KIWANIANS TO HAVE RECESS

Feeds to Be Few Until Fall

—Commissioner Kirk Gives Address

The Kiwanians will go hungry, or eat at home and jaw friendly wife because it's such a bore to chase home of a hot day, or eat at a picnic counter or pack a lunch pail for the rest of the summer, according to a vote of the club at the Tuesday luncheon.

They are to hold only one eating-in-meeting a month for the next two months, the last Tuesday of July and August. Gone are the days of "rat" stories, gone the music and the songs and the attendance prizes 'n everything.

Again in September

The heavy feeding will begin again in September; but just now they're going to draw in their belts and try the fast cure for what ails 'em.

Will T. Kirk, the industrial accident commission, was the principal speaker, Tuesday. He sketched briefly the growth of the commission, from the old idea that the workman must bear all the loss that "Providence" inflicted, up through the rudimentary employers' liability law, and then up to the present that makes it the state's duty not only to compensate but to restore every injured man to industrial efficiency.

Much Money in Trust

He made special mention of the fact that while it seemed that the state had large sums of money by the accident compensation fund, much of this money is held as special trust funds to pay deferred claims. The policy of the commission is not to pay lump sums for all the accidents, but to make monthly payments covering a long period of years. In one case, an award of $15,126 was made to a widow and her family for the death of the father—it was the motorcycle officer of Newberg who was killed in looking after the Aurora bank robber—and this sum of money actually has to be set aside to pay this specific bill. One other case, at Marshfield, called for an award of $17,478; of which $10,192 went into the reserve for future payments.

Accident List Lower

From 1500 to 2000 accidents, great and small, are reported every month. Some of the claims are strange. One came for an injured shoulder, and the commission was about to pay it, when a tip came in that the man had hurt himself trying to ride a cow in the barn—and she bumped him, hard.

One stockman in the employ of another, was killed by a fool hunter who mistook him for a deer. His family drew state compensation for the loss. One man broke his artificial leg, and hadn't the money to buy another; he asked for aid from the state to buy a leg of the same of if it had been an honest-to-goodness leg damaged for the first time. One stock attendant was bitten by a sheep tick and contracted the tick or spotted fever. He was held to be an "industrial casualty," and drew state aid.

Another herder from Wasco county was bitten by a rabid coyote. He too came in for compensation. From near Burns, came the report that a stockman had been bitten by a Basco, and he wanted the state to help him. The commission didn't know what a basco was—whether it was a cross between an elephant and a hyena, or a new throw-back to the primitive days, but finally it developed that it was a Basque shepherd, a Spaniard from the Basque mountain province of Anclausia, who fought with his fangs instead of his fists. They come in for state aid for almost every kind of a reason.

Rehabilitation Emphasized

Under the present commission, rehabilitation and retraining is considered almost as important as actual compensation for injury. It is one thing to pay for the injury. It is another and higher duty of the state to make of the 90 per cent who by new methods can be given back to productive industry, new citizens who can support themselves in spite of their handicap. Some especially notable cases were cited of men who have been restored to useful life, through state aid. This restoration is independent of the payments for the injury itself.

E. E. Wyatt drew the attendance prize, given by Kiwanian Nicholson.

Playground Certain

Fred Erickson, of the public affairs committee, reported on the proposal to back the Salem public play ground for the summer, at the high school athletic park between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets. The club will appropriate $125 for this purpose, and cheered like a champion ball game at the chance to help.

C. A. Kells, of the Y. M. C. A., who is to head the movement, gave a brief speech showing the need of the summer playground. The children will have the finest of swimming, ball games, swings and other sports, and will be properly supervised by both men and women attendants.

Picnic Proposed

A Kiwanian picnic, to be held in the near future, is to be delegated to the executive committee for action.

Delightful music was furnished for the occasion, by Miss Genevieve Findley with two piano numbers, and Miss Ruth Tucker, with two soprano solos.

A great number of the order attended the funeral which was held from Trinity church with Rev. George Henrikson officiating. Burial was in the Evans Valley cemetery.

NOT GUILTY IS JURY'S VERDICT

Otto Wilson Held Not to Have Deviated from Dealer License Law

A jury in justice court yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty when Otto Wilson, local auto dealer, faced the court on a charge of making improper use of his dealer's license plates.

The case of Mr. Wilson has attracted considerable attention since his arrest last week owing to the point of law at issue. The specific complaint alleged that he had permitted Mrs. W. H. Lytle to use his dealer's license plates on a car which she had purchased from Wilson's firm. He denied the allegation, declaring that Mrs. Lytle was demonstrating the car at the time to a prospective customer, and that she was in his employ.

The charge of driving a car without proper license, which was lodged against Mrs. Lytle at the same time, was automatically dismissed when the jury returned the verdict in the Wilson case.

which G. W. Hubbs of Silverton is president, is a four-year body. The present members were appointed by Superintendent Smity, three years ago.

The accounts of all the school districts of the county are now undergoing their annual auditing. This work is done in the office of the county superintendent, by expert auditors called in from other departments of the county government.

A big picnic and convention of the Boys' and Girls' club leaders and workers, was to be held Monday at A. C. Barrow's big maple farm, near Shaw. The farm bureau and the O. A. C., extension service were to furnish a number of speakers and capable advisors for the day's program.
