

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

New Dryer Goes In—

Arthur Girod, living one-half mile north of the Salem Indian school farm, is putting up a large new pruner dryer to handle the fine crop on his own place and in his local community. The pruner in that section are looking especially well, and will call for handling facilities beyond any now in existence.

Motor Breaks Window—

A Ford motor that was being mounted for exhibition purposes in the window of the Western Auto Supply company on North High street, toppled off its perch, and bumped off a huge plate glass window worth several hundred dollars. The motor is now as tame as the cat that has just eaten the canary, but the cracks in the window cry to heaven for redress. The motor says with Lady Macbeth, "Owt, dogged spot." But the broken spots in the $500 glass will not out a tail.

Kells to Seabeck—

C. A. Kells and family left Friday for Seabeck, Wash., for a two weeks summer vacation. That is, the family will vacate; Mr. Kells himself is to attend the Y.M.C.A. summer school that gives about 17 hours hard study a day for all the secretaries who attend. They take up all the latest things in Y management—financial problems, boy problems, social problems—and they send from the international headquarters some of the best advisers and teachers in the world to bring these messages.

Reed in Eastern Oregon—

"Jim" Reed, who between college classes in Willamette university has served in the Statesman news room for the past year, is up near Moro for the summer, gaining strength and vision by assisting eight horses to drag a 24-foot harrow around a big wheat field. He says the field is almost as big as all creation. It takes him and his team two and one-half hours to go round it—whereas Tommy Milton or Jimmy Murphy would run their speed carts more than 250 miles in the same length of time. Jimmy Reed finds the Oregon wheat field dust a delightful and worth-while diversion from the Hun poison gases. He served overseas and the gas almost got him for good. He will be back to Willamette this fall, all pepped up ready for another whirl at the books.

Held for Speeding—

M. E. Jennings was yesterday arrested by Motorcycle Deputy Sheriff Bert Smith, charged with driving an automobile at a 20-mile clip inside the city limits. He will be arraigned in justice court today.

Patient Is Hurt—

Mrs. Alma Burke, 34 years old, who was committed to the state insane hospital from Multnomah county April 1, 1921, received a broken leg yesterday while she was trying to escape. She went to the third floor of the hospital and slid down a laundry chute to the basement, fracturing her limb as she landed at the bottom.

North, South; South, North—

The Salem street cars on Commercial street will begin a change on Monday, July 10, in the manner of making stops on State street. This is by order of the city council. The cars going south will stop only on the north side of State street. The cars going north will stop only on the south side. People using the street cars should get this change in their minds—or some of them may have to wait for the next car. There will be no change in making stops in other parts of the city.

Card of Thanks—

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kind assistance during the illness and death of our dear husband and father and for the beautiful floral offerings. Mrs. J. W. Taylor and children.—Adv.

West Salem Woman Wants Divorce and Maiden Name

DALLAS, Ore., July 7. (Special to The Statesman).—Marie Lashua, a resident of West Salem, has filed suit in the Polk county circuit court asking for a divorce from her husband, William H. Lashua. In addition to asking for the return of her maiden name she begs the court to allow her $50 a month alimony. The couple were married in this city on July 2, 1913, and have no children. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant brought a similar action in Klamath county in 1914 but that the suit was later withdrawn. The plaintiff also claims an undivided interest in the property rights of the United
