SALEM HIGH BEATS MACKMEN BY TREMENDOUS BIG MARGIN

Salem high school did a perfect job of "come-back" in the base-ball game with McMinnville yesterday at Oxford park.

In the fourth inning McMinnville led by a score of 9 to 0. The Salemites had been whiffing at the ball, had been tripping over it like blind puppies in the dark, they couldn't have held it with fish glue, they couldn't have hit it with a bat the size of a barn door. But in their batting half of the fourth they found themselves. They made three runs in that inning, six in the fifth, one each in the sixth and seventh, and 12 in the eighth. They didn't need to bat out the ninth inning—they already had 34 runs, and McMinnville had gathered only 3 new ones while the locals got the full two dozen.

Ellis, Salem pitcher, led in batting honors, with five hits out of six times at bat. Home runs were made by Robbins of the visitors, and by Thompson and Jones of Salem. Robbins also made a three-bagger. Frisbie of McMinnville got a two-bagger, as did also Moon and Reinhart of Salem. Ellis fanned 11 batters, while the four visiting pitchers whiffed only five locals.

The teams were:
Salem—Brown, ss; Heinbart, cf; Purvine, rf; Rex Adolph, 1b; Jones, c; Moorman, lf; Thompson, 2b; M. Moon, 3b; Ellis, p. McMinnville—Frisbie, 2b; Shipley, 3b; Robbins, ss; Johnson, 1b; Malone, cf; Over, rf; Beaton, lf; Eigner, c; Osborne, p. Osborne, Robbins and one other also took a turn at pitching, with little success.

Salem high is to play Mt. Angel college at Mt. Angel, Friday afternoon. Three successive postponements of games that have been set between the Mt. Angel team and Willamette university, and the rapid approach of the close of the school playing season make it improbable that the two college teams will meet this season.

DALLAS SHOOTERS BEST SALEM CLUB

Another Match With La Creole Team is Planned for Near Future

Four members of the Salem Rifle club drove to Dallas Sunday to see what they could stir up. They found one of the liveliest bunches of gun shooters anywhere in the valley, and Dallas won the match.

Only the one match, however, was shot out to its limit by full teams from both organizations—the 300-yard match with Springfield rifles. For the Salem team, Beter made 87 out of a possible 100, in 20 shots; Doe 83, Wiggins and Mages 82 each, a total score of 334. For the Dallas team, Bevans made 88, Toner 87, Hindman 85 and Howe 84, a total of 344. The other two matches, at 200 and 500 yards, were not shot out in full by both sides; though in the 500-yd. Beter made 88, Mages 85, Doe 78 and Wiggins 65, while of the three Dallas men to finish, Howe and Bevans made 91 each, and Hindman 86. At 200 yards, only two of the Salem team finished. Wiggins with 91 and Beter with 93; for Dallas, Bevans made 97 and Howe 93.

The Salem shooters say that the La Creole Rifle club, the Dallas organization, has a fine lot of good sports and that they'll go to shoot again as soon as they can load up enough ammunition to make the second trip.

Salem enthusiasts believe they have found a rifle range that will give good shooting of to 1500 yards near town, which will be

WHITE STRONG IN EAST STATE

Republican party. In the popular mind he is regarded as the choice of the people and not of the politicians. We found a decided strength for White among all the farmers whom we visited."

Washington County Strong
"We have word from our confidential workers in Washington county that there is being a genuine avalanche of enthusiasm for White. From what we conceded to be a very doubtful locality, with heavy support for other candidates, we are now able to predict a splendid White victory."

This is one of the campaign surprises that is making Mayor George Halvorsen, secretary of the White-For-Governor club, smile all over.

"And that isn't all," he continued. "What has happened in Pennsylvania, that has just turned turtle on the old guard machine that has dominated the state since the Civil war, and has ditched the Penrose regime for a new deal under Gofford Pinchot, is just now happening in Oregon. They did it in Indiana a few days ago, when Beveridge overthrew the old guard under Senator Harry New. They're going to do it here in Oregon. It's in the cards for the new deal to win this year—and the winning cards are all White."

Hard Campaign Ending
"We're almost through with a hard campaign. We started in because the people demanded a change and not only a change, but a change to their own liking. They found the man they wanted, in the person of George A. White; drafted him, boosted him, and we believe they're going to put him over."

Mr. Halvorsen had little to say on the remark credited to a Salem man, that he had intended to vote for Governor Elliot, but since his offensive proclamation had forsaken the Elliott ranks as not representing his kind of Americanism.

Partisanship Deplorable
"We have no part in this kind of an argument," said Mr. Halvorsen. "This voter, however, has keenly analyzed the appeal, and he could prove its truth by analyzing the vote, both now and after the election. It is a disgrace that such an issue should have to creep into the campaign, that the governor of a great state has to appeal to such bitter partisanship to save his own scalp. It would be a disgrace to have to be elected on such an appeal. The great political certainty, however, is that even after winning on such an appeal, that fight would go on to the polls, and result in a final disastrous overthrow of both the candidate and of the whole party that allowed itself to be disrupted and made a goat."

"We are making our campaign on the issue of better government, lower taxes, an equitable adjustment of the burdens and responsibilities of every man under the law. We have browbeaten no one, we have vilified no one, we have minded our own business in the name of the people who have de-managed the new deal—and we are ready for the election and whatever it brings."

Willamette Juniors Are Ready for Play Tonight
After a dress rehearsal Tuesday evening before the boys of the state training school, and a final going-over last evening, the Willamette junior class play, "It Pays to Advertise," is ready for its second presentation tonight at the Grand theater. With the experience of the previous showing, besides the rehearsal before the boys of the state institution night before last, the cast should be able to put the play across with even greater success than before.

Manager Francis Kinch announces that the university orchestra has been engaged for the evening, which will insure several high class selections of music during the intermissions.

"It Pays to Advertise," which was given by the Juniors during Willamette's May Day, proved a great success, playing to a capacity house. Over 100 people were turned away, and a full house is expected tonight, as seat sales have been going rapidly during the last two days.

Another Tribute Paid to Salem Apollo Club
The Salem Apollo club closed its 1921-22 concert season last night. Storms of applause again greeted the director, Dr. John R. Sides, and the members of the chorus.

As a small token of appreciation the club presented Miss Ruth Bedford, accompanist for the club this year, with a string of pearls. Frank G. Deckebach made the presentation with the assistance of William McGilchrist, Sr.

Reluctant to let Edna Swanson Van Haar, soloist for the evening, leave, the audience called her back again and again and she three times responded with encores. Her charming personality, which was so much a part of her singing was an inspiration to all who heard her. Her full contralto voice was especially appreciated in "O Mio Fe rudo" and "String a Singing." "A Father's Lullaby" was one of the numbers sung by the chorus which was especially well received.

George Hubbs, of Silverton, candidate for the state senate, was a guest, and was called up for a brief speech. He made it snappy and effective, not using half his allotted time. State Senator A. Norblad, of Astoria, candidate for congress, was also a guest, and was asked to speak briefly on political issues, which he did.

Henry Tuplin and Dr. J. L. Lynch were winners of the attendance prizes, two 500-pound ice-books, donated by Louis Lachmann.

A letter from the Tacoma Kiwanis club, asking that Salem urge the government to retain Camp Lewis even at the cost of keeping up an army larger than the agreed 150,000 men, was held over one week for final action.

Rundberg Causes Laugh
John Rundberg created a hearty laugh by his saying that while as an employee of the Commercial club he couldn't do any personal boosting even for the donor of the fine attendance prize he had recently received from the Chambers store, he had made a tour of inspection and found some delightful little baby go-carts that he commended to the present or prospective fathers who might not enjoy their fatherhood quite so much if they had to carry their young hopefuls up and down the floor every cocky night.

"Get a cradle and then you can do the rest yourself," was the substance of his advice. John spoke from observation, and not from experience, but they all knew he spoke truly.

Scott Page told of his visit to the Kafoury store, from which he had recently drawn a fine attendance prize. Dr. Morris, secretary told of the mournful result of the rotary-Kiwanis attendance contest, which the Rotarians won by 1-10 of 1 per cent. "But we'll show 'em what it is to be good sports," he said. "We'll make 'em wish that they had lost, we'll entertain 'em so well." The big event is set for the near future.

Willamette Bearcats to Meet Dental Team Today
North-Pacific Dental college will meet the Willamette Bearcats this afternoon on Sweetland field. This team comes with a reputation of making several cleanups and with their pitcher Quisenberry it is thought they will put up stiff resistance. The game will be called at 3:30 p. m.

The Bearcats have just been through a program of games that worked them to the limit. With a little rest they expect to come out with bang and pep that will make the game a bang-up affair. Ashby will probably be in the box. His sore arm has been whipped into shape and Bohler is figuring on using him.

VOTERS: RALPH E. WILLIAMS

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN

Insists that his campaign be clean, fair, instructive and impersonal

Ralph E. Williams has served as Republican National Committeeman for Oregon until he is the senior member of the Committee.

In June, 1921, at the Committee's first meeting after the inauguration of President Warren G. Harding, every State cast its vote for Ralph E. Williams of Oregon for Vice-Chairman of the Committee, recognizing by their unanimous vote his fitness and ability as a leader to fill this responsible position.

This distinction gives to Oregon and the Pacific Coast much power and influence in party affairs.

Does the character of the campaign of the opposition lead you to think that you can get this kind of influence and power in National Councils by the election of their candidate? A National Committeeman does not make appointments—that is done by the President; nor does a National Committeeman legislate—that is the function of Senators and Congressmen; the business of a National Committeeman is to give attention to the affairs of the Party as an organization. In this Ralph Williams has made a conspicuous success. Had there been any legitimate reason why Mr. Williams should not be re-elected, or any doubt as to his loyalty and service to the party or its candidates it would have appeared in previous elections and before he had shown the value of his services to the party by being unanimously elected Vice-Chairman by the National Committeemen from the forty-eight States.

After Ralph E. Williams harmonized the party why try to disrupt it? By all rules of fair play, because of the work he has done in the past, he is entitled to re-election.

Having no legitimate reason for opposing his re-election the opposition has circulated unfair, misleading and poisonous statements.

We do not wish to insult your intelligence or your sense of fairness, and regardless of what the opposition has done or may do in an eleventh hour attempt to impose its poison upon you, there will be no disposition on Mr. Williams' part to adopt their unclean methods.
