

Women's Activities

By MARGUERITE GLEESON

The Salem Arts league will hold the annual meeting and election of officers Tuesday evening. The league is closing its work for the year and it is considered one of the most successful years in its short history. Mrs. F. S. Barton, former president of the league, says that she considers that the organization has done the past year unusually creditable.

Among the special treats mentioned especially by Mrs. Barton was that of Gay MacLaren who came under the auspices of the league in January. The Grace Barnes Puppets which were shown in Salem by the league were another another special feature.

Two unusually good photographic exhibits were given during the year and the last year included a number of art and art craft exhibits of local persons which made it of special interest to Salem.

A new section which has made much headway is that of the photographic and art craft workers. The Modern Writers gave one entire program of their own work and expect to continue their meetings on through the summer as was the case last year.

The civic art section is another new section this year which has met regularly each month. Mrs. J. W. Harbison is president of the league this year and is considered to have contributed much to this year's work.

Election of officers for the coming year and the selection of five delegates to the state federation meeting will constitute the business for the Salem Women's club Saturday. This will be the last meeting of the year.

Radio, its uses, and its place in everyday life, will be the subject of a talk by F. S. Barton at the Business and Professional Women's club Wednesday. The club will meet as usual for dinner at 6:30 in the club rooms at the Unitarian church. The program will follow the dinner.

Mrs. Ida B. Callahan, president of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs, attended the Southern Oregon District Federation of Women's clubs meeting at Grants Pass yesterday. This district includes Douglas, Jackson and Josephine counties.

The Home Missionary society of the Jason Lee church will meet at the church Friday evening for supper. The members and their husbands will listen to a talk by Dr. W. H. Hertzog of Willamette university.

Julia H. aPichin, Anna A. Miles, Evangeline Jennings, Martha C. Wickberg, and Wilma D. Miller were the Salem girls who went on the trip. Corla Newhouse of Dallas and Anne Hobart of Silverton were also in the group.

Mothers' day next Sunday, May 14, will be observed by the Salem War Mothers at a special service the evening of May 14 at the First Congregational church. Members of the auxiliary of the American legion and the legion will take part in the service. Rev. W. C. Kantner will deliver a "Mothers' day" address and a special speaker for the legion will talk, according to present plans.

The auxiliary of the American legion was entertained this week at the home of Mrs. A. A. Lee. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Eberle, Mrs. Eugene Eckerlin, Jr., and Mrs. Lloyd Lee. The auxiliary will meet in future with the members in turn. The next meeting will be held June 6.

Weekly hikes for those who may care to take them will be started Tuesday evening by the members of the Tri L club. All who may desire to go may do so, according to members of the group, the club members only forming the original party.

The party will start from the Y. W. C. A. at 6:15 each Tuesday evening and any who may wish to join the party are asked to send their names into the Y. W. C. A. Those going will furnish sandwiches, and coffee will be furnished by the club, each one contributing 5 cents.

Officers for the Tri L club chosen at the meeting last week are Marjorie Blake, president; Esther Natterlund vice president; Adalade Lake, secretary, and Marion Zinser treasurer.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church are in charge of a special program this evening at the church at which special views of Baroda, India. Several of these were made from pictures which Miss Laura Helst has sent home from there since she took up her work there. Rev. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick will speak.

This will be the annual thank offering occasion and the money taken in goes toward paying Miss Helst's salary.

S. M. Endicott will talk on tax reduction and the state income tax before the Republican Women Study club Monday when it meets with Mrs. C. P. Bishop.

A "Mother's Helps" booth will be a feature of the War Mothers' sale next Saturday, according to Mrs. J. A. Carson, president of the local chapter. Samples of articles of clothing for little children will be shown and orders taken.

Local Women Edit Paper

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, May 6.—Clara A. Breitenstein and Ethel Frazier of Salem were on the staff of the co-ed edition of the Barometer, the college semi-weekly paper, which made its appearance Friday morning.

One edition of the Barometer during the year is put out entirely by women of the college. They write all the stories, do the copy writing and proof reading.

An eight-page paper instead of the usual four-page one was put out by the girls. Besides the usual news items of the campus, it contained articles describing all the women's honorary organizations and the new social organizations on the campus, special feature articles, and a society column, and a hornet's nest written by Mrs. "Ab" Surd.

Musical

Mrs. Lena Waters presented her younger pupils in recital at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Olmstead, Friday evening. They were assisted by John Waters, who played a clarinet solo, and Zoe Schmauder, who gave a recitation and a solo dance.

After the program, refreshments were served by Mrs. Olmstead. The names of the pupils who played are: James Luper, De Loris Gunsey, Martha Chase, Dorothy Widiek, Ethel Lehman, Lyle Biver, Dorothy Browning, Vivian Mars, Florence Schaffer, Katherine Lauchridge.

Mrs. Mollie Styles presented a group of her music pupils in a studio recital Thursday evening. Friends and relatives of the pupils were present for the occasion.

Salem College Women Serve Hotel Dinner

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, May 6.—Five Salem girls were among the 35 co-eds who went to Portland Thursday evening, prepared and served a dinner in the Gold room at the Multnomah hotel Friday evening. The girls cooked and served the meal by invitation of Mr. Price, manager of the hotel.

These girls have had either training in institutional management or practical experience in the home economics practice house and college tea room. This is the first time the girls have taken over the work of an established institution for a meal. It is the first field expedition since 1915 when the girls conducted a tea room in the Oregon building at the exposition at San Francisco.

Dean Ava B. Milam, of the school of home economics, Miss Sibylla Hawden, professor of institutional management, and Miss Melissa Hunter of the department of institutional management accompanied the girls.

"These girls are taking training that fits them as well for managing a home as for carrying through an affair of this kind," says Dean Milam. The graduates of the school of home economics are as efficient managers of homes as they are of dairy un-

STRETCHING INCOMES

THAT'S what too many folks try to do—stretch their incomes to cover expenses, rather than shrink their expenses to fit their present incomes.

It's going at things backward. Every household can economize in small ways, if necessary, and thus be rid of worry and anxiety, as well as the embarrassment of being "dunned." And often it will provide a surplus for a 'Nationalized' Savings Account.

IRIS SHOW PLAN OF FLORAL CLUB

Preparations Made for Summer's Work at Meeting Held Last Night

An Iris show to be held the last of May was planned last night by the Salem Floral society. Other flower shows to be held each month during the coming summer and fall months is the plan of the organization. Mrs. H. J. Clements was named chairman of the committee on the Iris show.

A discussion on the earwig was given by Charles A. Park and John Giesy spoke on the new street cleaning machine which the city desires to purchase. Mr. Giesy was named chairman of a committee to see to the cleaning up of the approaches to the eridge where the society desires to set out shrubs. Mrs. W. P. Lord also spoke.

Special attention was called by members to the state house grounds at the present time as well as the yards of Homer Smith, F. G. Deckebach, A. N. Bush, H. J. Clements and Mrs. W. P. Lord.

KERRIGAN AND M'GOY ARE FILED

Recall Candidates Against Williams and Buchtel to Go on Ballot

T. M. Kerrigan and Newton McCoy of Portland, recall candidates for the public service commission against Fred A. Williams and Fred G. Buchtel filed their certificates of nomination "by an assembly of electors" with the secretary of state Saturday.

Kerrigan is a candidate for the remainder of the term of Mr. Williams, which expires the first Monday in January, 1923, and McCoy is a candidate for the remainder of Buchtel's term, expiring the first Monday in January, 1925.

The former is a candidate to represent the state at large and the latter to represent the western Oregon district, comprising the counties west of the Cascade mountains.

No reading matter will appear on the ballot after their names except the names of the county where they live. The secretary of state prepares a statement of not over 200 words explaining why the recall action has been called, and each one of the incumbents against whom the recall is directed will have a statement of not more than 200 words in defense of his position.
