

CUTHBERT TALKS OF TOURIST TRADE

Secretary of Pacific Northwest Association Guest of Kiwanians

Herbert Cuthbert, secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist association, with headquarters at Seattle, was the speaker for the Kiwanis club at the Tuesday luncheon.

the season of 1922. Who are the tourists? They are almost always the men with money, the men with vision, the men with courage to tackle a good investment wherever they find it.

"And then they are looking for investments. We have more good things waiting development than any other section of America; they have advertised it so persistently that it brings them $50,000,000 a year—and they still have the climate. Colorado has sold Pike's peak for $40,000,000 a year—and still has the peak to sell over to another crop of visitors. Oregon is selling Crater lake and the Columbia highway, and we are selling Rainier park—and they will last forever. We ought to sell them to more people; that's our business.

The speaker was the recipient of the attendance prize, a pair of gloves. P. M. Blenkins, of Willamette university, sang two numbers for the musical part of the program. "Babyton" was a tremendous thing, that was applauded to the echo. He responded with "I Am the Captain of My Soul," a strangely fitting piece for a soldier with a story like his. Byron Arnold played his accompaniment.

TARIFF IS GIVEN TO SENATE MEMBERS

tariff provisions were regarded by the committee as "undoubtedly constitutional," the report declared that they would "contribute to tariff stability by preventing the accumulation of cases which ultimately would force the upheaval of a general tariff revision."

Outlining the purpose of the bill, the report said that the committee had endeavored to recommend rates that would afford protection to American industries and permit them to pay wages sufficient to "maintain essential industries created as a result of the war and considered vital to the future industrial independence of the American people."

American Market Protected "The rates imposed by this bill are sufficient to protect the American market and preserve domestic competition and at the same time will permit fair competition from other countries," the report continued. Taking up what was described as the "need of tariff revision," the committee majority said, in the limited time before the war that the "low rates" of the Underwood law were in effect, those rates had caused a retrenchment in production of American products and had decreased the purchasing power of the American workman because of reduction in wages.

Trade Now Demoralized Discussing present day conditions, the board said the quotations made by foreign producers for foreign sale of late have been so extremely low that they threaten the destruction of American industries and have consequently demoralized American trade. It adds that "this condition exists at the present time and it is believed will continue to exist until rates are established that will afford fair protection to American industries."

Before its presentation in the senate, the bill was formerly approved at the first meeting of the entire committee since the work of drafting the measure was started three months ago. Democratic members of the committee present, voted against it and were given 10 days in which to prepare their minority report and also for the fight which they plan to launch against it immediately after it is called up.

Secrecy is Charge The charge of secrecy in the preparation of the bill was raised promptly in the senate from the Democratic side. Senator Harrison of Mississippi, called attention that the bill was introduced today during an executive session of the senate and added:

"It was perfectly natural that it should be done in secrecy. Everything else about it has been done in secrecy." Opposition will not be confined to the Democratic side. Senator Smoot of Utah, ranking Republican on the finance committee, plans to take the floor in his fight for duties on sugar higher than the 2 cents a pound full duty and 1.60 cents a pound on Cuban raw, which now are in force in the em-agency tariff and which the committee has recommended.

Wheat Duty 30 Cents One of the principal schedules in the new bill is that dealing with the agricultural products. It lists most items of foodstuffs, many of which were on the free list in the Underwood bill and includes a duty of 30 cents a bushel on wheat as under the emergency law, but 5 cents higher than proposed in the Fordney bill. The compensatory duty on flour was placed at 78 cents per 100 pounds, as compared to 50 cents in the Fordney bill and 25 per cent ad valorem in the Payne-Aldrich measure.

In framing this schedule, the committee majority gave the Republican agricultural bloc about the rates asked for but committee experts said that with few exceptions the duties would not exceed 25 per cent ad valorem. Explaining the schedule in the report the majority said it had adopted the policy of giving to agriculture the measure of protection that has been accorded to other industries, with due consideration to the needs of all sections and of all industries.

Toy Trade Protected Besides the provisions to take care of the dye and glass industries developed during the war the committee majority sought to give protection to other war time industries. It provides for a duty of 70 per cent ad valorem—double the Payne-Aldrich and Underwood rates—on dolls and toys to protect the industry primarily from German competition.

With a view to developing the potash industry in California, Utah and other western states by protecting it from the German industry, the committee recommended that for a period of five years, duties be placed on the actual potash in potassium chloride and all crude potash salts, etc., as follows:

For the first two years 2 1-2 cents a pound; for the third year, 2 cents; for the fourth year, 1 1-2 cents and for the fifth year 1 cent. Explaining the proposed duty of 5 1-6 cents a pound on crude magnesite which is on the free list in the Payne-Aldrich and Underwood acts, the committee majority said the purpose was to enable producers of this material in Washington state to lay down their product at the steel mill centers of the country on an equality with the imported magnesite.

President's Power Curbed Many changes in the administrative features of the house bill were made by the senate committee majority, the most important being the elimination of provisions giving the president authority to enter into reciprocity treaties with foreign countries and reduce or remove entirely the duties on goods from such countries and also to give his authority to impose penalties in the form of additional duties against goods of countries which imposed duties on American products regarded by him as unreasonable.

The committee retained the house retaliatory provision with regard to the restrictions or prohibition by any country of the exportation to the United States, of printing paper, wood pulp or wood for use in the manufacture of wood pulp.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS TROPICAL SESSION

"There is much propaganda directed against the supervisor and pressure is being brought to bear in an effort to bring about his removal," asserted Mr. Hug.

"When I assumed office here, members of the school board, several of whom are present, voted in favor of my plan of placing a supervisor in charge of the six elementary grades.

Hug Defends Hoppes "I secured the services of Mr. Hoppes, whose teaching methods have been approved by the highest educational authorities in the state.

"When the office of supervisor is being hit at, you are hitting at me, and I stand firm behind my recommendations," declared Superintendent Hug.

"It is a question in my mind if he was the right man for the job," said Dr. Olinger. "Do not misunderstand me, Mr. Hug, I am not aiming at you, but this situation must be settled out."

"There has been much discontent as to Hoppes' methods," observed George Halvorsen, chairman of the board.

Halvorsen Denies It Chairman Halvorsen, attempted to interject a smiling objection to this statement but Hug continued: "This teacher is the most disloyal person in the school system of Salem, even if she does run up you with this propaganda."

"She has never come to me" denied Chairman Halvorsen. "In fact I have heard tonight more concerning this supervisor trouble than at any other time."

Two Schools Affected Superintendent Hug did not make any additional charges. Director Simeral stated that the dissension existed in only two schools and expressed himself as heartily in accord with Hoppes' methods.

Members then dismissed the supervisor matter by agreeing to consider this and other problems at the next session of the board.

Next Time, Says Olinger. "Oh, well, let you know at the next meeting," chuckled Olinger. "That has been your attitude toward me," said Superintendent Hug.

"Well, the executive head of any organization should be informed before other plans are made," said Hug.

Efforts to add $200 to the salary of Principal J. C. Nelson of the high school were defeated. A similar fate was meted out to a proposal to add $100 to the pay of Principal H. F. Durham of Washington Junior high school.

Other Cities Cited. Members of the board cited salaries being paid to principals who have charge of schools in other cities in the Pacific northwest.

Boise, Idaho, $4500; Eugene, $2500, first year contract; Pendleton, $3100; Spokane, $3800. Schools at Butte, Montana, are slated to close April 14 because of a shortage of funds, members of the board were reminded.

Women Debaters Will Meet

Miss Lorlei Blatchford and Miss Louise Joughin will represent Willamette university at the College of Puget Sound and Miss Violet Coe and Miss Elaine Oberg will debate for Willamette in Salem in a dual meet which will be held Friday, April 14.

Resolved that the western nations and Japan are justified in refusing to relinquish their territorial rights which they hold in China by treaty," will be debated for the second time by the Willamette team.

Miss Lorlei Blatchford is a seasoned debater for Willamette, having won her Bar-W and two certificates in collegiate work. This makes the second intercollegiate event that Louise Joughin has participated in. Nevertheless she shows good work and much is expected from her debate work.

This is the first intercollegiate debate for Violet Coe and Elaine Oberg. Both have had considerable high school experience and have shown up to good advantage in the interclass tryouts.

The College of Puget Sound will send two women to meet the Willamette team in debate Friday, April 14, 8 p. m., at Waller hall.

LEE WOULD CURE STATE'S MALADY

Candidate for Governor is Disbeliever in Government by Politics

"A malady malignant, merciless, preys upon our civil life," avers J. D. Lee of Portland in the platform which he filed yesterday with the secretary of state in formally declaring himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. As a slogan Mr. Lee says: "Lessen the home-destroying tax burden; a greater Oregon; official integrity."

Practice unflinching economy in all departments of all institutions with best business judgment; faithfully enforce law; insist by use of rightful prerogatives that the legislature reduce expenses and official salaries; include the reform of commissions, or supplant them by better systems; aid efficiently the producer; foster industries, commerce, education, the well-being of the commonwealth, including the humblest citizen, and circumvent oriental intrusion. A malady, malignant, merciless, preys upon our civil life. It is government by politics. Will cooperate with the people for alleviation, unhorse the spoliator. Require all to bear proportionally governmental burdens; fairness to auto owners."

Others who filed yesterday were: Park B. Beatty, Brownville for Republican nomination for representative in the legislature from the second representative district, Linn county.

Ben F. Keeney, Eugene, for Republican nomination for representative in the legislature from the third representative district, Lane county.

Bess A. Clough, Canyonville, for Republican nomination for representative in the legislature from the fourth representative district, Douglas county.

Ralph P. Cowgill, Central Point, for Republican nomination for representative in the legislature from the eighth representative district, Jackson county.

Isom C. Bridges, Oregon City, for Republican nomination for representative in the legislature from the 16th representative district, Clackamas county.

W. H. Strayer, Baker, for Democratic nomination for state senator from the 23rd senatorial district, Baker county.

Willard T. Evenson, Clatskanie, for Republican nomination for representative for the 20th representative district, Columbia county.

Richard E. Bradbury, Klamath Falls, for Democratic nomination for representative for the 21st representative district, comprising Klamath, Deschutes, Crook, Jefferson and Lake counties.

Mrs. W. S. Kinney, Astoria, for Republican nomination for state senator for the 15th senatorial district, comprising Clackamas, Columbia and Multnomah counties.

T. T. Bennett, Marshfield, for Republican nomination for representative from the fifth district, Coos county.

Thomas H. Hurlbut, Portland, for Republican nomination for representative in the legislature from the 18th district, Multnomah county.

Harvey Wells, Portland, for Republican nomination for representative from the 18th district, Multnomah county.

Boon Cason, Portland for Republican nomination for circuit judge, department No. 7, fourth judicial district, Multnomah county.

Building of Sewer is Not Expensive to City

"The city of Salem dug 150 feet of 6-foot sewer ditch, and laid the 150 feet of 8-inch sewer pipe for only 77 cents."

That was the story told at the council meeting Monday night. If they'd had a dollar, or say a two-dollar shipplaster, they could have rooted up the whole country at the same rate.

Another sewer that the city is building in blocks 35 and 41, between River and Jefferson streets in North Salem, cost the 6 per cent on the wages for the whole job, estimated at a total cost of $550 and built for $406.61. There is much call for additionof sewerage in the city, according to the official records. A job on State street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-fourth, is to cost $3,267. It is now being constructed. Another on Farish street is estimated at $4,800, and is to be started as soon as the State street job is finished.

Oregon Journal Editor Will Address Students

During chapel period today the student body and faculty of Willamette university will be addressed by B. F. Irvine, editor of the Oregon Journal. He is a graduate of Willamette. Mr. Irvine made a record during the World war by his many speeches and by his work in the different liberty loan and Red Cross drives.

Another Big Day's Work Done by Bonus Board

At the state bonus commission executive session Tuesday, the board passed on 320 cash applications, bringing the last serial number up to 7720. The claims total about $80,000. Loans amounting to about $110,000, on 62 claims, were approved, and the money on all the claims will be available at once. The board is meeting twice a week, to keep clear up to capacity of the clerical force to place the completed records before them.

LAUNDRY IS AGAIN UPHELD BY COURT

State Fails to Get Rehearing in Recent Syndicalism Reversal

The supreme court yesterday denied a petition by the state for a rehearing in case of the state vs. Joseph Laundry, which was reversed in Laundry's favor several weeks ago. Laundry is said to be a member of the I.W.W. and was tried and convicted in Multnomah county under the criminal syndicalism act.

By coincidence, Laundry was brought to the state penitentiary the day the supreme court reversed the case and had reached the doors of the prison when he was informed that he would not be detained and could return to Portland.

In refusing to grant a rehearing of the case, in an opinion by Justice Harris, points out that the case was reversed on grounds that Laundry was tried for two separate crimes upon an indictment charging only one crime. All members to the court who concurred in the opinion are still of the same mind, and Justice who dissented still adheres to his dissent.

HOPE YOU'LL SEE HAMPTON STAR DUST

The Great Observation Puzzle GRAND PRIZE $500.00 CASH

And a whole series of other cash prizes. You do not have to be a subscriber to win a prize. This puzzle is open to every man, woman, boy or girl—it costs nothing to try.

Young and old may join in the fun—all can participate—from the tiniest child to grandfather and great grandmother. No object is so small but that the poorest eyesight can see it. It is a test of skill. Your ability to find "R" words determines the prize you win. The most entertaining puzzle ever devised. No complicated rules.

This great contest is being conducted by The Statesman Publishing Co., Salem, Oregon, one of the largest and best known publishing houses in Oregon. This is your guarantee that the prizes will be awarded with absolute fairness and squareness to you and every other contestant. Frankly it is intended to introduce THE PACIFIC HOMESTEAD, Oregon's greatest farm magazine, THE NORTHWEST POULTRY JOURNAL, the leading poultry journal of the Pacific Northwest, and THE OREGON STATESMAN, Salem's foremost daily newspaper. You may enter and win the best prizes whether you are a subscriber to any of these publications or not—and, moreover, you will neither be asked or expected to take these magazines or spend a single penny of your own money to compete.

Here is the idea: The Pacific Homestead is the oldest and best farm magazine published in the Pacific Northwest, issued weekly, and has a very large number of readers. The Northwest Poultry Journal is also very widely read and has the largest circulation of any magazine in its class published west of Chicago. The Oregon Statesman is Salem's leading newspaper, but our motto is "At least one of our magazines in every home." We want more people to become acquainted with these famous publications. Therefore, when we acknowledge your entry in the contest we will register you in class A. Remember that absolutely no subscriptions are required to qualify your entry in class A and that your entry will be placed before the committee of final judges when they come to award the prizes in class A. However, if you are ambitious and thrifty and would like to have an opportunity to win a larger prize as in classes B, C, or D, and inasmuch as we want more readers to become acquainted with our splendid publications; therefore, when we acknowledge your entry in the contest and you know your standing for the prizes, we shall send you without cost a copy of our very latest issues. Then in order to qualify your entry in class B, Class C, or Class D, you will be asked to assist us in carrying on this big introduction plan by showing your copies to just one friend or neighbor to qualify in class B, two friends or neighbors to qualify in class C, and only three friends or neighbors to qualify in class D. Just friends or neighbors who will appreciate these really worth while publications and want them to come to them regularly. Your friends can have any one or an assortment of all our publications if they wish. You can easily fulfill this simple condition in a few minutes of your spare time and we will even send copies to each of your friends if you wish.

HOW TO SEND YOUR SOLUTIONS

Use only one side of the paper that contains the names of the visible objects beginning with the letter "R" and put your name and address (stating Mr., Mrs. or Miss) in the upper right-hand corner. If you wish to write anything but your answers, use a separate sheet of paper.

Three independent judges having no connection whatever with this firm will award the prizes and the answers naming the largest number of visible objects in the above picture having names which begin with "R" will be awarded the first prize in class in which the answer is registered. The answer having the second best list of names will be awarded second prize in the class in which it is registered and so on till the fifteen prizes have been awarded. Contestants must agree to abide by the decision of the judges.

This splendid offer will be good only for a limited time, so send in your solution right away now to PICTURE PUZZLE EDITOR, THE STATESMAN PUBLISHING CO., SALEM, OREGON.
