

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Arm Is Healing—
Earnest Schindler is recovering from recent self-inflicted injuries. Last year, while he was delivering milk, he slipped and fell at the street curb, and the heavy wagon ran over him, breaking his arm. It failed to set and heal properly, and finally it was found desirable to have it re-repaired by bone grafting. The new injury is healing up satisfactorily, and the arm is believed to be on the road to complete recovery.

Creswell Pastor to Talk—

Rev. George Cromley, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Creswell, will speak at the West Salem Methodist church tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Sunrise Prayer Meeting—

The east steps of the state capitol will be the scene of an Easter sunrise prayer meeting to be held next Sunday, April 15, by the Epworth league of the First Methodist church. Sheldon Sackett, Willamette university senior, will be the leader and director. This meeting of early prayer and consecration has proved of much help and inspiration to students of the university that it has become an annual custom. The men's quartet, will provide a musical number, and a number of songs are to be sung. All Willamette students are expected to be present.

Sen Is Born—

A son was born April 8 to Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Johnston of 429 1/2 Court street. The youngster weighed eight pounds at birth.

Y Has Meeting—
The Y. M. C. A. of Willamette university was presided over last night by Ramon Dimick, member of the senior class. Much interest is manifested in these meetings and the leaders are selected with a view of having interesting, instructive and wide-awake meetings.

Will Visit Old Mission—

Oregon history classes at Willamette university will take a field trip to the old mission site this afternoon, if the weather is not too wet. Much interest has been shown by the students in this trip and Professor Gathe expects to use a large bus and several autos to transport the students to the site. The Willamette mission is about 10 miles down the river from Salem. Arrangements have been made so that the price of the round trip and the "eats" will not exceed 75 cents per person.

Van Trump Reports—

S. H. Van Trump, county horticulturist, reports finding a few apricots, almonds and Japanese plums in bloom, mostly out in the hills where they are rather better protected and where they get the early sunshine of spring. The general run of fruit blooms, however, he does not expect to see before the last of the month, a number of days later than the blooming season of 1921. To date, there has been very little if any damage to fruit, from freezing or frosts at any time since last fall.

Class Is Growing—

Interest in the salesmanship class at the Y.M.C.A. has been growing so steadily that the class, regular and invitation, is now almost double what it was when the work started. The course is proving to be one of the most absorbing enterprises ever put over by the local Y, and the 17 weeks, about half of which is already gone, seems all too short in the estimation of the interested devotees. The class meets every Tuesday night at the Y, under the instruction of T. E. McCroskey of Salem.

Will Try Out Friday—
Friday will be the day of try-outs for the position of yell-king at Willamette university. By a recent decision of the executive board the nomination and selection are to be by popular vote. Present Yell King, Ferguson has announced the following assistants: Donald Lockwood, Floyd Horton, Gordon Ramstead, Claire Geddes, Leland Chapin and a number of the not-known variety. The votes of the students will decide the winner, although the election proper is in the hands of the executive board.

Upon to Speak—

Poultry, and the general theme of co-operation for the producer, will be the theme of the address before the Marion County Realtors' association today at the noon luncheon. N. L. Upson, manager of the Pacific Coast Poultry Producers' association, with headquarters in Portland, is to be the speaker. The union has made a remarkable record in co-operative service, and a number of the 100 members in Marion county are to be guests at the Realtors' dinner to hear Mr. Upson tell of some of the things they have done.

Snow Still Visible—

Snow is still visible on the high hills both east and west of Salem. And it was almost visible right in the city Wednesday. It was cool enough, part of the afternoon, but the snow man of the weather bureau must have been handing out packages of weather somewhere else at the same time, and he was too busy to wait on his customers here. They could enjoy it only second-hand.

People Use Swift's Fertilizer—

Because it makes them money. See C. S. Bowne or phone 353.—Adv.

Has New Gun—

Officer Troy Branson, who is an inveterate experimenter in guns, has installed a big new Colt of special design that would interest most any one with burglarious or rioting proclivities. Troy is refusing to use a metal patched bullet for humane reasons—but anybody who has ever seen him shoot wouldn't take a chance with him if he should load his guns with chewing gum or dough.

Meeting Deferred—

The Mothers' club of the Y. M. C. A., that was to have met today at the Y, will defer its session for one week, until April 20. The press of church work during the passion week preceding Easter, is one of the reasons for the postponement.

Attends Rust Meeting—

C. A. Park, president of the state horticultural board, was a Portland visitor the first three days of this week, attending an important session of the northwestern district horticulturalist. The board is working especially on the pine blister rust prevention, that means so much to the pine forests of eastern and southern Oregon. There are practically no trees on the west coast that are at present seriously affected by the rust, but in the Klamath and Bend and other sections east of the Cascade range it is a momentous problem how to stop the infestation.
