The Salem symphony orchestra was present and many who had not previously taken part in the chorus were present. To those who were mere onlookers and listeners, the chorus of more than 200 voices was a grand surprise. Included in the number one saw men and women from all walks of life, all singing and seemingly enjoying it. The sprightly choruses of the great oratorio, "The Creation," were delightful.

Both the chorus and the orchestra are being directed by Prof. John R. Sites.

Miss Vera Ochler was pleasantly honored Tuesday afternoon by a group of friends who favored home of her mother, Mrs. A. Ochler. Refreshments were served following a pleasant afternoon during which the guests hemmed towels for the guest of honor.

Those present were Mrs. Luck Hocket, Mrs. Fred Corori, Mrs. Charles J. Spitzbart, Mrs. Albert

Office About July 1

While the senatorial endorse ment of John Farrar, present as sistant postmaster, as choice for the postmaster of Salem, is considered equivalent to a definite a luncheon given by the students appointment, it is not expected tart he will actually assume either the honors or the emolument of the office for a number of weeks; probably not much if any pefore the first of July, according to Mr. Farrar's estimate,

> The selection will first have to go to the senate for ratification. Then it goes back to the postorfice department at Washington, and then will follow the matter of bonds and all the condition of transfer. Mr. Farrar believes that outside of the necessar; weeks to get all this detail ad justed, the department will fine it desirable to make the transfer just-at the close of the present fiscal year, June 30, when both the quarterly and the annual reports and inventories will b checked up anyhow.
