

SHOPPING WITH THE BRIDE

For The Bride's Trousseau

For the bride-to-be we have every sweet and pretty thing she might wish to wear. From the daintiest and most delicate lingerie and whities to the wrap or suit she wears on her honeymoon, there are selections galore. From the skin out, as it were, she may make selections here at her leisure and be sure she is right in everything she selects.

We offer life-long wishes for happiness and contentment for the future. And for the present we offer a well organized store service which is at her disposal in the selection of a trousseau to suit her admirably and perfectly.

MILLER'S
Good Goods

THE Junetime bride comes into her own. It is wedding time and orange blossom time. So that her task may be easy—her pre-nuptial work reduced to the minimum—we are taking her on a tour of the leading stores of the city with the ease and comfort of a pleasurable shopping trip. Here she will be offered many practical, appropriate and valuable suggestions. Everything has been chosen with that enduring charm of distinction.

The New Mode of Living

has made new demands in the way of summer underthings.

While women are devoting so much time to outdoor sports, they naturally want summer underthings that are cool and cut to be worn to the best advantage with the straight hanging sports apparel.

Even in their leisure hours, they don such transparent frocks of organdie and lace that new lines in silk underwear are necessary.

All the season's latest innovations are expressed in the new assortments of summer underthings that are now being shown at Shipley's.

Materials are batists, chico silk and dimities.

Colors are white, flesh, orchid and peach.

2-BIT RATE WILL RETURN

Beginning Next Monday Commercial Club Lunches Will Be Cheaper

Beginning next Monday, the Commercial club luncheon will go back to the two-bit summer schedule instead of continuing at the winter half dollar level. Various bills of fare were suggested, to include ice cream and cake and sandwiches and salads and a number of other articles that are more or less cooling, but they will take whatever Steward John Rundberg gives them, and he might be glad to get it; for whatever he buys and serves, is a bargain and a palate-tickler and a joy forever.

Rate Agent Speaks

C. Leland Smith, rate agent for the Oregon Growers' Cooperative association, was the principal speaker Monday, to tell of the importance of correct railroad rate statistics in building up city business. He showed how a proper understanding of rate classifications might mean the difference between profit and loss to a business, and how a community might build up its manufacturing business and its payroll very greatly by having the facts at hand to show where the manufacturer could make his business pay.

Money is Saved

"The Oregon Growers have recovered more than $16,000 that they would have lost in excessive freights, but for their vigilance in all right on the surface," said the speaker. "The Wenatchee fruit district has a rate manager who is paid $5000, and he is a bargain at that. The Yakima district has a similar agent at a like salary. And yet neither of them has as much business of all kinds as the Salem district."

He showed how the rate agent, by looking after the standard apple box packing, had been able to save the growers large sums of excess freights.

Officer is Guest

Lieutenant F. B. Hodson, of the United States army, stationed at Fort Vancouver, was a dinner guest, to tell of the citizen's training camp at Camp Lewis. He says that up to date, not one application has been received from Salem for this 30-day outing with all expenses paid and no military enlistment or obligation hanging over the applicant as a nightmare.

Lieutenant Hodson will be at the Hotel Marion until Thursday to talk it over with interested men who might be free to go out for this athletic and military training. The long lists of applicants from other towns in the state, indicate that the plan is meeting widespread approval elsewhere. The encampment covers the latter part of July and the fore part of August.

Humors Come to the Surface in the spring as in no other season. They don't run themselves all off that way, however, but mostly remain in the system. Hood's Sarsaparilla removes them, wards off danger, makes good health sure.

EMMA KRAMER WILL RETIRE

Instructor Who Has Taught 24 Years Not Here Next Year

After 24 years teaching in the Salem schools Miss Emma Krauser is giving up her work here, and will retire to her home in Monmouth, to the regret of many friends and especially to the patrons and pupils of the Highland school, to whom she has become an endearing friend.

Her work as teacher has been of the highest order, and she has given generously of her time for the betterment of both the school and the community.

Miss Kramer taught 10 years as grade teacher in the East Salem school, now known as the Washington junior high; 11 years as principal of Lincoln school, and one year as principal at McKinley. She there gave up teaching for a year, returning as principal of Highland, which position she has held for the last two years. She was re-elected for the coming year but resigned to take up home work.

The work of the pupils during the last two years has shown splendid results. Her work in the ungraded room last year was of great benefit to some of the pupils and demonstrated the success of the undertaking.

The Highland Mothers' club and the Parent-Teacher association will miss Miss Kramer's cooperation in all their work.

A Happy Bride

Here's a tip, Mr. Groom; you can keep your bride happy and contented through all the years of your married life if you will provide the many ELECTRICAL HELPS for the new home. We are anxious to show you.

UNFORTUNATE HAS STRANGE STORY

Bjilland Says He Was Robbed, But Doesn't Know How He Was Put Out

"Now beat it!"

This is the last inhaled Bjilland, 20, remembers of the occurrence Sunday night about 10 o'clock when he was relieved of $20 by a hold-up artist at South Twelfth street near the city limits.

Bjilland, who lives near Woodburn, told a strange story when he regained consciousness two hours later at the police station. He had spent the afternoon and evening in Salem, he told Chief Moffitt, when he met a stranger in a Ford coupe. The stranger was accompanied by a blonde girl, Bjilland asserts, and promised to take him to Woodburn.

Notables Appear Here In Chautauqua Season

The Salem chautauqua will open Friday, June 30, closing on Thursday, July 6. Among the prominent speakers who will be included in the program are Opie Reed, Dr. Elmer Lynn Williams and J. C. Herbsman of the University of Washington.

"Cappy Ricks," Peter B. Kyne's famous story, will be given on the fifth night, July 4. A light opera troupe, will present "The Mikado," "La Boheme," "Robin Hood," and "Il Trovatore. Other musical numbers will be given at other times during the time the circuit is playing here. Dr. H. C. Epley is president of the local association.

Frances Ingram, contralto, will appear in a recital Saturday afternoon. Miss Ingram has sung in the Chicago grand opera and is considered especially pleasing as an entertainer.

Most Country Schools Will Close This Week

Most of the county schools that have not already closed will this week finish their labors for 1922. There are no summer schools in prospect anywhere in Marion county, according to County Superintendent Mrs. Mary Fulkerson.

Most of the schools that employ more than one teacher have already selected their teachers, though there are still a good many one-room schools unsupplied. There is a decided surplus of teachers. The proportion of instructors to the number of jobs in sight has not been definitely determined, but it is known that there aren't nearly enough schools in Marion county to give every applicant a place. There may be other counties where there is still a shortage of instructors, but Marion isn't one of them.

Lawrence Griffith Held By Polk County Officers

DALLAS, Ore., May 30.—(Special to The Statesman)—Lawrence Griffith, a resident of Hopville near Independence, was caught by Sheriff John W. Orr and Deputy Chase early Saturday morning as he was preparing to move a quantity of mash from some timber near that place to a place of security. The mash was found by Sheriff Orr several days ago and he had been watching the place ever since to find the owner. Griffith was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Baker of Independence Saturday afternoon. A trial of the case will be held some day this week.

Cast is Selected for "Eliza Comes to Stay"

Frances Ward and Merle Petram will play the leading roles in "Eliza Comes to Stay", the senior class play which will be presented at the high school Friday night under the direction of Miss Hazel Brown. This play, which will be the last to be given at the high school this year, will score one of the biggest comedy triumphs of the school year, according to those who have viewed rehearsals.

An amusing plot, comparatively simple of interpretation, with an interesting strain of plain humor permeating every part. "Eliza Comes to Stay" gives ample opportunity for a finished production by a high school cast.

The play is further blessed with a carefully trained and experienced cast. Besides Frances Ward and Merle Petram who take the parts of Dorothy and the Honorable Sandy Verrall, there are Kenneth Perry as Jordan Montague, Charles Nunn as Alexander Stoop Verrall, Donald Warden as Herbert, Aubrey Trawick as a porter, Margaret McMahn as Lady Pembroke, Helene Gregg as Vera Laurence and Mildred Hansen as Mrs. Alloway.
