Assertions that 3,000,000 bushels of wheat would leave Kansas City for Chicago this week had much to do with a sudden but transient downward swing in the wheat market during the middle of the session. Furthermore, some sales of wheat to go into storage here were announced. Later, however, it developed that today's receipts here had been over estimated and instead of amounting to 400 carloads were actually 246; export sales of 400,000 bushels at the seaboard and vessel charters here for 370,000 bushels to Buffalo helped further to send the market upward again in the 17 late dealings.
