BITS FOR BREAKFAST

"Let us have peace"—In the words of Grant; and let the hospital be built.

General W. H. Odell, now of Portland, was in attendance at the funeral of his old associate and friend, General W. H. Byars, yesterday. They both served as United States surveyor general of Oregon, and they were associated together in the publishing of The Statesman previous to 1884. General Odell is now 92 years old, but he gets around like a youngster, excepting that his hearing is not as good as it used to be.

Hon. Austin Mires of Ellensburg, Wash., a half-brother of General Byars, was at the funeral yesterday. Mr. Mires assisted in writing the present code of Washington. He was the author of the irrigation code of that state. He was president of the Washington state bar association. Mr. Mires is one of the leading lawyers of that state.

Lloyd George is the one man in the world who can not only see a rainbow in a subcellar but can make everyone else see it. He is the chief optimist of his time.

Add another word to the growing vocabulary of the times—"broadcasting." The English language is accumulating new words at the rate of 4000 to 5000 a year whereas the vocabulary of the average old Indian language has only 400 to 500 words; and most people do not use many more than 1000.

NEW CORPORATIONS

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Garthwick company, of Portland, capitalized at $80,000. The incorporators are Homer D. Angell, R. L. Sablin, Jr., and C. H. Lewis. Other articles filed yesterday were: Boundary Acres Water company, Portland; incorporators, Robert L. Sablin, Jr., Forrest S. Fisher, Homer D. Angell; capitalization, $3,000.

University Park Library association, Portland; incorporated by James A. Stephens and others. Umpqua Valley Canning company, Roseburg, incorporators, Frank J. Norton, A. J. Geddes, George F. Alexander; capitalization, $25,000.

Higgins Manufacturing company, Portland; incorporators Lee R. S. Higgins, J. W. Higgins, George F. Alexander; capitalization, $20,000.

A permit to operate in Oregon was issued to the Alphons Custody Chimney Construction company, a New Jersey corporation. It will have offices in Portland and Edward Gordon of that city is named as attorney-in-fact for Oregon. This company's capitalization is $33,600.

WOULD ERASE STATE SENATE

Visionary Scheme of State Government Proposed in Initiative Bill

Sponsored by the Peoples Power League of Oregon a proposed constitutional amendment to be voted on by the people at the general election next November would abolish the present state-legislative system and create a legislative assembly of 60 members elected on a basis of occupation rather than population. The state senate would be abolished.

The measure was filed yesterday with the secretary of state and referred to the attorney general for ballot title.

Would Wipe Out Parties—The measure would wipe out party lines. It would provide registration of voters by occupation, each occupation to be entitled to representation according to strength. The members of the legislature would be elected for years, but would be subject to recall at any time. The legislature would meet annually and the members would receive $500 annually for their services, plus 10 cents a mile traveling expenses.

Take Turn About—Election of the governor would be vested in the legislative assembly. 31 votes being sufficient to elect. Also the same number could remove an executive at will. The governor would have power to dissolve the legislature at will and call a special election to elect a new legislature which would at once elect a governor. In all cases the governor must have served in the legislative assembly before being elevated to the executive chair.

Officers Well Known—The officers of the league, and those who filed the measure are: C. E. Spence, Oregon City, president; O. R. Hartwig, Portland, vice president; W. E. Kimsey, Portland, treasurer, and W. S. U'Ren, Portland, secretary. Spence is master of the state grange and Hartwig is president of the State Federation of Labor.

GRANT DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED

Hundredth Anniversary to Be Observed at Public Meeting in Armory

The 100 birthday of General U. S. Grant will be celebrated by a public meeting in the Salem armory at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, April 27, 1922.

Chief Justice George H. Burnett will deliver the memorial address. Governor Ben W. Olcott will preside and community singing of patriotic songs under a competent leader will be held. The G.A.R. and other patriotic organizations with their auxiliary societies are to attend.

The monument to the great general of the national armies which has for 18 years been under construction in Washington, will be dedicated on that day. President Harding will act as chairman and direct the ceremonies, and Vice-president Coolidge will give the dedicatory address. The various state governors have officially called attention to this notable day, and the public schools of the nation will have appropriate programs.

Rev. Dr. Fay L. Ingram May Establish Church Here

The Rev. Dr. Ingram is one of the leading gifted psychic lecturers, healers and teachers in the United States. Her first appearance in Salem last night, at the Hurst or Knights of Columbus hall, was greatly appreciated by a large number of the spiritualists of Salem and many others interested.

Doctor Ingram expressed herself as so enthused with Salem that she may decide to make Salem her home and establish a church here as well as in Portland, where she is now pastor of her own church, "The Guiding Star."

Doctor Ingram is more than a preacher, she is medium, leader and healer of note. All those who desire to become healed, and especially those cases pronounced incurable, are requested to be at the meeting next Thursday night at the same hall.

The healings will take place after the regular lecture. Friday night she will hold the regular circle and give psychomizing readings. Her lectures are of a very high type, considered exceptionally inspirational and, it is declared, cannot help but benefit all who hear them.

Fruit Thrips is Found By Orchard Experts Here

On a recent inspection tour, Prof. A. L. Lovett, entomologist of Oregon Agricultural college, Earl Peary of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association, and S. H. Van Trump, county fruit inspector, found prune or pear thrips on cherries, pears and prunes in this district. The warm weather following the prolonged cold snap has brought the thrips out but not in excessive numbers.

Growers are advised by Professor Lovett to undertake the regular thrip spray program. To be effective the first spray should be applied at once. This consists of miscible oil four gallons, black leaf "40" three-fourths pint to 100 gallons of water.

A second application should be applied just before the blossoms open. Use the same solution but reduce the amount of oil to two gallons to the 100 gallons of water. On pears, it is believed that the advisable spray will be to add Black Leaf "40", three-fourths pint to the 100 gallons to the regular pink spray for scab. The

IMPORTANT BUT NEGLECTED

That's the story of the average medicine chest. You can get goods from us from seven in the morning until ten at night. We're glad to serve you. But from ten at night until seven in the morning it is inconvenient for you to reach us. That's likely to be a critical time.

A well-filled medicine chest is your greatest convenience. We are prepared to suggest the best the market affords.

We carry the best in rubber—Goodrich. Add a water bottle or fountain syringe to your medicine chest. Unusual values this week.
