Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Field of Atlanta, Ga., are expected in Salem for a visit with relatives within a few weeks. They are driving through and will leave Atlanta June 5.

A story in the Atlanta Journal (Georgia), refers to a trip which ended there in which a new car record was made. Glenn F. Purvine drove the car and his aunt, Mrs. F. F. Snodgrass, also of Salem, was a passenger.

Miss Hallie Jenks of Lebanon has announced her engagement to Lloyd Stenstrom of Salem. Miss Jenks was formerly a student at Oregon Agricultural college where Mr. Stenstrom is a junior in mechanical engineering.

Evangeline Jennings of Salem, who will be graduated next week from the home economic school of Oregon Agricultural college will teach in Waitsburg, Wash., next year. Miss Jennings was recently elected to membership in Omicron Nu, home economics honor society.

The members of the West Central circle of the First Methodist church General Aid, will entertain their husbands Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. C. Clark.

Mrs. W. C. Kautner and her daughters, Constance and LaVerne, spent the week end in Portland, Mrs. Kautner going on to Seattle to visit with another daughter.

"The Browne Band" is the name of a cantata which will be given June 8 by the pupils of the State Feeble Minded school. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Brasfield of Berkeley, Cal., are guests at the home of Mrs. George Pearce. Mrs. Murray Gould of Los Angeles is another house guest of Mrs. Pearce. Mrs. Gould was formerly Miss Oney Strange and well known in Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spaulding are rejoicing over the arrival of a pair of twins. Rodney W. and Leone.

Mrs. P. A. Young of Albany was a guest of Mrs. John J. Roberts over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett S. Hammond were hosts for the members of the senior class of the Kimball School of Theology Sunday evening.

Miss Helen Jordan of Seattle is a guest of Mrs. Henry Meyers.

PENDLETON, May 29.—Mrs. L. D. Idleman, who will leave soon to join her husband, Dr. Idleman in Salem, was guest of honor Saturday evening at a dinner party given by Mrs. S. H. Forshaw.

Covers for eight were placed for the dinner and bridge was the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Idleman is prominent socially in Pendleton and her departure is regretted by her many friends. Dr. Idleman is now a dentist with the state institutions at Salem.

CHILDREN IN SPRING TIME

Mrs. C. Osborn, 7812 Hillside Rd., Cleveland, O., writes: "My granddaughter was troubled with a cough for nearly two years. She took Foley's Honey and Tar and her cough is now gone. It loosened the phlegm so she could raise it easily." Foley's Honey and Tar is just what children should have for feverish colds, coughs, "snuffles" and tight, wheezy breathing. Be sure to get Foley's. It checks croup and whooping cough, too.—Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Two Districts Inspected By Secretary McAllister

The Jordan Valley Irrigation district and the North Side Irrigation district are together trying to acquire the water rights of the old Jordan Valley Land & Water company, which operated a Carey act project on which the contracts were forfeited by the state and the works of which are being sold.

J. A. McAllister, secretary of the state desert land board, has returned from Jordan Valley where he conferred with officials of the two districts. The Jordan valley district comprises 25,000 acres and the North Side district 3000 irrigable acres.

HOW MEMORIAL DAY CAME TO BE, TOLD BY WIDOW OF GENERAL JOHN A. LOGAN

The Grand Army of the Republic Was the Organization That Made It Possible to Institute Such a Fitting Way to Honor the Heroic Dead, and It Was First Called and Celebrated as Decoration Day.

Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of the man who originated the holiday now known in this country and the world around as Memorial day, lives in Washington, D. C. A few days ago she furnished to the National Republican, of that city, an article giving the facts concerning the origin of Memorial day—published in the May 20 issue of that paper. Following is the article, with only a few of the quotations omitted:

By MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN
To properly appreciate the establishment of Memorial day readers should know about the organization of the Grand Army of the Republic. The comradeship and patriotic principles which prompted the organization of this, the greatest organization the world has ever known, inspired General Logan in writing the immortal order No. 11, when commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. Without the Grand Army of the Republic, there never would have been a

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for many generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

ant adjutant general; Brevet Brig. Gen. N. P. Chipman, adjutant general; Captain T. C. Campbell, quartermaster general and Captain Edward Jardine, inspector general. He read what he had written to Colonel Wilson, who expressed his appreciation of the order and predicted it would be received with great enthusiasm all over the country.

Logan's Staff Agrees
The following evening upon his invitation, his staff assembled in our rooms and he submitted the order to them. Without a dissenting vote, they thought it would receive a ready response from all loyal hearts in the union. He handed the order No. 11, U. S. A. R., to Adjutant General Chipman to be issued at once from the headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic. If Colonel Wilson made any notes or subsequently advocated the movement, they were all lost a few years later in the great conflagration which visited Chicago and reduced to ashes newspaper files, homes and business establishments.

As far as I know Brevet Gen. N. P. Chipman and myself are the only living persons of all those who had any knowledge of General Logan's authorship and conception of this immortal order, which like an electric shock awakened the latent gratitude in all loyal hearts toward the men who had laid down their lives that the union might live. I claim without fear of contradiction that I know the facts and that my memory is as dependable as that of any one else in all the world who had not the same interest that I had then and shall have as long as I live.

George Francis Dawson, now deceased, wrote the life of Maj. Gen. John A. Logan, from all the records, notes and memoranda of General Logan which were placed in his hands. The following is from Dawson's "Life of Logan:"

Memorial or Decoration Day
"In January, 1868, General Logan's comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic elected him commander-in-chief of that order, and afterward honored him and themselves by twice electing him to that distinguished position. It was during his first incumbency that General Logan, as commander-in-chief of this military society, issued the order—which he often afterward alluded to as 'the proudest act of my life'—setting apart the 30th of May as a day in memory of the dead soldiers who lost their lives to perpetuate this union,—a day on which to decorate their sacred graves and keep in mind their glorious deeds. This memorable order,—which was issued to all the comrades of the 'Grand Army of the Republic' throughout the land,—was in these inspiring words:

"Headquarters Grand Army of the Republic,
Adjutant General's Office,
446 14th Street Washington, D. C.
May 5, 1868.
"General Orders, No. 11.
"1. The 30th day of May, 1868, is designated for the purpose of strewing with flowers, or otherwise decorating, the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion, and whose bodies now lie in almost every city, village, hamlet and churchyard in the land. In this observance, no form of ceremony is prescribed, but posts and comrades will, in their own way, arrange such fitting services and testimonials of respect, as circumstances may permit.
"2. We are organized, comrades, as our regulations tell us, for the purpose among other things, 'of preserving and strengthening those kind and fraternal feelings which have bound together the soldiers, sailors and marines, who united together to suppress the late rebellion. What can aid more to assure this result than by cherishing tenderly the memory of our heroic dead, who made their breasts a barricade between our country and its foes? Their soldier lives were the revolve of freedom to a race in chains, and their deaths the tattoo of rebellious tyranny in arms. We should guard their graves with sacred vigilance. All that the consecrated wealth and taste of the nation can add to their adornment and security, is but a fitting tribute to the memory of her slain defenders. Let no wanton foot tread rudely on such hallowed grounds. Let pleasant paths invite the coming and going of reverent visitors and fond mourners. Let no vandalism of avarice or neglect, no ravages of time, testify to the present or to the coming generations that we have forgotten, as a people, the cost of a free and undivided republic.
"3. If your eyes grow dull, and other hands slack, and other hearts grow cold in the solemn trust, ours shall keep it well, as long as the light and warmth of life remain to us.
"4. Let us, then, at the time appointed, gather around their sacred remains, and garland the passionless mounds above them with the choicest flowers of springtime; let us raise above them the dear old flag they saved from dishonor; let us, in this solemn presence, renew our pledges to aid and assist those whom they have left among us a sacred charge upon a nation's gratitude—the soldier's widow and orphan.
"5. It is the purpose of the commander-in-chief to inaugurate this observance, with the hope that it will be kept up from year to year, while a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of his departed comrades. He earnestly desires the public press to call attention to this order, and lend it friendly aid in bringing it to the notice of comrades in all parts of the country in time for simultaneous compliance therewith.

"III. Department commanders will use every effort to make this order effective.
"By order of John A. Logan,
Commander-in-Chief.

Official N. P. Chipman, Adjutant General.
The First Observance
The first observance of this order took place May 30, 1868. The whole country was still in mourning over the sacrifices of the bravest and the best. "That government of the people, by the people and for the people, should not perish from the earth." The gaping wounds of the bloody carnage in the misty conflict were still unhealed. More mileage the result of complete vaporization
It isn't gasoline that explodes in the cylinder of your car and makes power.
It's gas—air, mixed in the carburetor with gasoline to form vapor.
Red Crown gasoline vaporizes completely. It forms a homogeneous mixture with 12 to 16 times its volume of air. That mixture explodes cleanly and powerfully, leaving comparatively little carbon residue on valves, spark plugs and cylinder walls.
That's why you get better mileage out of "Red Crown"—and a cleaner, sweeter-running engine.
Fill at the Red Crown sign—at Standard Oil Service Stations, at garages and at other dealers.
