CHAPTER 15

IS ALLEN DRAKE STRIVING TO IMPRESS MADGE?

As I followed Lillian into her living room, across its crimson and white beauty to the door o the hall, and stood waiting for Allen Drake to descend the stairs, I felt myself to be that delight of the old romantic writers a "prey to conflicting emotions." I certainly had a number of distinct thoughts upon the subject of the man who appeared at the head of

It was Lillian, afraid of no one who voiced my thought.

Vote for HUBBS for Senator Pledges of Economy in Themselves Are Meaningless

For the last decade or more, Oregon has been worrying along with taxes doubling. Administra-tions have come and gone. Each left a bigger indebtedness than when it took office. Taxes have become gigantic. Business men, farmers, laboring men alike are staggering beneath the enormous weight thrust upon them by the mistakes of past officials, whose extravagance and deficiency are

Mr. Hubbs was selected upon its record and qualifications to assure the county of a clean, com-petent, economical administration. Mr. Hubbs has ably served as councilman, chairman of the School Board of the City of Silverton, and a member of the Good Roads Committees for a number of years. Those who are most familiar with county affairs concede him to be the best candidate offered for the position of State Senator. The best assurance that a man's conduct in public office will be for the best interest of the county is an investigation of his evious record. The record of Mr. Hubbs needs no explanation or excuse. It stands for itself, a monument to his honesty, prudence and economy.

Questions Prepared for Eighth Grade Examinations

Supplies for the annual eighth grade examinations for the rural and elementary schools of the county, are now being prepared by the county superintendent of instruction, ready to send out to the applicants.

It is expected that between 1600 and 1800 applications will come in for examinations. Some of these will be for studies in the slow in developing amateur radio, I fancy it may be a good thing sixth and seventh as well as the eighth grades, the studies that fall within the province of the county authorities to administer or nothing that makes a big show.
