Victor Berger is going to run for congress again on the Socialist ticket in Milwaukee. He has the habit. Who opened the sarcophagus? Oregon growers of prunes and other fruits have got to advertise

CHAPTER 336 HOW HARRY AND LILLIAN UNDERWOOD MET AGAIN

Harry Underwood reached Lillian's side just in time. The moment's respite given her by Alice Holcombe and me had enabled her to dodge to the other side of Jake Wiley, but he had whirled and in another second the load-billy would have descended upon her head with all the force of a desperate murderer's arm behind it. It never did descend, however, for the arm was caught in Harry Underwood's powerful grip, the billy twisted out of his hand, and the man himself flung to his knees.

It is reported that Mary Garden has been suffering this week from fainting spells. Coming so close after the report that the mayor of Portland, Ore. had kissed her, folks will wonder. — Los Angeles Times.

PASSION WEEK SCHEDULE OUT

Daily Divine Service to Be Held at Oregon Theatre at Hour of Noon

Every day, next week, "Passion week," from 12:15 until 1 o'clock divine services are to be held in the Oregon theater commemorating the week before Easter, with its resurrection and hope for a redeemed world. The services each day are to be preceded by a 15-minute organ concert, to which everybody is invited.

The services themselves are held under the auspices of the Salem Ministerial union, backed by a group of laymen of the city. Some business man, a sincere worker for church progress, is to serve as chairman for each service. The meetings are to be addressed by the city pastors, as follows:

Monday, April 10: Rev. W. T. Milliken, First Baptist church, "The Work of the Redeemer."

Tuesday, April 11: Rev. H. F. Pemberton, Leslie Methodist church, "Kinship With the Redeemer."

Wednesday, April 12: Rev. Clayton Judy, Central Congregational church, "Following the Redeemer."

Thursday, April 13: Rev. Chas. Ernest Powell, "The Worth of the Redeemer."

Friday, April 14: Rev. Ward Willis Long, First Presbyterian church, "The Victory of the Redeemer."

Special music is to be provided for each service, in addition to the opening organ concert. The series is offered especially to meet the time requirements of business men, who might take this little time to attend a specially arranged service where they can reach it so readily. The invitation is general, however, to all who will attend from anywhere.

The Kidneys and the Skin. If the kidneys are weak or torpid, the skin will be pimply or blotchy. Do it for duller perceptions and stimulates the kidneys, and clears the complexion. By thoroughly purifying the blood it makes good health.—Adv.

SOCIETY

By MARGUERITE GLESON

Miss Helen Moore, a Salem girl who is attending Oregon Agricultural college, is temporarily acting as secretary to the dean of commerce because of the vacancy caused by the death of Miss Mabel Robinson. Miss Moore is also carrying on her class work and will be graduated from the college in June.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Anderson just returned from a trip to California and Mexico.

Mrs. R. B. Goodin returned on Tuesday evening from San Francisco where she visited with her sister, Mrs. Kennell and other relatives. She has been gone three weeks.

Miss Gertrude Morton, school librarian, and Miss Ella Deyoe, part-time assistant librarian at the Salem public library, are both ill. Serious concern is felt for Miss Morton, who is suffering from her third attack of influenza. Miss Deyoe is also a part-time teacher at the Grant school.

Miss Carol Dibble has returned from Palo Alto, Cal., where she has been taking dramatic interpretation at Leland Stanford university.

The mothers from McKinley and Lincoln schools are being especially invited to attend the meeting of the Highland Mothers' club this afternoon.

Officers will be chosen for the coming year at the meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary society Friday. It will be an all-day session.

The W. R. C. Aid society will hold an all-day quilting party in the armory this afternoon.

A group of young people gathered at the home of Miss Lucile Thompson Tuesday evening to meet her cousin, Miss Florence Sutherland, who is visiting from Portland. Several of Salem's accomplished musicians were present and the music was enjoyed by all. Games were played and refreshments served at a late hour.

Those present were Rita Reid, Lillian Jaquet, Margret Alden, Edna Vost, Rose Lindler, Florence Sutherland, Lucile Thompson, Claude Burch, Carl Jaquet, Gordon Ramstead, Francis Young, Floyd Horton, Roland De Sart, Carl Snider, Delmar Bond, and Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Thompson.

CLUB CALENDAR

Today: Highland Mothers' club at school house, 3:30. P.E.O. with Mrs. William Hughes, Hansen avenue. Friday: Baptist Women's Missionary society, all day session. Jason Lee Aid society business meeting at church. Missionary department of Women's Union First Congregational church, at church parlors. Saturday: Salem Women's club.

SILVERTON NEWS

SILVERTON, Or., April 5.—(Special to The Statesman.)—Rev. George Henriksen was called to Portland Tuesday evening because of the serious illness of Chester Gopferud. Rev. Mr. Henriksen returned to Silvertown this morning and reported that Mr. Gopferud was slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Neils Hjorth and children arrived at Silvertown from Los Angeles Tuesday evening. They are visiting at the M. J. Misen home on Paradise road.

Mrs. O. Hattberg and Mrs. M. T. Madsen entertained the Trinity Ladies' Aid society Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Marion Chase entertained at a card party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott.

Helped Her Mother Wonderfully In these days of "flu," coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, it is well to know that every year there are used more bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar than of any other cough medicine. Mrs. S. L. Hunt, 515 W. 6th St., Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar relieved me of a hacking cough, tickling in the throat, wheezing and pains in the chest. It is helping my mother wonderfully." That's why druggists recommend Foley's. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

CAVALIERI SAYS IT IS MARVELOUS

The Famous Song Bird Saw "Foolish Wives" While in Portland

When Lina Cavalieri, famous song bird of the Chicago Grand Opera company, witnessed "Foolish Wives" in Portland recently, she expressed herself as being delighted with the picture. Through an interpreter she vouched the information that she thought the photography and lighting nothing short of marvelous and that technically the picture was perfect. "Foolish Wives" comes to the Grand Sunday for a five-day engagement. This film masterpiece is the first million dollar picture ever produced.

PRAIRIE POEMS

These are poems written by White Eagle, famous Indian rider of the Sioux and Creek tribes, who writes for the Boys and Girls Newspaper. Summer Near Um pretty flower coming up. Um white man calls him buttercup Um um shines warmer every day. Big warm blanket him laid away. Pony him shed him winter coat. Heap glad trills in um song bird's throat!

The Papoose Um papoose in big happy way He laugh an' run an' play all day. Out on um prairie rannin' round, Rollin' um papoose on up ground; An' now on out where grass grow thick He chase um howling with um stick! Him black eyes bright with keen desire, For pot of meat is on um fire.

AIN'T IT FUNNY? "Ain't it funny," inquired the talkative cousin, "ain't it funny how kids change?" "I don't see it is or not. Everythin' I see, it don't change. Why should it change?"

ONE REEL YARNS

He Got It A business man advertised for an office boy. The next morning there were some 50 boys in line.

DIGGING OUT SHEEP

When boys in more temperate climates are playing marbles and hunting for their old baseball bats the boys in the Scotch Highlands may still be helping dig out the buried sheep. In the north of Scotland it snows a great deal, there being nearly as many snowy days as in Iceland. After a night's fall of snow many sheep are buried in the drifts and have to be dug out. Here is where the sheep dogs are useful. Some of them become famous over a whole district for their skill in finding sheep. The dog goes over the drifts with his nose close to the ground, and listening all the while very carefully. When he sees a buried sheep, he decides on the exact spot beneath which it is located, and then he begins to scratch with all his might. The men who accompany him turn in and help dig out the buried animal. The shepherds also carry long poles, and, walking in a line, they push their long poles through the snow to hunt for missing sheep. An experienced shepherd can always tell by the touch of the pole the difference between the woolly coat of a sheep and the heather or moss. The hunting with the pole is a very slow way, however, and is only used when sheep are lost and the dogs are all busy and unable to handle the job themselves. Hunting for sheep is always an exciting business in the Highlands, and every one joins in. The man who owns a good sheep-dog is always willing to lend it to his neighbor who has lost some sheep in the great drifts.
