By MARQUERITE GLEESON

The reception given last night in Lausanne hall by President and Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney was the formal opening of the commencement week program. The senior breakfast was given Monday and was one of the final all class affairs.

The alumni reception and banquet will be given Wednesday evening in the First Methodist church. The reception will be held in the auditorium of the church and will proceed the banquet. Members of the graduating class will be guests for both occasions. The Alumni association will hold a business meeting in the afternoon before the banquet. Miss Beryl Holt is chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet.

Miss Fleta Marie Caspell and Jay Yarnell were married immediately following the regular services at the Court Street Christian church Sunday. Rev. R. L. Putnam officiated. Miss Marceline Caspell and Frank Caspell were the attendants.

The couple entered the church following the morning service and marched up the aisle to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus." The ring service was read by the pastor. Both Mr. and Mrs. Yarnell are well known Salem young folks. Miss Caspell is a graduate of the Salem High school. Mr. Yarnell is employed at the Spaulding's Lumber Co. They left following the noon service for the home of Mr. Yarnell's sister in Washington, where they will make a short visit. They will make their home in Salem at South 21st street.

Mrs. Grover C. Bellinger spent the week-end in Hood River.

Members of the Eastern Star will be entertained this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ratcliff. A strawberry feast will be provided for the guests by Mr. and Mrs. Ratcliff. This is the regular meeting of the Eastern Star Social club and the last one for this summer.

Among those going to Portland to attend the Eastern Star meeting are Mrs. Ida M. Niles, Worthy Matron of the local chapter; Mrs. Emma Brown, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Betty, Mrs. Rose Babcock, Mrs. Paul Hauser, Mrs. Leona Wise and Judge and Mrs. George H. Burnett.

Miss Jane Hillpot was hostess for a charming dancing party Friday evening in honor of her birthday. Decorations were carried out with roses and Scotch broom throughout the rooms.

Miss Hillpot was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Miss Hester Hillpot, and her mother, Mrs. J. V. Hillpot.

Those included for the affair were Miss Dorrell Anderson, Miss Lorena Geer, Miss Audrey Winslip, Miss Mary McKinnon, Miss Alma Fanning, Miss Genevieve Emmett, Cecil Thompson, Dick Schei, Lowell White, Forrest Fulton, Clifford Wilson, Archie Caldwell, Tommy Robertson, Christopher Bush.

Miss Grace Sherwood and John A. Fleming of Redmond were married Saturday at noon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Edwin Sherwood. Rev. E. C. Hickman officiated at the double ring service, which was read under an outdoor bower of roses and ferns in an archway between two large trees on the lawn. A large heart-shaped arrangement of pink roses formed the center of the archway. Pedestals on which were large bouquets of pink and white roses and ferns stood at either side of the altar. The bride wore a charmingly simple frock of white satin with an overdress of Spanish lace. She carried a shower bouquet of maidenhair ferns and Cecil Bruner roses. Miss Isola Smith was the only attendant.

Pink and white were the colors used throughout the decorations for the wedding service and on the breakfast table, which was set on the spacious lawn. The bridal party, which besides the immediate family included only a few friends, were seated at the breakfast table following the service.

Those assisting during the service and with the breakfast party included Miss Emma Shanafelt, Miss Ruby Leadbetter, Miss Gladys Taylor, Miss Betty Chance and Miss Isola Smith. Out of town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mason and little daughter, Virginia, of Mill City and Paul Sherwood of Seattle.

Mrs. Fleming is a daughter of Mrs. Edwin Sherwood. She is a graduate of Salem high school and Willamette university. Since her graduation from Willamette university, she has been teaching in Redmond, Oregon. Mr. Fleming is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fleming of Redmond, and he has been cashier in the Redmond bank for some time. Recently he has taken temporary work with the forestry department. They will make their home in Redmond following a short wedding trip.

Miss Margaret Putnam, stenographer in the state industrial accident commission, left Saturday for Portland and Seaside. She will be gone two weeks.

Miss Ruth E. Edwards, who has been on leave of absence from the physiotherapy department of the industrial accident commission, is in Salem again following several weeks at Lake Lytle, Oregon.

Arts League Will Choose New Leaders

Officers for the coming year will be chosen by the Salem Arts league at the regular meeting in the Public library tonight. This will be the last meeting of the league until fall. A few of the sections of the group will continue meeting during the summer months, in some cases holding out door meetings.

Mrs. J. W. Harbison has been president of the league during the last year, which is considered to have been very successful. Programs have been given each month except May, when an art exhibit planned for failed to arrive. A number of special programs were given, including out of town talent.

An art display including numerous photographic studies was the last special feature. The work displayed was of varying kinds and featured local artists and their work.

"RUDDYGORE" IS GILVAN OPERA TREAT

Delightful Gilbert & Sullivan Comic Opera to be Given at Chautauqua on Closing Night. Company Is Quintet of Brilliant Eastern Artists. Operatic Gems Also Featured.

"Ruddygore" means just what it says—but there isn't half as much blood and thunder in this delightful opera as one might imagine. In fact, it's a typical Gilbert and Sullivan opera, and there are more laughs than anything else in it—as you will quickly learn when the Gilvan Light Opera Company comes to Chautauqua. There are five brilliant artists in the Gilvan Company:

Martha Cook, soprano; Hazel Huntley, contralto; Tom Morris, baritone; Thornley Jobe, tenor, and Harrison Burch, pianist and accompanist. The Gilvan Company was organized three years ago, on the belief that the public craved better things in a musical way. The organization has had remarkable success, and has lived up to its ideal of presenting the best—and only the best—in Chautauqua work. "Ruddygore" will be the evening feature. A miscellaneous program of standard musical numbers will be given in the afternoon. In the evening "Ruddygore" will be preceded by an offering of costumed classics—concert, oratorio and operatic arrangements for solos, duets, trios and quartets. A splendid artistic finesse characterizes the ensemble work of this remarkable company.

Brown would not be compelled to occupy an outside berth while the other women of the wedding party were ensconced in drawing rooms—something unthinkable from the hospitable standard of the Fairfax sisters—was for him to give either Miss Brown or Mrs. Durkee quarters in the drawing room which had been provided for Mother Graham, the baby and me. The men of the party, Alfred Durkee, Maj. Grantland, my father and Dicky had berths in the two adjoining cars which held the drawing rooms, and therefore could not aid in solving the unexpected problem presented by little Mrs. Durkee's prejudice.

That the problem was distinctly up "to me" instead of Dicky was another thing that I did not need a magnifying glass to discover. There were no more drawing rooms to be had, and the invitation to either my little neighbor or the girl she disliked so heartily must come from my mother-in-law or from me. That Mother Graham did not mean to give it I could see by her pursed lips and disapproving eyes. But little Mrs. Durkee expected it, and I braced myself for the conflict which I feared was inevitable.

"That seems to me to be a delightful solution of the whole matter," I said cheerily. "I shall feel quite irresponsible, quite like a girl again, to be sharing a stateroom with three young women, one a prospective bride.

"You probably won't feel quite so skittish when I send for you to take care of Richard Second," my mother-in-law observed grimly. "I have engaged to take care of him at night, but I do not promise to play nursemaid all day. I shall expect you to relieve

"I think we can arrange it without that trouble," I said, inwardly quaking, but outwardly unconcerned. "Why can't you come over and share our stateroom? You can have either the upper berth or the couch. Mother Graham, of course, has the lower."

"You are very well aware, Margaret," my mother-in-law began icily, "that I cannot have that upper berth made up. I should simply smother with it over my head. But if Mrs. Durkee can put up with the couch I should be very glad to have her

Dallas D. A. R. Guests of Local Group Saturday

Flag Day, June 14, will be observed by the local chapter Chemeketa, and the Sarah Childress Poik chapter of Dallas, at a joint meeting with Mrs. Seymour Jones, chairman of the Americanization committee.

Miss Edith Benedict is chairman of the program committee. A picnic lunch will be served at noon at Mrs. Jones' country home on the River road. In the absence of Mrs. U. G. Shipley, regent of the local chapter, Mrs. Charles O. Wilson, vice regent, will preside at the meeting.

This is the final meeting of the summer for the local organization. Meetings will be resumed the fourth Saturday in September, according to the committee.

me as soon as he walks in the morning."

"Of course," I said demurely, knowing quite well that any one taking Junior away from her on that journey, except to dress and feed him, would do it over her corpse. She is absurdly proud of the little chap, and the opportunity of exhibiting his cunning self and his undeniable affection for her to a trainful of passengers was one she would not have given up for anything.

Little Mrs. Durkee was looking curiously at me.

"You're a dear, Madge," she said fervently. "I wonder how much you mean about liking the change, but I don't dare press the point. And if you see a good chance to strangle Rita Brown while she's asleep, please don't hesitate for fear of grieving me." (To be continued)

CHERRIANS HAVE INITIAL DRILL

Preparations Now Under Way for Appearance in Portland Parade

Salem Cherrians will meet the Newberg Cherrians, with 300 supporters and members; the Vancouver Prunarians; the agrarians and the disciplinarians and humanitarians and the punkonians and a vast horde of 'unions and 'arians when they enter the lists at the Portland Rose fair June 23, for the grand organization prize.

It will be a breezy contest.

They'll drill like a regular army—only better. They'll wear uniform that simply stuns the public that is used to seeing simply clothes. The Portland Rose fair is fast growing to be a national event. The Rose movies are sent all over the world, and tens of thousands of people will see Salem there on the silver screen.

It will take some work to put this over, however. Salem will enter floats and cars, and the whole Cherrian band and uniformed marching club of 30 men. They hope to have every member there to make the grand show for the state capital of Oregon.

The first drill was last night at the city hall. Capt. W. C. Dyer, the crack drillmaster, in charge, with Carl Abrams and Carl Gabrielson as his assistants. The Cherrians as a body hope to have every Cherrian as an individual in all the drills.
