JUNIORS AND FRESHMEN ARE TIED IN CLASS TRACK MEET

Willamette won by a decided majority in the interclass meet at Sweetland field yesterday afternoon. In fact, it was all Willamette. There wasn't any other second or anything else.

The juniors and the freshmen tied with 40 points each. The seniors were not far behind. They gathered in 30 points, more through the individual prowess of Dean Pollock, with 19 1/2 points than through any concerted class action. The juniors scattered their honors more widely. Zeller was the high point man. The frosh came out by regiments and gathered in something from almost every event. They took practically all the honors in the weights, the shot, discus and javelin. By having some capable man to go into every event they were able to pile up a long list of points, enough to bring them up to the level of the juniors at 40 all. The sophomores, not represented in nearly all the events, dragged far behind in the final count.

Relay is Exciting
The half mile relay was the last and perhaps the most interesting event of the day. There had been even less practice in passing the tokens from one runner to the next than there had been in the running; it made some confusion at every passing. The senior team took the lead, with McKittick for the first half-lap, and was never headed or even menaced, the first one through missed most of the confusion that fell to the trailers. The running of Barnes, senior, in the third lap, and of Isham, frosh, were about the most notable features of the race, which, however, was good from start to finish. From the best men of all the class teams, a varsity team should be picked that would make a good record.

Logan Does Well
Logan established his position as a distance runner by winning both the half mile and the mile. In the half mile a worthy competitor in Ferrine, a freshman, who though one of the youngest and slightest competitors of the day, runs with an ease and confidence that marks him as a coming star. Geddes, who took second in the mile, also made a good showing in a grueling race. Ferrine took the quarter in good style, though he had the closest finish of the day with Satchell, who came up on him in the last 100 yards.

The two Vinsons, Jack and Bill, accumulated respectively 9 and 11 points for the freshmen and the junior classes. A number of entrants made seconds or thirds, some of them close to firsts, but not quite good enough to do more than get inside the scoring count.

Freshmen in Lead
The freshmen are still ahead on the year's score, having accumulated enough points from other meets to give them a decided lead. The juniors failed utterly in basketball, and so got a bad start for the year. Yesterday's tie for first, places them on a much better footing.

A dual meet is to be put on with Chemawa two weeks from today, here in Salem, during the May week exercises. The two schools did not meet in basketball this year, but they have always aimed to take on all the other athletic series together, and this track and field meet is an annual event. While the university has usually showed the way in these dual meets, the Indians are good competitors for anybody, and they always win some of the events. Coach Bent of Chemawa is a bit unlucky just now, in that their own track is out to ribbons by the new heating system ditches, so that the boys have to perform in the road or not at all. No meets are being held at Chemawa this spring because of this break-up.

Invitation Meet Nears
Following the Chemawa meet, there is the invitation non-conference tournament here in Salem with all the colleges of the valley invited to take part. This is to be held May 26. June 2 Willamette will meet Pacific university at Forest Grove in a dual engagement, the last of the year. Pacific cleaned up the whole valley at the Eugene relay carnival last week, though part of the events were not contested for by other schools, under a misunderstanding as to whether they were to be counted in the final score—the pole vault, the jumps and the weights. Willamette sent no contestants for any of these, and entered some of the runners at the last moment in events they had not especially prepared for.

Paddock Wants His Island Records Given Recognition

SALEM, April 21.—Charles W. Paddock, Los Angeles world champion sprinter, declared here today that he intended to ask the National Amateur Athletic union, through its former president, Robert Weaver, Los Angeles, to recognize as records the time he made in bettering eight world sprint records in the Hawaiian islands recently.

Paddock's statement was made when he was questioned regarding a dispatch from Honolulu stating the Hawaiian branch of the A. A. U. decided not to petition the national board to recognize the marks as the distance and track did not conform to specifications. The runner said that when he left the islands the A. A. U. officials there told him they would seek to have the records recognized.

SYVERSON AND CRITES FIGHT TO DRAW AT ARMORY SMOKER

By WILL CARVER

"Every one pleased." "Every one disappointed." "The boxing game improving in Salem." "The boxing game doomed in Salem." That is what the fans said last night at the conclusion of F company's athletic card, under the supervision of John Overdorf.

That is to say there was the usual jangle about the quality of the bouts, the quality of the decisions and of everything in general.

The card is summed briefly as follows:
Crites against Syverson, (main event). Ten rounds to a draw.
Bayes against Morris (three rounds). Decision to Bayes.
Graham against Montgomery (four rounds) Decision to Graham.
Graves against Bevier. Forfeit to Graves. Bevier not to be located.

Manager Works Hard
Overdorf has had more than his share of grief in getting his cards into shape and this was augmented last night when a local referee could not be obtained and Overdorf was finally forced into the squared circle. His work was approved through the two prelims but sorrow in large clouds appeared in the tenth round of the main event.

The event opened with Krites showing in splendid form and outshining Syverson who boxed his own style throughout. From the third round Krites' aggressive style of in-fighting was changed to protect him from the terrific shower of punches rained upon his ribs by Syverson in short left jabs. However Krites did not begin to extend his guard until the seventh round when some little bird must have whispered to him that Syverson's seemingly wild upper swings were but a ruse.

Tactics Changed
This warning was needed just after Syverson raised his left for a smash to the chin of the Newberg lad with a cut on the inner side of his lip. Crites dropped his impressive manner and widened the fighting range. During the first eight rounds Crites seized every possible chance to work under Syverson's upraised left for the purpose of slipping in punishing kidney slashes. By this time Syverson was also bleeding from a slight face cut.

The end of the last round found Crites losing his wind and form so rapidly that there was little doubt that two more rounds would have found him at the mercy of his plucky opponent. With the gong, Overdorf raised the hands of both men.

Bout is Praised
This bout was remarked upon last night as being one of the best ever staged in Salem. Both men have acquired a loyal following and no one can doubt either the fighting ability or the staying powers of these men. Syverson, who is a Salem man, is noted for his dogged style of progressive fighting.

His work last night was similar to his tactics in the bout with Miller, of Eugene, fought here several months ago. Although outweighted and outclassed Miller, the Salem man took terrible punishment, coming within a shade of a draw decision.

In his fight with Morris of Newberg, Phil Bayes eliminated Morris from the start, and the Newberger's seconds tossed in a towel at the end of the third bout, but he convinced the fans that he is training in earnest. Bayes has worked down to 131 pounds, and is in perfect condition.

Bayes Flees From Crowd.
In entering the ring for his go with Morris, Bayes brought one of the best laughs of the year. The doughty little Salem fighter had dressed (?) hurriedly and was wearing an overcoat when he slipped through the ropes. Bayes started to doff the overcoat and then the laugh came, for to his

STAYTON HIGH BEATS DALLAS

Second Victory of Season is Won—Two Clever Pitchers Are Used

Stayton high school achieved a decisive victory over the Dallas high school baseball team, when they met at Dallas yesterday. They had met once before, at Stayton, when Stayton won 10 to 6. This time, they made it almost unanimous by a 10-sided score of 7 to 1.

The Stayton team boasts two of the cleverest high school pitchers in their call anywhere in the valley. Fuson and Zuber. Fuson has been going like a big leaguer all spring and was doing equally well in yesterday's game. In the last inning, Zuber was put in for a trial, and he struck out almost every batsman.

Reports have put Fuson almost in a class by himself, at least in county tournament in Salem, in May; at least, it is expected that he will do so, for the Stayton team is considered a sure district winner and so will be a contender for the finals here in Salem.

Stayton is to meet Turner on Wednesday, and Hubbard on Friday of next week.

A crowded meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of Stayton was held Thursday night, with "Better Music" trimmings. A school operetta, "Miss Cherry Blossom," is to be presented by the students, Monday night. The Stayton high school is rated as one of the star schools of the state, for the size of the town and the total registration of pupils, and the community is taking a lively interest in every school activity.

Dying Soldier Requests Song by College Glee Club

WASHINGTON, April 21.—When the Harvard Glee club made a round of the soldier hospitals here yesterday and did its bit to cheer the way for the sick and disabled it came to one where "a soldier of the legion lay dying."

There was some question as to whether the club ought to sing with the sombre spectre of death hovering so near. Somebody suggested that the decision be made by the sick soldier.

"Sure, let 'em sing," said he with a pale, wan smile. "It will be happy memory to carry across with me."

So the club gladdened the invalids with song and harmony for an hour and none responded to the ray of sunshine more eagerly than the dying soldier.

Today he is still alive and the doctor says that maybe he won't die for some time.

SILVERTON TEAM IS BADLY BEATEN

Salem high is to meet Chemawa on Wednesday of next week, on the Salem grounds.

It is proposed to organize a National Association of College Debating clubs. With such a wealth of talent the Einstein theory and the question whether or not Mars is inhabited will be quickly determined. They may even settle who struck Billy Patterson, an enigma that has the world by the throat ever since the year of the big wind.

With the death of Harry Keller, the conjurer, one of the sources of the money to pay the bonus has disappeared. He might have produced it from the gray fedora that he used to wear.
