LEGION OFFERS ESSAY PRIZES

"How the American Legion Can Best Serve the Nation," to Be Subject

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 23.—To encourage higher education and patriotic research among the school children of the country, the American Legion is sponsoring a national essay contest which has for prizes $1500 in scholarships. The contest opens today and closes at midnight August 1. The service men's organization has asked the cooperation of state, city and county superintendents, seeking contributions of essays from every eligible school child. Americanism officers of legion posts will assist the educational authorities in the effort.

All Are Eligible
All girls and boys between the ages of 12 and 18 years inclusive are eligible. The subject to be written on is: "How the American Legion can best serve the Nation."

The rules provide that each contestant shall submit but one essay of not more than 500 words, and that essays shall be written in an affirmative and constructive way. Spelling, penmanship and neatness will be considered in judging the winners, as will the age of the contestant.

County superintendents are asked to name three judges to select the best essay in each county. The winning essays of the counties then will be judged by a state committee, selected by the state superintendent of schools, or school commissioner, for the purpose of selecting the three state winners. Final selection of first, second and third national prize winners will be made from the three best essays of each state, and will be announced several weeks after September 20 by the national judges, whose names will be given later.

Three Big Prizes
The three national prizes will be known as American Legion scholarship awards, consisting of a first prize of $750, second of $500 and a third of $250. First prize in each state will be a silver medal, with a bronze medal for second prize and additional prizes awarded in different states.

ROYAL SQUADRON NR ELECTS MEMBERS
No Tradesman Can Enter Elite Club Which Represents Royal Family

LONDON, June 23.—The Royal Yacht Squadron, styled the most exclusive club in the world, has just elected eight members, a majority of whom are peers. To achieve membership in the Royal Yacht Squadron is equivalent to obtaining a certificate of social position far more widely recognized than a patent of nobility. Wealth alone, as some very rich men have discovered, will not suffice to secure admission to what some detractors have termed the last stronghold of "snobbery" in England. Tradesmen, however, philanthropic or patriotic, are barred. Sir Thomas Lipton has issued several challenges for the America's cup, and no man in the country has done anything like as much to encourage yacht building and designing as he has. But because he is a tradesman, it is said, he has never been elected a member of the Royal Yacht Squadron. King Edward, thought a yachtsman himself and the most popular of monarchs, discovered that even his influence was not strong enough to procure the election of a friend in the Royal Yacht organization.
