

TRUCE MADE IN IRELAND

Peace Conference Between Rival Factions Stops Hostilities Until Monday

DUBLIN, May 4.—(By The Associated Press)—The peace conference between the rival factions in Ireland met today and decided upon a truce between the rival army forces beginning at 4 p. m. today and lasting until the same time next Monday.

The conference was a most friendly one, and the fact that it was prolonged is taken here to point to the arrangement of a plan for unity which the Dail Eireann can accept tomorrow.

would resume their high commands in the regular body.

Dail Gains Hold
Moreover, De Valera's persistent protest against June elections would be met, for the new parliament to debate the constitution would be elected without contests, labor being a due share in the new body. This instead of displacing the Dail in June, would give it a new lease of life during the transition period, which, however, must end before next December, since the Anglo-Irish treaty proscribes that free state elections shall be held within 12 months of the signature of the treaty.

These concessions already have been virtually secured by De Valera by the document agreed by Michael Collins and Richard Mulcahy as the basis for peace.

Little Difficulty Found
The important point of difference concerns the area of the new parliament's jurisdiction and raises the whole partition question.

The rival military chiefs had no difficulty today in arranging the truce which suspends hostilities, including acts of aggression against person or property and virtually stops recruiting by either force.

Couriers have been despatched to Kilkenny to order a cessation of the fighting there.

FIREMEN FIND WIRELESS PHONE INSTRUCTIVE WHILE AMUSING.

The radio telephone is the newest plaything. Both young and old alike find the small and compact apparatus amusing and at the same time instructive. Several cities throughout the country have installed the wireless telephone in their police and fire departments. Chicago set the precedent, and it did not take long for other cities to follow suit. Photograph, taken in Engine Company 15 of the Jersey City Fire Department, shows the smoke eaters getting an earful. They have a receiving set, and through this they hear anything that interests them. Some good joke is probably being wafted through the ozone and probably accounts for the smiles on their handsome countenances.

Nevertheless Swedish marine insurance companies have of late been threatening to raise their rates on account of this danger to navigation.

HUMANE RULES ARE INSCRIBED

Presbyterian Church Issues Code in Effort to Prevent Cruelty

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 4.—"Ten Commandments of Kindness" to regulate conduct toward animals have just been issued by the Department of Human Education, Presbyterian Church of the United States. The commandments point out man's duty to animals and are published with a view toward minimizing useless cruelty and killing.

The commandments are:
1—Thou shalt not deal cruelly with the creatures of God's creation, placed under thy dominion, but in kindness, justice and mercy shalt thou administer thy guardianship over beast, bird and cattle seeking to serve in the spirit of thy Creator.
2—Thou shalt not delight thyself in graven images but rather in tender mercies to those who depend upon thy guardianship. Thou shalt not lay blame or punishment unwarranted and who have no means of asserting their rights, wherefore thou art to them the adjudicator of righteousness in their midst; for the Lord thy God is a jealous God, remembering thy unfaithfulness and thy cruelties to all His creatures and visiting the errors of thy way upon thy children down through the generations, in that thou hast set a bad example unto them and hast by word and deed led them to disrespect justice and mercy in dealing with defenseless creatures.
3—Thou shalt not curse thine cattle nor inflict vengeance upon any of God's creatures for the Lord will not hold him guiltless who disregards his creation.
4—Remember the sabbatical rights of God's creatures and practice them sacredly. Every yoke of burden and every animal in thy service shall have its days and fitting seasons of rest whereby the drudge of toil in thy service may be comfortably mingled with the joy of living. With reason and consideration thou shalt assign their tasks and with equal care thou shalt provide food, rest, succor, mercy and those things which make for the natural joy of living.
5—Honor and respect thy guardianship over the animals which have been thy faithful servants and desert them not in an evil day; for by so doing thou mayest prolong thy days and increase thy joys in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.
6—Thou shalt not kill, for the joy of killing; for the sport of killing; for contest in skill; or for selfish gain. For the righteous man regardeth the life of his beast.
7—Thou shalt not commit thyself to the lusts of bloody contests nor seek to look upon the cock-fight, the live pigeon shoot, the bull-fight and all such atrocious acts.
8—Thou shalt not steal, destroy, nor take unto thyself selfishly or wantonly that which belongs to the comfort and needs of thy animals.
9—Thou shalt not bear false witness for paltry gain to thyself whereby God's creatures suffer hunger, anguish or torture. Let the testimony of thy guardianship be above thy lust for gain.
10—Thou shalt not covet the bird's plumage, nor the animal's fur; thou shalt not covet the robin's nest nor her young by her side, nor the pigeon the freedom of the air, nor the deer the joy of the lair.

island which lies almost in the center of the Baltic.

The derelict U-boats haunt the western waters.

Storms Explode Mines
Ever since the armistice, Baltic storms have washed mines upon the coast and dwellers along the shore have long since become accustomed to the terrific detonations of exploding mines hurled against cliffs during heavy gales. Energetic efforts have been made to sweep up these dangerous relics of the war, but it will probably be years before either the North Sea or the Baltic is free of them.

It is not at all uncommon for fishermen to catch mines in their nets. They are regarded as lucky catches, although they have to be handled gingerly, for the government pays handsomely for the removal or destruction of the mines if satisfactory proof of their discovery or destruction can be furnished.

Many Derelict Boats
The U-boat derelicts are said to have been discarded English vessels, lost while being towed from English ports to Copenhagen. The menace to navigation from these two sources is such that passenger and merchant vessels have to change their sched-

CASH vs. CREDIT

A TRUE STORY

Not very long ago it was the popular opinion of consumers, that a CASH STORE was a store whose owner sold for CASH because he had lost faith in mankind, and believed them dishonest and unworthy of an extension of credit for merchandise.

However, times have changed, and with the event of the Chain Store Method, of selling for cash, and the necessity for thrift and saving taught by the Great War, hundreds of thousands have changed their opinion and benefited thereby.

Sooner or Later—Cash plays an important part in every transaction. A whole sermon could be written on this subject, but an actual experience of a Lady in Salem, will serve to illustrate our meaning of "What You Save by Cash Buying."

On April 25th this Lady who was patronizing credit stores (only from the force of habit) decided to try CASH buying. She selected SKAGGS STORE and purchased $16.57 worth of groceries, the following day after a careful comparison of prices she voluntarily advised one of our salesmen that she saved $3.10. Now, while we do not pretend to say that you will save $3.10 on every $16.57 worth purchased at SKAGGS, we do know that you will effect a Worth While Saving.

Mines and Derelict Submarines, Relics of War, Haunt North Atlantic

STOCKHOLM, May 4.—Ghosts of the great war still haunt the Baltic, scaring veteran skippers, sailors, fishermen and steamship passengers alike. Hardly a week passes without reports along the Swedish coast of drifting old mines and derelict submarines, both a serious danger to all navigation. The mines are principally of Russian and German origin, and after breaking loose from their moorings they have drifted toward the east coast of Sweden. Many of them have been washed ashore on Gotland
