Seven Bible Schools Organized for Summer Seven summer Bible schools will be maintained in Salem during the coming year, according to an announcement made by the committee in charge. The schools will be held at the First Methodist church, the Bungalow Christian church, the Yew Park school, the Leslie Methodist, the Jason Lee

Methodist and the school building in West Salem. Mrs. C. C. Clark will be director of all the Bible school work in the city. A principal and several teachers will be stationed at each school. The different Sunday schools of Salem have cooperated in the organization work for the summer Bible schools. The executive committee which will work with Mrs. Clark is composed of Rev. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick and Dr. E. E. Brown.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Salem will celebrate the 40th anniversary of its incorporation. And it will be made a great celebration.

The city council will have the fire apparatus proposition on the ballot again in November.

This should get the necessary two-thirds vote. But the council should also have put on the ballot an amendment to the charter making any majority vote carry any kind of a proposition. The two-thirds majority is not American.

One of the first problems before the June bride will be to demonstrate that two can live as cheaply as one. It has been a favorite bit of persiflage, but does not pan out.

They are already enjoying the cherry pie down in California. The Oregon folks will be in that class very soon.

The city council is to give serious consideration to the preservation of the Oaks park. Between the city and the school district, this ought to be accomplished.

The Socialists have "decided" to nominate candidates in every congressional district in the country for the fall election. And apparently they have a good chance of retaining in the next congress their present strength of one representative.

THE WEST SALEM FACTORY GROWS

Making Supplies for Specialties Turned Out by the Big Salem Paper Mill

One thing brings another. Every new factory, every enlargement of a factory already here, makes the bringing of still other manufacturing concerns, and the enlargement of the forces of those already established.

The Oregon Wood Products Co., over in West Salem, makes broom handles, mop handles, etc., for eastern customers.

But during last month this factory turned out 25,000 cores for adding machine rolls, for the Salem paper mill, and 80,000 end plugs for other paper rolls for the same concern.

So it goes. It looks like the handle factory will have to add new machinery to keep up with the making of handles of various kinds, and also to supply the cores and plugs for the specialties of the paper mill, the output of which is constantly increasing and will go on increasing.

The fact is, the plans of the West Salem handle factory call for a lot of new machinery, including that for making axe and mattock and other handles that can be manufactured from the various Oregon hard woods.

To Stop Coughing at Night

A summer bronchial cough keeps not only the sufferer but other members of the family awake. Alfred Barker, 1061 Avondale St., E. Liverpool, O., writes: "I consider it my duty to write and tell the results of Foley's Honey and Tar, which I used for my boy who had been suffering from a bronchial cough for 7 or 8 weeks. Foley's Honey and Tar has done him wonderful good, and I shall always recommend it." It soothes and heals. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Senior Class Play is Success at Silverton

SILVERTON, Ore., June 5. (Special to The Statesman)—The senior class play "What Happened to Jones?" was given in the new school auditorium Friday night with great success. A large crowd was out to see it. The characters were well chosen, the Swedish maid which was played by Miss Tillie Johnson, being especially appreciated. The Suckow orchestra furnished the music.

A Sporting Chance

When a champion baseball team starts the season with all its men fit and well, it has a sporting chance. But when these men, one by one become disabled or sick, the "sporting chance" becomes a joke. It is just so with the man in every day life. He has a sporting chance to make good in a big way if he keeps well. He has got to be in there playing the game every day. The New York Yankees have a chiropractor on the payroll. They expect to keep fit and have taken the step necessary. The man in every day life can do the same.
