

PRESS RAPPED BY M'CUMBER

Metropolitan Newspapers of East Assailed for Comments on Tariff

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Metropolitan newspapers especially of the eastern seaboard and importing houses and department stores of the country were attacked in the senate today by Senator McCumber, Republican of North Dakota, who charged that they were spreading "insidious and poisonous propaganda" against the pending tariff bill to further their selfish interests and to maintain "extradivisional" profits.

Party To Fight Assailing particularly New York, Boston and Philadelphia newspapers the committee chairman said the Republicans had decided to change their policy of keeping silent on the subject of profits and were now ready to meet the arguments especially of the "so-called Republican press should have so capriciously condemned this bill." Senator McCumber's speech, nearly two hours in length, immediately precipitated replies from the Democratic side and brought a resolution by Senator Walsh, Montana, calling upon the attorney general to advise the senator whether steps had been taken or were to be taken to establish whether a conspiracy existed among the interests mentioned by the North Dakota senator.

Action Blocked The resolution asked that if such a combination existed, prosecution of those suspected be instituted, under the anti-trust law. The Montana senator sought immediate action on the resolution but Mr. McCumber objected, saying he was heartily in favor of an investigation of the facts and incidents presented but did not believe the Walsh resolution was in accord with the situation laid before the senate. The resolution went over a day under senate rules.

Senator Underwood, Alabama, the Democratic leader characterized the tariff leader's stand as "most remarkable and entirely new in tariff discussion." No Appeal Left He declared that on the position taken by McCumber, the Republican protectionists had left no longer any appeal to American manufacturers or labor. The McCumber speech came at the end of a day of little progress on the tariff bill and just ahead of the time when it is to be laid aside temporarily for consideration of the annual naval appropriation bill which is expected to be before the senate the remainder of the week.

Soda Fork of Santiam is Fine Place for Camp

Say, did any of you fellows ever hear of the Soda Fork of the Santiam?

Nope, I'll bet you didn't, and you can't find it on the map either, but it's there all right because that's what the natives call it way back up in the mountains where the Boy Scout camp is to be this year.

Scout Executive Howard Zinser and Harold L. Cook have just returned from a trip up there a few days ago. And say they found the best camp site for the two councils to camp that may be found in the whole Cascadia region.

Yes, they saw deer tracks, and they found an Indian cave, and the Big Eddy is going to make the finest old swimmin' hole ever.

Of course George W. Bent the Indian chief wasn't along to tell all about those thing-a-ma-jigs written on the wall of the Indian cave but wait till he does get there next August and then he will have a story to tell. You won't have to pay a nickel a glass for soda water either for Cascadia is built a stone's throw away from camp and the soda water bubbles up there by the gallon and all it lacks is flavoring to make it just like the real stuff.

CHAPTER 48 THE WAY MADGE STROVE TO WIN DICKY'S APPROVAL.

Although little Mrs. Durkee ranks high in my list of friends, there are times when my fingers itch to box her ears, and the moment when the door closed after her and her threat to send Maj. Grantland over to our house was distinctly one of the times.

"My mother-in-law looked darkly at me as the door closed. "Sometimes I think that woman is going into her dotage," she remarked acidly. "Flowers to match gowns, forsooth!"

"But Mrs. Durkee isn't responsible for the idea," I said, my sense of justice triumphing over my irritation.

"You can't tell me!" Mother Graham asserted thoughtfully. "That Grantland never thought of that poppycock all by himself. Either he got it out of some book, as I said before, or Mrs. Durkee put it into his fool noodle. I wouldn't put it past her to have asked him plump cut if he didn't think flowers to match the gowns wouldn't be the 'sweetest idea'."

I turned my head hastily and pretended to be plucking a thread from my skirt until I could control the muscles around my mouth. When my austere and august mother-in-law descends to mimicry, which only happens on rare occasions, she is irresistibly ludicrous, but not in the way she herself imagines.

"Well, he'll not get a piece of my dress!" she reiterated with emphasis, "and as for you, if Richard—"

Mother and Son.

"Present, with bells-on! What's the row?"

Dicky stood in the doorway, smiling audaciously.

"I knocked, but you both were gabbing so loud you couldn't hear me," he explained, lounging indolently toward the nearest chair.

"Please don't be vulgar, Richard," his mother replied with her haughtiest air. I knew that the word "gabbing" had lost her dignity. "And I wish you would explain what you were doing just now out on the veranda roof in that very—"

"Sketchy costume?" Dicky interpolated. "Now I can finish that for you. I am perfectly aware that the neighbors will be scandalized, and that I will probably catch my death of cold. But needs must when such a pretty and persistent little devil as Mrs. Durkee drives, and I knew that if I didn't make a mighty quick exit she'd have me tied to the mast with promises a mile long to straighten out her row with Rita Brown."

"I don't know why that should trouble you," his mother retorted tartly. "It is my experience that you are perfectly willing to make promises, but that the fulfilling of them—"

"Is one of the best things I forget?" queried Dicky impudently. "Sure thing. But don't be cross, mother, dear. Here I came in to pronounce encomiums upon you, to crown you with laurel wreaths as a dead game sport, and you're ragging me as if I beat you up regular every Saturday night."

A Surprise.

He had risen from his chair and he crossed over to hers as he spoke and put his smiling young face down close to her frowning, withered one. I saw the disappearing lines smooth out as if by magic, and her hand reach up to clasp that of her boy. I felt my heart warm at this fresh proof of the wonderful bond existing between a mother and her son. It seemed an augury, somehow, for the happiness which I confidently expect to find in my own little lad when he shall have become a strong lad and I an old woman.

I knew, however, that because of this very love for her son, her jealous disparagement of everything she fancied he disliked, would be especially tenacious in

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right-up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.—Adv.

the matter of Maj. Grantland's flowers. So I resolved to forestall her, if possible, for I dreaded to have any unpleasantness mar preparations for Leila's wedding. "You can't guess, Dicky," I said carelessly, when, having kissed his mother, he had lounged back into his seat again. "The ridiculous proposal Mrs. Durkee has just been making us."

"How do you know it's ridiculous?" Dicky retorted. "Her Pluffiness usually has a pretty level head in spite of her inconsistencies. Spill it and let me be the judge."

"Why, she says that Maj. Grantland wants pieces of the gowns of every woman of the wedding party so that he may get flowers to match."

"What's ridiculous about that?" Dicky demanded belligerently. "It's what I would have done if I'd been providing the flowers. As it was, it was my idea entirely. I suggested it to Grantland."

DR. EPLEY WANTS SINGERS ON TRIP

Local Director of Whitney Chorus Hopes for Large Salem Contingent

Dr. H. C. Epley, Salem director for the Whitney Boys' chorus, is anxious to know how many boys are going to Portland next week to sing with the Portland and other branches of the organization at the Rose festival.

The final rehearsal in Salem will be Tuesday night of the coming week. The Salem contingent of the chorus will go to Portland Thursday, and Thursday night will be the final dress rehearsal of the entire chorus on Multnomah field. The boys will put on their public program in Portland Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon.

For the benefit of Salem parents who fear their boys will not be well cared for in Portland, Dr. Epley explains that they will be cared for by the best families in that city, most of them parents who have boys in the Portland chorus. When the boys want to go places they will be properly accompanied, and on any excursion trips will be accompanied by men.

The Portland members of the chorus will have rehearsals in Portland Saturday and Sunday, and Dr. Epley urges any Salem members who can possibly attend these rehearsals to do so.

Bird Reserve Question May Have Solution Soon

Percy A. Copper, state engineer who has returned from Burns, where he attended a conference on the Malheur bird reserve controversy, believes the question may be settled, as far as the state and the federal government are concerned, at least, at a meeting of the committee representing the state and the government, to be held in Portland in July. Mr. Copper was accompanied to Burns by L. A. Liljeqvist, assistant attorney general.

Data compiled as a result of the three-day conference at Burns will be forwarded to the United States biological survey by J. C. Marr of Boise, engineer representing the government. The Portland meeting will be held soon after receipt of advices from Washington.

FAIR MONEY IS GIVEN COUNTIES

Marion Draws $2252 and Polk $1020 from Annual State Tax Levy

Under a law for the purpose, Secretary of State Sam A. Koser has apportioned to the 36 counties of the state a total of $51,040.21 for 1922 in support of fairs, land product shows, livestock exhibitions for premiums, and similar purposes. Marion county draws $2252.13 and Polk county $1020.52.

The money is raised by the levy of a tax of one-twentieth of a mill upon the taxable property of the state as last equalized by the state tax commission. There is a provision that no county shall receive more than $15,000. If its apportionment is more than that amount the excess is divided equally among the counties. Under the provision an excess of $2400.71 for Multnomah county is divided, $66.68 to each county.

The apportionment to the counties is shown below: Baker $1,181.84 Benton 807.16 Clackamas 2,092.82 Clatsop 1,610.79 Columbia 850.42 Coos 1,227.54 Crook 366.85 Curry 261.10 Deschutes 622.51 Douglas 1,493.20 Grant 621.66 Gilliam 477.93

RHEUMATISM CANNOT EXIST

In the human body if you will use Frank's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout, it is ridiculous, absurd and preposterous. In fact, it is a pity and a shame to talk about Rheumatism and Gout, much less suffer with it, either inflammatory, muscular, sciatic or any other form of Rheumatism.

Frank's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout sells for $1.75. This prescription DOES NOT depress the heart. Eat all the meat and good food you wish while taking Frank's Prescription. It DOES NOT contain any Mercury, Salicylate of Soda, Oil of Wintergreen, or narcotics of any kind, but it absolutely and positively overcomes any kind of Rheumatism or GOUT on earth. GALE & CO Commercial and Court Streets

Pacific City

Tillamook County's popular summer resort, opens officially Saturday, June 17th, with a musical program on this day and the following day, featuring Harriet Leach, a coloratura soprano.

"I feel especially fortunate in securing Miss Leach at this time," stated Mr. Beals yesterday. "Her services are in constant demand, especially so as this summer will see her last appearance in the west. This fall, at the instance of Mary Garden of the Chicago Grand Opera company, she will leave for the east."

Miss Garden predicts a great future for Miss Leach," continued Mr. Beals, "and she was the only singer out of several hundred to whom Miss Garden would grant an audience while in Portland recently. Miss Leach is well and favorably known throughout the musical centers of the United States. She was a headliner on the Orpheum circuit for two years and has appeared as soloist in a number of the leading events of the Northwest, among which are the Dedication of the Columbia Highway, the meeting of the General Shrine Conclave, the banquet of the Officers of the Pacific Fleet, etc.

Following Miss Leach will be given a program of vocal and instrumental which will embrace all classes of music. Two programs will be given," said Mr. Beals, "the opening one on Saturday evening, June 17th and an entire change Sunday afternoon, June 18th.

These programs are entirely free as they are simply an expression of good will on the part of the management of Pacific City."

Following each program a dance will be given by Hoffman's orchestra of Salem.
