MILITARY METHOD USED IN DRIVE
Salvation Army to Begin Home Service Campaign in Salem May 15
The Salvation Army has adopted the modern military method in raising money for its home service work.
"The drive is a strictly military work of European origin—whether German, French or English. I do not know, but we are familiar with the history of the great drives in which all the forces were concentrated on one front and in one united effort drove the enemy to cover," said Ensign Thomas Bloss.
"This modern military method of the world's salvation has been adopted by the Salvation Army as the most successful, economical and efficient way of raising funds for their work in the state of Oregon.
"The army officers are as averse to the present method of soliciting daily or weekly by the tambourine as the business men and friends are averse to it. It is annoying to the busy business and professional man, wasteful of time and humiliating to the officers who are devoting all their energies and time for the betterment of the community.
"Hence the drive method—whereby all friends and well wishers of the army work may contribute an annual or semi-annual donation and free themselves from further solicitation, also lift the weary financial load from the army officers' shoulders.
"Greater demands are being constantly made upon the Salvation Army by the increase of their varied institutions—but people in all kinds of need call upon us even in wealthy Salem. Relief was given last year amounting to close to $1000. Number of meals given away, 425; number of garments given away, 380; number pairs of shoes given away, 215; lodgings provided for 50; employment found for 29; temporary relief provided for 575. Approximate value of all relief provided including groceries, transportation, etc., $968.87."
The army drive for Salem and Marion county commences on Monday next—May 15—when Major Harris, matron of the White Shield home in Portland and associates will arrive in the city to assist Ensign Bloss, the campaign manager, Captain and Mrs. Watson, the local officers and workers of the corps. Every home and place of business will be visited by the army of uniformed and bonneted Salvationists.
