PASTOR DIES IN SAN FRANCISCO Rev. Samuel K. Skinner, Formerly of Salem, Leaves Relatives Here

Rev. S. K. Skinner, who was well known to many residents of Salem, and who was the father of Mrs. Rose E. Gamble, and grandfather of Miss Eva Roberts, Winifred Gamble and Francis Gamble, all of Salem, died recently in a San Francisco hospital. He was a resident of Richmond, Cal. in Salem Mr. Skinner was well known, particularly among members of the Baptist church.

Excerpts from the Richmond Independent relative to the death and funeral of Rev. Mr. Skinner, follow:

"Rev. Samuel K. Skinner, for a number of years pastor of the Point Baptist church and also of the San Pablo Baptist church, passed away yesterday in a San Francisco hospital following a final illness of five weeks. He had been in failing health for the past several years, having given up his regular duties here some five years ago, when he went away for a time for his health. Returning to Richmond a couple of years ago, he has filled the pulpit only occasionally since. His three children were all present at the bedside when the end came.

"Deceased was 69 years of age and was a native of Nova Scotia. He is survived by his wife, Mary Skinner; by two children, Mrs. Rose E. Gamble of Salem, Or., and Clifford O. Skinner of Richmond; by a sister, Mrs. B. B. Jacques of Pasadena, and by four sisters in Nova Scotia and several grandchildren. He was a member of Richmond camp, Woodmen of the World. The family home is at First and Bissell avenue. Rev. Skinner was a man of high principles, devout and sincere in his work in the ministry, and leaves many friends to mourn his passing, who have felt the touch of his helping hand among his church flock."

The following account of the funeral appeared: "The last tribute to the memory of the late Rev. S. K. Skinner was paid this afternoon when funeral services were conducted from the funeral parlors of Wilson & Kratzer. The eulogy was delivered by Rev. C. R. G. Poole of the First Baptist church, who gave a fitting testimonial to the life and influence of the deceased. Rev. Mr. Poole was assisted in conducting the services by Rev. H. K. Sanborne and Rev. T. A. Boyer as representatives of the Richmond Ministerial union. The casket was surrounded by a bank of flowers as tokens of love and friendship from the family and many friends of the departed. Interment was held in Sunset View cemetery."

STATE TRAFFIC IS SURVEYED

Three Day Count of Vehicles on All Oregon Roads Made By Officials

During each of the three days, May 13, 14 and 15, a total average of 56,789 vehicles passed over the main traveled highways of Oregon, or a grand total of 170,367 for the three days, according to a traffic survey made by the state highway department, the results of which were announced today.

BILLINGSLEY HAS ANOTHER PROBLEM

Member of City Council Thinks Change Should Be Made in Car Stops

How, when and where should a Salem street car be halted? This is the question which is confronting members of the city council. It also threatens to bring gray hairs to T. L. Billingsley, superintendent of Salem street car lines.

About every two years, some enterprising citizen gets the idea that Salem's street cars should be halted "the other way" and the company has obligingly made the change. The public is then forced to accustom itself to the change.

At the present time with two exceptions the local carriers discharge and receive passengers before crossing intersecting streets. The exceptions to his rule are at State and Commercial streets on the Commercial street line and at State and Liberty streets on the State street line, at the Chemeketa street spur.

At these two places and especially at State and Commercial streets passengers are received and discharged after crossing State street.

Alderman Joseph Baumgartner reported at the last council meeting that automobile traffic was much interfered with by the present system and asked that the railway adopt the "approach to intersection" stop.

"We are more than willing to comply with this request," said r. Billingsley last night. "However, some system of safety zone or a permanent adoption of one system should be approved as it is difficult and often dangerous to change after the public has become accustomed to a certain traffic stop."

WOMEN'S CLUBS IN DISCUSSION

Council of President for Washington Federation Has Opposition

SPOKANE, Wash., June 12.—Organization of a council of presidents of clubs affiliated with the Washington State Federation of Women's clubs to meet at the same time as the annual convention of the state federation was proposed at the opening session of the 26th annual convention of that body here this afternoon by Mrs. F. E. Palmerton of Seattle.

Opposition Strong This plan which received the support of a number of Seattle delegates, met with considerable opposition from other delegates when presented on the floor of the convention. A committee will be appointed to present a more detailed outline of the plan during one of the later sessions of the convention.

Practical state taxation will be sought by the Washington State Federation of Women's clubs when the legislative program of the federation is worked out later in the week, according to Mrs. A. E. Larson of Yakima, state president. The reopening of the home for women at Medical Lake will also be discussed.

Appointments Made Committee appointments announced today were Mrs. H. E. Malthy of Seattle, chairman of the election committee. The other members of this commission are Mrs. A. H. Sylvester, Wenatchee; Mrs. H. Aparson, Stanwood; Mrs. T. S. Hall, Sunnyside; Mrs. A. H. Phinka, Spokane, and Mrs. P. M. Troy, Olympia.

STUDENTS HEAR REV. MR. EVANS

Baccalaureate Sermon to Graduating Class Delivered Sunday Night

"The Man of Victory" was the subject of the baccalaureate address which Rev. J. J. Evans delivered before the graduating class of the Salem high school in the First Christian church Sunday night. The demand of service as the essential requisite of greatness and the standard by which service and success might be judged, were the central points of the message.

Personality, cooperation and vision were given as the three means of obtaining success. Music for the service was furnished by the choir, a quartet composed of Ira Cave, Carl Wenger, Trevor Powers and J. Grimm, and a trio consisting of Carl Wenger at the organ, with Trevor Powers and Delbert Moore, Violinists.

The class entered in a body, marching from the high school where the members met, and was permitted to march out before the remainder of the audience left the church.

Traffic Department Has Another Active Month
