RUPTURE EXPERTS IN SALEM

Demonstrate the Famous Rice Method Free To Callers at Hotel

If you are ruptured, your big opportunity has now arrived. If you would like to be free from the slavery of gougng, pinching, chafing trusses that make life a burden, then HERE and NOW is the time to act.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Williams, experts in rupture cases, trained under the personal direction of W. S. Rice, of Adams, N. Y., the famous discoverer of the Rice Non-Surgical Rupture Method, will be at the Marion Hotel, Salem, Oreg., May 5th and 6th.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams are here to personally demonstrate to all ruptured people what the Rice Rupture Method can accomplish. You have, no doubt, heard and read much about this famous Method and the cures which thousands have reported from it. Now, you have the chance to find out all about it—to have it demonstrated to you and to see what it can do in YOUR OWN case. Just call at the hotel and these experts will give you their personal attention, best advice and complete demonstration absolutely without charge.

Are you tired of that binding, hampering, uncomfortable truss? Would you like to be free of it forever? Then investigate this Rice Method and find out the possibilities. It holds out "Surely a Method that could cause so many thousands of former rupture sufferers to report cures must be worthy of your full and complete investigation."

The Rice Method is different from anything else. It is modern, up-to-the-minute, abreast of the latest scientific developments. It is the one Method that you are not asked to take on faith alone—the one Method that is positively demonstrated to you, right on your own person, without any charge whatever. You do not spend a penny unless, after having a full and complete demonstration, you decide that this is the Method for you. And you—you alone—are the sole judge of that.

In justice to yourself, come in and see these experts. Remember, they will be here only two days then your opportunity will be gone. Grasp it NOW. It may prove to be the wisest thing you ever did and, anyway, it costs you nothing to find out.

Remember, come to the Marion Hotel any day from 9 to 12 forenoons, 2 to 5 afternoons, or 7 to 9 evenings. The dates are May 5 and 6.

SOCOLOFSKY TO SUCCEED RUDD

Salem Man Hereafter to Be in Charge of County Y.M.C.A. Work

Edwin Socolofsky, for the past four months employed on special organization work with the Marion county Y.M.C.A., will hereafter be in charge of the county work program in Marion county. It was announced following the quarterly meeting of the county Y.M.C.A. committee at the public library last night.

Socolofsky succeeds John H. Pudd of Portland who came to Salem last September to take charge of the county work program. Rudd had asked to be released by the county committee in order that he might give his entire time to his duties as interstate secretary for county work for Oregon and Idaho.

Socolofsky was active in deputization work with the Y.M.C.A. while a student at Willamette university and has been actively interested in the work for several years.

The quarterly meeting and the fact that J. C. Clark, boys work secretary for the Y.M.C.A. in Shanghai, China, was to be the speaker of the evening, drew a number of committee members and members of Hi-Y clubs from towns all over Marion county.

SALEM TO MEET GRANTS PASS

Emmons and Southworth Team Selected for Semi-final Argument

Salem high school debaters will meet Grants Pass in Eugene next Friday night in the semi-final contest for the state championship, according to word received here yesterday from Dan Clark, secretary of the state association.

Salem defeated Forest Grove last Friday, thereby winning the right to enter the semi-finals and Grants Pass defeated Roseburg. According to unofficial word, the Grants Pass team is composed of two unusually strong girls, who have established an enviable record against southern Oregon teams. They are champions of southwestern Oregon.

Ralph Emmons, negative leader in the district debates, will captain the team against Grants Pass, debating with Ward Southworth, affirmative leader in the district debates. Critics claim the two form the strongest team ever sent out by the local school, which is substantiated by the showing against Forest Grove in the first of the inter-district contests last Friday.

If the local orators should be successful in the next debate they will participate in the championship debate to be held in Eugene May 19 against the champion of eastern Oregon. The debate of Eugene Friday will be closed to the public in order that the arguments of the winning team will not be revealed before it meets the opponent for the state title.

NEW ERA FOR CHINA DAWNS

Shanghai Y. M. C. A. Leader Talks to Marion County Committee

A new China is dawning. J. C. Clark, boys work secretary for the Y. M. C. A. at Shanghai, China, told members of the Marion county Y. M. C. A. committee at their quarterly meeting in the public library Monday night. "The hope of the new China," Clark explained, was founded upon the students of the nation whom he described as boys and men of keen mentality and highly patriotic, although to a certain extent entrenched in the ancient customs of China which date back 4000 years.

Clark has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in Shanghai for the past 11 years, being head of the largest boys' division in the world with supervision over 46 points of activity in addition to the work in the "Y" building. The new generation in China, Clark declared is disgusted with the habits and customs which have been a millstone about the nation for years and is doing much to establish the newer and more progressive civilization. Clark told how the boys of Shanghai, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. had added in spreading health propaganda about the city during a cholera epidemic and of other work into which the boys of the city were entering. No one stands so well in China as the Americans, declared Clark who expressed the hope that the friendship between this nation and China would never be interrupted.

ARE ABOUT READY TO SHIP THE ORE

Trucking from the Santiam Mines Will Begin in a Very Short Time

H. H. Lotz, the mining engineer of the Lotz-Larsen Mining company, was in Salem last night on his way back to the Santiam mines, from a business visit to Tacoma, Portland and other points.

While at Tacoma Mr. Lotz signed up for his company a contract for delivering 500 tons a month of ore to the Tacoma smelter. The contract for hauling the ore has already been let to McIntire Bros., who will use two trucks and two trailers, as mentioned in a Statesman news item some days ago. The will haul five tons to a trip, to the railroad. These men are experienced in trucking.

The snow is gone now at the Lotz-Larsen mine, which is at the junction of Gold Creek with the Little North Fork of the Santiam; but there is two or three or more feet of snow a little above them—and they are fearing that a warm rain may make high water in the creeks and rivers and do some damage to the roads and bridges.

They will have to do some work on the roads above Elkhorn, before beginning the trucking of the ore, and Marion county should help in putting and keeping the county's part of the road in condition, from Elkhorn to Mehama.

Mr. Lotz says the smelter people are anxious to get the Santiam ore, and that they would gladly take 5000 tons a month if they could get it.

MAN NOW HERE SERVED LINCOLN

C. G. Jackson, 93 Years Old, Has Watch Given Him by Emancipator

When C. G. Jackson set sail in an old sailing ship from Sweden in 1857, he certainly did not expect to spend 15 weeks on the tempestuous voyage, to fight at Gettysburg, to get one bayonet thrust through the body, and six bullet wounds, to wear a lieutenant-colonel's silver oak leaf epaulet, to be the personal body guard and personal friend of Abraham Lincoln—and to live to the age of 93 years and be as hearty as most men of 50 years.

This is in brief the story of C. G. Jackson, who is visiting in Salem and vicinity. He has a watch given him by President Lincoln; a beautiful, gold case, key-wind, Swiss watch, with metal face engraved with the Lincoln town house at Springfield, Ill. Mr. Jackson visited this Springfield place, once, after the war. He was of the military guard that escorted the remains of the Great Emancipator to his final resting place at his old house. The watch is to be sent back to Washington in June, as a part of the national Lincoln memorial collection that will become a priceless national heritage.

Mr. Jackson knew Grant, Lincoln, and all the Union leaders who made Washington their headquarters during the great war. "They were great men," he says. "One could not write one-hundredth part of the good there was in President Lincoln." Mr. Jackson was the guest of J. H. Lauterman at the Argo hotel, Monday evening. He still has the military bearing of the genuine soldier, and the health of a boy. He makes milk his principal diet—and if milk always made such solidly soldiers as he is the use of beef would die out over night. "But I do not talk of soldierly titles, any more, he says. "One who did his duty, has only one title that is worth while." He has refused to be photographed, saying that this is vanity and idle boasting.

now 16 years of age and with her brother, also in Chemawa, came out from 200 miles beyond Nome, driving their own dog team, to come to Chemawa. The way she handled her subjects, "Da Great-a Game," a story of baseball from the Italian banana peddler's standpoint, and his brother's tale of woe against the Irish boy whom he hated, was a real revelation in dramatics. If they produce that kind of dramatic fire up so close to the Pole, Alaska was a mighty good investment for the United States.

Riley Poem Interpreted Little Charlie Hall, 9 years of age, gave a fine rendition of Riley's "Seein' Things at Night," that made a hit. He must have gotten that scary little voice with which he pictured the scary little lad of the story, out of memoirs of Edwin Booth; the tragedian himself couldn't have been more delightfully scared. Frances Nichols, a big-eyed little Indian lass of eight years, rendered "When de Folks Am Gone," and "The Moo Cow Moo," with real tragic interpretation.

When Superintendent Hall announced that these two little dramatic stars had been trained by one of their Chemawa graduates, Miss Eleanor Hawk, who later attended the Salem high school and then returned to Chemawa to teach, the crowd gave her and her proteges a rousing tribute.

The Chemawa dinner was held to dedicate a huge sign that the club had erected on the Oregon Electric, west of the school to appraise travelers of the nature of the school that so many have seen but could not identify. Fred Erixon, chairman of the public affairs committee of the club, told of the erection of the sign, the metal work for which was donated by Nelson Brothers, and the sign itself put up by the Indian school itself.

and living sense of the reality of American civilization and good will. "They are part of us," he said. "They were here before us; they deserve and are splendidly worth our cooperation in building up America." Cherrian Magician Appears Hehaz, the magician of the Cherringo, the guest of E. Cooke Patton, gave the crowd some interesting slight of hand magic. Practicing on Superintendent Harwood Hall, he plucked him of bales of cards, of strings of ducky hamburgers and of other incriminating things that the Hall memory couldn't recall. Some of these stunts will doubtless appear at the Cherringo, though with another victim. The Cherringo was heartily endorsed by the club.

Supervisor Cross Guest W. N. Cross, supervisor of Indian education in the Pacific coast district, was a guest of the evening, and spoke briefly, urging closer cooperation of the citizens with the school. He told of how it was the strong sympathy of the Quaker people of Carlisle, Pa., with the Indian school at Carlisle, that brought that famous school so prominently before the people of America. He urged that the people of Salem become more closely interested in the school here, so as to give the students who return to their homes, a real
